Khrush May Make Play Of Diplomacy

Preparations For Summit Talk In Final Phase

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials think Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev probably will make some spectacular play of diplomacy in the next two weeks with the aim of strengthening his position at the Paris summit conference.

Preparations for the historic meeting enters the final phase this week. Khrushchev, President Eisenhower, French President Charles de Gaulle, and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will begin their talks in the French capital May 16.

ALL

All four of the principals are reported to favor a round of strictly private conversations in the first few days of the conference, which may last a week or more. This may increase the possibility of a spectacular move by Khrushchev in advance of the conference or at the very outset, since his opportunity to manipulate the meeting for propaganda purposes would be limited during the private talks.

At any rate, U.S. officials who remember his recent record are watching a bit nervously to see what he will come up with. They recall that before Khrushchev visited Eisenhower last September Soviet scientist shot a rocket to the moon. Khrushchev spent more time talking about that than anything else during his visit.

4-Year-Old Saves Five From Blaze

SUQUAMISH, Wash. (UPI)—In the days when tales of courage and great feats echoed through the tribal longhouses along the shores of Puget Sound the Indians probably would have named her "She-Who-Walks-Through - Fire."

But as it is, she is simply Edith Webster. Nevertheless, the elders of the Suquamish Tribe look upon her with awe today. She is the bravest person the Indians here have seen in many a moon.

Friday night, Edith led four children younger than herself from a flaming house. That was a great act of courage in itself. But Edith did even more. She returned into the interno and carried a four-month-old Indian to safety. That was a feat of almost unsurpassed heroism.

FOUR

You see, Edith is only four years old.

The heroic feat might have gone unnoticed had the children not wandered into this community virtually naked. An alarmed resident notified the Kitsap County sheriff's office that the children were roving the streets.

Deputy Larry Bogert was sent to investigate and found the house still aflame. He first summoned firemen and then gathered up the children and placed them in the county juvenile home.

A few minutes later the parents, Mrs. Lorna L. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Larry A. Webster, arrived at the house while it was still afire.

Deputies said the babysitter, an Indian girl, had taken care of the children from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m., but went to her own house without waiting for the Websters and Mrs. Lewis who had been spending the afternoon in a local tavern, according to the sheriff's report.

Four of the children were of the Webster family and two were Mrs. Lewis' youngsters. In addition to four-year-old Edith, the children were aged four, three, two, one and four-months.

The only injury occurred when one of the babies was dropped on his head while being carried from a bed. It was not serious, attendants said.

Sheriff's deputies were skeptical

Racial Fight Erupts In Durham, N.C.

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — A free-for-all racial fight involving 15 to 20 persons erupted suddenly Saturday in a drug store here. It ended with a teen-age Negro boy being admitted to a hospital with a possible brain concussion.

The incident was sparked by pushing and shoving among white and Negro customers after the drug store — Walgreen's — reopened its lunch counter to whites only. The counter had been closed for weeks because of protests by Negro students.

Police, who squelched the battle within 10 minutes after it started, arrested two Negroes and a white man on assault and battery charges.

RELEASED

A 15-year-old Negro girl also was taken to the station, but was later released to juvenile authorities.

Willie Burt, 17-year-old Negro boy, was described as in "semi-conscious" condition at Lincoln Hospital Saturday night. A spokesman there said the boy had been "pretty badly beaten."

Burt's assailants were not identified.

Those arrested were Garland Glenn, 31-year-old white man; Columbus Pressley, 17, Negro; and Bruce Baines, 18, Negro. All are from Durham.

Police Officer R. V. Beck, the first officer to arrive at the scene, said, "There were some Negro girls down on the floor, and this little girl — who was turned over to juvenile authorities — and a waitress were fighting. There were at least 15 or 20 people in it."

Walgreen's and several other drug and variety stores have been picketed here regularly by Negro students attempting to obtain service at lunch counters operated for whites only.

FOR CHESSMAN EXECUTION

Attorneys Work As Time Nears

SAN FRANCISCO — Caryl Chessman's attorneys petitioned anew for his life Saturday before a court not scheduled to meet again until two hours before the convict-author is due to die in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber Monday.

The convict approved the new appeal, signed by all attorneys and stressing purported new evidence that he is not the Los Angeles "red light bandit" of 1948 for whose crimes he was convicted and sentenced to death despite his protestations of innocence.

The seven judges of the California Supreme Court, although not scheduled to meet again until 8 a. m. Monday, presumably will be studying the new appeal over the weekend while the state attorney general's office in Los Angeles reportedly is investigating certain aspects of it.

FAREWELL

Chessman, meanwhile, held a "farewell" press conference in prison, and said he could prove he was innocent of the sex perversion crimes which brought him two death sentences 12 years ago.

A new petition for a writ of habeas corpus and a stay of execution was filed before the State Supreme Court at 3 p. m. Saturday by attorney George T. Davis. Even before Davis showed up the court clerk said in anticipation of the action that the court would not be in session until 9 a. m. Pacific Daylight Time Monday. The execution hour is 10 a.m.

Chessman asked that his execution be delayed until the attorney general can complete an investigation of Charles S. Terrenova, described in the petition as the man who always has been the prime suspect in the red light bandit crimes.

The petition also said William Woodfield, Argosy magazine writer, had given the attorney general the names of three men who could verify that Chessman was not the Los Angeles red light bandit.

These men were named as Paul R. Judd, David H. Knoles and William Wampler.

IN 2-DAY WINDSTORM

South Louisiana Heavily Lashed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gusts of tornado-like winds, with heavy downpours, lashed a 200-mile-long stretch of southern Louisiana from Lake Charles to New Orleans Friday night and Saturday. At least three persons were injured and property damage was unofficially estimated at several hundred thousand dollars. Most of the loss was in the form of ship collision, damage to moored aircraft, unroofed dwellings, flooded basements and power failures.

Hard hit were New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Houma, New Iberia, Abbeville, Lafayette and Hathaway. It was at Hathaway, in Jefferson Davis Parish, where three persons were reported injured. One victim was hospitalized. One home was demolished and eight others damaged.

POWER

Power failure shut down major industry in Baton Rouge after a night of thunderstorms. A Gulf States Utilities Co. power station apparently was heavily damaged by an explosion attributed to lightning.

No injuries were reported there.

Operating units of refining industries of Esso Standard Oil Co. and the Ethyl Corp. closed down. Asked to curtail operations were U.S. Rubber Co. No. 1, Ideal Cement and Consolidated Chemicals.

High winds and rains which hit New Orleans tore a merchant ship from its moorings and caused a collision which sank a 36-foot yacht. Then the ship, the SS Silver Prince, crashed into wharves at Port Ship Service in Arabi. Damage was estimated at $30,000.

Another ship, the SS Barbara, broke free and was drifting down the Mississippi when a tug and a Coast Guard vessel captured her.

Five Negroes Picket Library In Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Five Negro high school students, protesting segregated reading rooms, Saturday picketed the Louisiana State Library here about two hours.

They left without incident after talking with a representative of the Congress on Racial Equality.

Miss Essae Mae Culver, state librarian, said the library had separate reading rooms for whites and Negroes, but otherwise "our services are integrated."

The youths declined to give their identity. A leader said they belonged to a new organization, "Youth for Freedom Assn."

RULES

They said they were protesting rules that restrict Negroes to the third floor reading room when they go to check out books.

One placard carried by the youths read:

"I want to read of democracy on all floors."

Miss Culver said the pickets apparently came from McKinley High School for Negroes here. She said students from the school came to the library two after-

By SAM HANNA
Staff Writer

Rep. I. J. Allen of Jonesboro believes Louisiana is in better financial shape than expected, but frankly expresses doubt in getting special appropriation bills through the Legislature.

Allen, who sat in on fiscal conferences in Baton Rouge this week, said, "I don't see how the state could be so broke when we're taking in more money than we ever have."

So, he said he would take the position of waiting on Gov. Jimmie H. Davis to determine what could be expected in the Legislature, which convenes May 9.

Allen has a couple of pet projects for Jackson Parish, but he said he would wait on the governor to see if they could be passed.

First, the Jackson lawmaker wants to pass a $10,000 appropriations bill for the Jackson Parish Fair.

But he quickly added, "If things turn out as bad financially as we have been told, I don't guess any of us will get anything."

At Par conferences this week, Davis, in effect, told the legislators that Louisiana was in bad shape finaicially.

"I have another bill to help our charity hospital, but I'll have to talk to the governor first," he said.

Allen said Jackson Parish needed $75,000 to build onto the Jonesboro Charity Hospital. He introduced this same bill in 1956, but Gov. Earl K. Long vetoed it.

Allen pointed out that at pre-

Boycott Launched As Reprisal

Egyptian Port Workers Angry At N.Y. Pickets

CAIRO (AP) — Egyptian port workers launched a boycott of American shipping Saturday in reprisal for the picketing that blocks unloading of the Egyptian freighter Cleopatra in New York.

President Nasser approved their vow that they will neither repair nor unload U.S. vessels at Alexandria, Port Said or Suez. Alexandria, on the Mediterranean, is Egypt's chief port. Port Said and Suez are terminals of the Suez Canal.

The chief executive of the United Arab Republic told a 30-nation African-Asian conference in Cairo the boycott will continue until New York dock workers and seamen abandon their picket line against the Cleopatra.

BLOCKED

A single picket carried on the blockade in New York Saturday. Promoters of the action, which has prevented the Cleopatra from unloading for more than two weeks, describe it as a protest against Arab blacklisting of American ships which deal with Israel. They say the Arab blacklist has cost them jobs.

The boycott of American ships was called by the Confederation of Arab Trade Unions, which hopes the movement will spread to all Arab ports. Jordan announced it will boycott all American ships calling at Aqaba, its only port. The boycott already is in effect in the Syrian region of the U.A.R.

The confederation called on all Arab workers "from the Persian Gulf to the Atlantic Ocean to tighten their boycott in order to foil the aims of Zionism, which is behind the American picketing of Arab vessels."

Solons Urge Strong Stand On Shipping

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) and Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) urged the Senate Saturday night to stand fast on a foreign aid bill amendment aimed at an Arab-enforced ban on Israeli shipping in the Suez Canal.

In a telegram to their Senate colleagues, they said their amendment, adopted by a 45-25 vote Thursday, would be nullified if another amendment proposed by Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) was approved. The Fulbright amendment has the strong support of administration officials.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, offered his amendment Friday. It is to be brought up for a vote Monday.

AMENDMENT

The Douglas-Keating amendment, identical to a provision in the House-passed foreign aid bill, would put Congress on record in favor of withholding assistance from nations that deny free use of international waterways.

It provides that in the administration of foreign aid and surplus food disposal programs "These principles shall be applied, as the President may determine."

Fulbright's proposed amendment says the President need not apply these principles when two or more nations receiving aid "are engaged in actions detrimental to U. N. efforts to maintain peace and stability" and if to do so would reflect partiality by the United States.

Red Trawler Sails To East

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet trawler was heading out into the Atlantic Saturday after a prowling cruise off the American coast which took it within sight of a U.S. missile submarine trying out equipment.

The Navy said latest reports show the ship was sailing eastward Saturday morning after a trip which took it down to a position off Norfolk, Va.

MRS. JAMES H. PHIPPS, 83, may withdraw from the Mrs. Wyoming contest at Laramie Monday due to family complications. Her 90-year-old husband, a retired carpenter and railroad employe complained that if she won the Mrs. Wyoming title, she'd have to go to the Mrs. America finals in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and this would interfere with a vacation trip he had been planning to visit his children in California and Missouri. ABANDONED CHILDREN

Hobo And Wife Charged In Case

VALDOSTA, Ga. (UPI) — A hobo and his wife who abandoned two small children in a briar patch at Hahira, here last week were arrested Saturday as they hitch - hiked along U. S. 82.

The couple, identified as Howard Thomas, 37, Roxboro, Ala., and his wife, Elizabeth May Thomas, 26 of Greentown, Md. were picked up near Albany, Ga., some 82 miles from where they left children, Tommy 4, and Johnny, 2.

Police returned the couple to Valdosta and ushered them into a courtroom where the tots were waiting. The older boy showed no emotion, but Johnny burst into tears and tried to run away.

REUNION

"Who is that?" a police officer asked. "Mommy." "Daddy." both of them chorused. Police had been working since the children were found last Tuesday trying to establish their identity.

"We just didn't have no money to support them," Thomas said. "I haven't had a regular job in years. I've just been bumming around."

Mrs. Thomas said the boys were hers by a previous marriage. She said it was her idea to leave them.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Well-armed rebels spilling into southeastern Paraguay's jungles are apparently mapping a Castro - type guerrilla campaign against the dictatorship of President Alfredo Stroessner, informed border sources said Saturday.

Stroessner's government said Paraguayan troops and air force planes had inflicted casualties on the rebels in new clashes, but it released no figures. Civilian milita units were ordered out to help fight the insurgents.

Buildings Damaged By Strong Gust

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Powerful winds struck at western Michigan Saturday while a severe snowstorm hit the state's upper peninsula.

The sheriff's office reported that high winds, possibly tornadic, damaged buildings and felled trees on a farm 20 miles southwest of Kalamazoo.

Wind also wrecked a plane, damaged two others and blew off a section of a hangar roof at the airport at Dowagiac.

"Everything looked like it had been blown apart from inside," said the airport manager, Grady Detion.

The snow whirled in Michigan's upper peninsula on the opening day of the trout season.

FREEZE

Gusty winds swept snow and rain across the Midwest, toppling temperatures and setting off frost and freeze warnings—on the eve of May.

A large tree, toppled by a strong wind, crushed four automobiles in the downtown section of Chesterton, Ind. A woman was in one of the cars and she narrowly escaped injury.

Light snow also fell in Wausau, Wis., Saturday and during the night in Kansas City Mo., and most of Iowa.

The mercury plunged to 13 above zero in Laramie, Wyo., and Leadville, Colo., and dropped below the freezing level in the northern Rockies and much of the Midwest.

Frost or freeze warnings were issued for Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma.

NAACP Plans To Take Coast Case To Court

BILOXI, Miss. (UPI) — The NAACP will carry the Negro struggle for Gulf Coast swimming privileges to the court, a Negro leader said Saturday night.

"The NAACP is definitely in it," said Dr. Gilbert Mason, following a two day visit here by Robert Carter of New York, an NAACP attorney.

A race riot occurred last week end when about 100 Negroes attempted to swim off the "whites only" beach. Mason indicated no further swimming attempts would be made by Negroes pending legal action.

NOTHING

"There is nothing to be gained by creating a situation which will give the impression that we are rabble rousers," said Mason, a Biloxi physician. "The course now is through the courts."

A law providing prison terms up to ten years for persons convicted of inciting a riot was quickly approved by the Mississippi legislature this week because of rumors that Negroes again would invade the beach Sunday. Following enactment of the law Negro and white leaders said they expected no such attempt.

However, leaders on both sides expressed fears that "trouble makers" from throughout the Deep South might be attracted here Sunday and police reinforcements were ordered. A 7 p. m. curfew was ordered for Airmen at Kessler Air Force base here.

The beach controversy was discussed Saturday in a meeting of Harrison County supervisors, mayors of several coastal communities and a representative of the Sovereignty Commission, a state agency to maintain segregation.

Preparations For Summit Talk In Final Phase

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials think Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev probably will make some spectacular play of diplomacy in the next two weeks with the aim of strengthening his position at the Paris summit conference.

At least three persons were injured and property damage was unofficially estimated at several hundred thousand dollars. Most of the loss was in the form of ship collision, damage to moored aircraft, unroofed dwellings, flooded basements and power failures.

Hard hit were New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Houma, New Iberia, Abbeville, Lafayette and Hathaway. It was at Hathaway, in Jefferson Davis Parish, where three persons were reported injured. One victim was hospitalized. One home was demolished and eight others damaged.

POWER

Power failure shut down major industry in Baton Rouge after a night of thunderstorms. A Gulf States Utilities Co. power station apparently was heavily damaged by an explosion attributed to lightning.

No injuries were reported there.

Operating units of refining industries of Esso Standard Oil Co. and the Ethyl Corp. closed down. Asked to curtail operations were U.S. Rubber Co. No. 1, Ideal Cement and Consolidated Chemicals.

High winds and rains which hit New Orleans tore a merchant ship from its moorings and caused a collision which sank a 36-foot yacht. Then the ship, the SS Silver Prince, crashed into wharves at Port Ship Service in Arabi. Damage was estimated at $30,000.

Another ship, the SS Barbara, broke free and was drifting down the Mississippi when a tug and a Coast Guard vessel captured her.

Five Negroes Picket Library In Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Five Negro high school students, protesting segregated reading rooms, Saturday picketed the Louisiana State Library here about two hours.

They left without incident after talking with a representative of the Congress on Racial Equality.

Miss Essae Mae Culver, state librarian, said the library had separate reading rooms for whites and Negroes, but otherwise "our services are integrated."

The youths declined to give their identity. A leader said they belonged to a new organization, "Youth for Freedom Assn."

RULES

They said they were protesting rules that restrict Negroes to the third floor reading room when they go to check out books.

One placard carried by the youths read:

"I want to read of democracy on all floors."

Miss Culver said the pickets apparently came from McKinley High School for Negroes here. She said students from the school came to the library two after-

Forecaster Out; Outlook Is Dry

When we arrived our weatherman was no where to be found but a note on his door read: "Gone to sea."

Luckily though he remembered to leave a forecast for the Twin Cities behind, it read: "Partly cloudy through Sunday night, cooler with lowest 45 to 50, becoming clear Monday morning." High yesterday was 77, low 63.

Temperatures over the state should be cooler and skies partly cloudy to clear, with costal winds northerly, 10 to 20 miles per hour.

Arkansas' residents can expect cloudy to partly cloudy skies and generally cooler temperatures through tonight.

Boycott Launched As Reprisal

Egyptian Port Workers Angry At N.Y. Pickets

CAIRO (AP) — Egyptian port workers launched a boycott of American shipping Saturday in reprisal for the picketing that blocks unloading of the Egyptian freighter Cleopatra in New York.

President Nasser approved their vow that they will neither repair nor unload U.S. vessels at Alexandria, Port Said or Suez. Alexandria, on the Mediterranean, is Egypt's chief port. Port Said and Suez are terminals of the Suez Canal.

The chief executive of the United Arab Republic told a 30-nation African-Asian conference in Cairo the boycott will continue until New York dock workers and seamen abandon their picket line against the Cleopatra.

BLOCKED

A single picket carried on the blockade in New York Saturday. Promoters of the action, which has prevented the Cleopatra from unloading for more than two weeks, describe it as a protest against Arab blacklisting of American ships which deal with Israel. They say the Arab blacklist has cost them jobs.

The boycott of American ships was called by the Confederation of Arab Trade Unions, which hopes the movement will spread to all Arab ports. Jordan announced it will boycott all American ships calling at Aqaba, its only port. The boycott already is in effect in the Syrian region of the U.A.R.

The confederation called on all Arab workers "from the Persian Gulf to the Atlantic Ocean to tighten their boycott in order to foil the aims of Zionism, which is behind the American picketing of Arab vessels."

Solons Urge Strong Stand On Shipping

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sens. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill) and Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) urged the Senate Saturday night to stand fast on a foreign aid bill amendment aimed at an Arab-enforced ban on Israeli shipping in the Suez Canal.

In a telegram to their Senate colleagues, they said their amendment, adopted by a 45-25 vote Thursday, would be nullified if another amendment proposed by Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) was approved. The Fulbright amendment has the strong support of administration officials.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, offered his amendment Friday. It is to be brought up for a vote Monday.

AMENDMENT

The Douglas-Keating amendment, identical to a provision in the House-passed foreign aid bill, would put Congress on record in favor of withholding assistance from nations that deny free use of international waterways.

It provides that in the administration of foreign aid and surplus food disposal programs "These principles shall be applied, as the President may determine."

Fulbright's proposed amendment says the President need not apply these principles when two or more nations receiving aid "are engaged in actions detrimental to U. N. efforts to maintain peace and stability" and if to do so would reflect partiality by the United States.

Red Trawler Sails To East

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Soviet trawler was heading out into the Atlantic Saturday after a prowling cruise off the American coast which took it within sight of a U.S. missile submarine trying out equipment.

The Navy said latest reports show the ship was sailing eastward Saturday morning after a trip which took it down to a position off Norfolk, Va.

MRS. JAMES H. PHIPPS, 83, may withdraw from the Mrs. Wyoming contest at Laramie Monday due to family complications. Her 90-year-old husband, a retired carpenter and railroad employe complained that if she won the Mrs. Wyoming title, she'd have to go to the Mrs. America finals in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and this would interfere with a vacation trip he had been planning to visit his children in California and Missouri. ABANDONED CHILDREN

Hobo And Wife Charged In Case

VALDOSTA, Ga. (UPI) — A hobo and his wife who abandoned two small children in a briar patch at Hahira, here last week were arrested Saturday as they hitch - hiked along U. S. 82.

The couple, identified as Howard Thomas, 37, Roxboro, Ala., and his wife, Elizabeth May Thomas, 26 of Greentown, Md. were picked up near Albany, Ga., some 82 miles from where they left children, Tommy 4, and Johnny, 2.

Police returned the couple to Valdosta and ushered them into a courtroom where the tots were waiting. The older boy showed no emotion, but Johnny burst into tears and tried to run away.

REUNION

"Who is that?" a police officer asked. "Mommy," "Daddy," both of them chorused. Police had been working since the children were found last Tuesday trying to establish their identity.

"We just didn't have no money to support them," Thomas said. "I haven't had a regular job in years. I've just been bumming around."

Mrs. Thomas said the boys were hers by a previous marriage. She said it was her idea to leave them.

Castro-Type Campaign Seen In Paraguay

EXILES

Stroessner's government said Paraguayan troops and air force planes had inflicted casualties on the rebels in new clashes, but it released no figures. Civilian milita units were ordered out to help fight the insurgents.

The major rebel forces, believed to number more than 1,000 Paraguayan exiles, opened their invasion Friday from Posada and other Argentine border points.

BEGINNING MONDAY

New Comics Slated For News-Star Run

Two new and excellent comic strips are coming your way in the Monroe News-Star, starting Monday.

The two are Sky Masters and On Stage. You'll love both.

Sky Masters is a continuing story of our space age and features Holly Martin, daughter of pioneer spaceman, Colonel Martin; Danny Martin, Holly's brother and junior spaceman; Doctor Rover, crack space scientist, General Hascomb, commander of Cape Hope Space project, and of course, the hero, Sky Masters. This strip is just full of top-notch adventure and you'll want to follow it daily in the News-Star.

As our comic strip starts, we find that Sky Masters has been commissioned by the Air Force to find out from Martin Strickland (A space age expert who has been researching in solitude on a desert island somewhere in the Atlantic) what he knows about a mystery robot that has been launched from Siberia.

On Stage is a self - portrait of a small town girl with big - time stage ambitions. This strip is the story of what happens when a wholesome young girl from a small town is let loose in the world of show business.

This excellent strip takes you behind the lights on broadway. You'll agree that there is still no business like show business.

You'll not want to miss either of this two great comic strips. Remember they start Monday in the Monroe News - Star.

Buildings Damaged By Strong Gust

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Powerful winds struck at western Michigan Saturday while a severe snowstorm hit the state's upper peninsula.

The sheriff's office reported that high winds, possibly tornadic, damaged buildings and felled trees on a farm 20 miles southwest of Kalamazoo.

Wind also wrecked a plane, damaged two others and blew off a section of a hangar roof at the airport at Dowagiac.

"Everything looked like it had been blown apart from inside," said the airport manager, Grady Detion.

The snow whirled in Michigan's upper peninsula on the opening day of the trout season.

FREEZE

Gusty winds swept snow and rain across the Midwest, toppling temperatures and setting off frost and freeze warnings—on the eve of May.

A large tree, toppled by a strong wind, crushed four automobiles in the downtown section of Chesterton, Ind. A woman was in one of the cars and she narrowly escaped injury.

Light snow also fell in Wausau, Wis., Saturday and during the night in Kansas City Mo., and most of Iowa.

The mercury plunged to 13 above zero in Laramie, Wyo., and Leadville, Colo., and dropped below the freezing level in the northern Rockies and much of the Midwest.

Frost or freeze warnings were issued for Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, and Oklahoma.

NAACP Plans To Take Coast Case To Court

BILOXI, Miss. (UPI) — The NAACP will carry the Negro struggle for Gulf Coast swimming privileges to the court, a Negro leader said Saturday night.

"The NAACP is definitely in it," said Dr. Gilbert Mason, following a two day visit here by Robert Carter of New York, an NAACP attorney.

A race riot occurred last week end when about 100 Negroes attempted to swim off the "whites only" beach. Mason indicated no further swimming attempts would be made by Negroes pending legal action.

NOTHING

"There is nothing to be gained by creating a situation which will give the impression that we are rabble rousers," said Mason, a Biloxi physician. "The course now is through the courts."

A law providing prison terms up to ten years for persons convicted of inciting a riot was quickly approved by the Mississippi legislature this week because of rumors that Negroes again would invade the beach Sunday. Following enactment of the law Negro and white leaders said they expected no such attempt.

However, leaders on both sides expressed fears that "trouble makers" from throughout the Deep South might be attracted here Sunday and police reinforcements were ordered. A 7 p. m. curfew was ordered for Airmen at Kessler Air Force base here.

The beach controversy was discussed Saturday in a meeting of Harrison County supervisors, mayors of several coastal communities and a representative of the Sovereignty Commission, a state agency to maintain segregation.

Methodists Rebuff Slap At Kennedy

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Methodists firmly rebuffed Saturday a proposed slap at the presidential aspirations of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) in regard to his membership in the Roman Catholic Church.

Delegates to the quadrennial Methodist General Conference, top governing body of the nation's largest Protestant denomination, overwhelmingly rejected a resolution offered by a group from South Carolina and West Virginia.

West Virginia is where Kennedy is involved in a key primary campaign.

It would be "most unfortunate" for the church to even consider such criticism, declared the Rev. G. Alfred Brown of Fort Worth, Tex. The convention then voted against even referring the matter to a committee.

Referring to Kennedy's candidacy, the resolution said that the religious factor necessarily had become a political issue because of "the existence of a monolithic, totalitarian, temporal-spiritual church-state, claiming the broadest powers."

2,000 Youths Hustled Off In Turkey

ISTANBUL, Turkey (UPI) — Troops backed by tanks broke up a student sit-down strike Saturday and hustled 2,000 youths and coeds to an army camp. But thousands more defied the government of Premier Adnan Menderes and paraded outside NATO foreign ministers headquarters shouting "To Hell with dictators."

A crowd of 3,000 students demanding the resignation of the authoritarian Menderes tricked their way through a ring of army bayonets to march on a hospital where students wounded by police in riots Thursday were under treatment.

There were new student protests also in Ankara, the capital, Saturday. But the only reported casualty was one student killed when he slipped and fell from an army tank. Fourteen persons were reported killed in the Korea-inspired outbursts Thursday and Friday.

In Straw Pile

One small ring and pine straw!

Louis George, Speech Therapist for the Ouachita Parish schools, last fall was working in his yard with two younger boys of the family as they bailed pine straw.

The boys took the pine straw to Mrs. Louise Shelton, teacher at the Lee Junior High school, who gladly purchased it to go around flower beds in her yard. On taking remnants home, the yard man put it around the azaleas and camellias. While at this work, to his amazement he found a class ring from Southwestern in Hammond. He gave the ring to Dr. Shelton who wrote Southwestern listing the initials and year of graduation which was 1937 and awaited a reply. It was quickly forthcoming and Dr. Shelton returned Louis George's class ring to him.

Plans Plays

Two groups, Speech and Music, at Northeast State college plan two one-act plays, supper club style in the services rendered at the Paraton club on May 3.

Those attending will be asked to defray expenses at the rate of $3 per person. Reservations can be made by contacting Mrs. Florence Z. Albritton, associate professor of music, or by calling the Fine Arts office.

The plays are "The Finger of God," and a comedy, "A Medicine for the Doctor."

The student - directed plays are to be given to raise funds for Phi Beta, a national music and speech sorority, it is explained by George Bryan, associate professor of speech.

PAR Meet

A government professor was at a conference sponsored by the Public Affairs Research Council held the past week in Baton Rouge.

Northeast State College was represented by Arthur L. Tatum. The sessions, lasting two days, were sponsored by PAR in cooperation with Loyola University and Centenary college.

Graduation

Schools in the Monroe area are turning thoughts to the commencement of their institutions. We know of some who have sent attractively prepared commencement invitations to friends here. We specially refer to the final exercises of the year to be held in the Bastrop High School on Tuesday, May 17th, which is little more than two weeks from now.

After a serious illness that necessitated hospitalization for some weeks, both Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Poag, prominent in business and social circles, the past week recovered sufficiently to attend Rotary when it met in Hotel Virginia. Both appeared in the best of health. A piano player to replace Leon Hammond, now on vacation, was required and when asked Mrs. Poag readily officiated in this capacity.

A Navy pilot sighted a green flare in waters 135 miles northeast of Oahu Island.

Coast Guard planes, small private planes, Marine helicopters, a patrol boat and land parties joined the search starting Friday morning. Nothing was found of Gluckmann, his Beechcraft Bonanza or the flare.

Would - be rescuers were confronted with a vast stretch of the Pacific in which the veteran solo flier might have gone down. Officials had no idea where he might be. The Coast Guard said officially the 34-year-old bachelor was "believed down at sea."

Gluckmann had said he would fly over Midway Island to the north of Hawaii and hit the American mainland near Portland, Ore.

His last confirmed radio contact came at 2 a.m. Eastern Standard Time Wednesday.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Agency said, "His flight plan was so nebulous that if a further search is attempted it would be a real rough deal."

Gluckmann had expressed the hope he would be lucky in his attempt to set a new record.

rooms and asked to see the catalogue.

"What good would it do them?" she asked.

Miss Culver said direct library service was restricted to state officials, state legislators and state employes. The state library serves the public through public libraries, which are integrated here and in one other Louisiana parish, Orleans.

"They have equal service," Miss Culver said. "It's just that it isn't all put together."

The state librarian said she explained to the students they could use the third-floor reading room, but this was rejected as "Jim Crow."

Miss Culver said she believed "they've just been told what to do."

Major Johns, expelled from all-Negro Southern University here after a mass boycott of classes at the state-supported school last month, told newsmen he came to the picket scene "because the kids called me."

Johns said he has been retained as public relations representative of CORE.

Johns talked with the pickets after newsmen left.

The students opened their picketing demonstration with a prayer to "give us strength to go about this thing with firmness in our hearts. . . . for our cause."

About 10 minutes after they unrolled their placards and began to pace the sidewalk in front of the library, closed for the weekend, a single police car began to patrol the area. A motorcycle policeman later replaced the unit.

The pickets aroused little attention from strollers in the state capitol area and nearby business establishments.

"They stay full all the time," he explained. "We need more space and a general overhaul job."

But he added, "If we don't have any money, there's no use in going into this at all."

Allen said he would concentrate his efforts on improving parish roads.

"But right now I'm taking the position of awaiting the administration to see what course the Legislature can follow," Allen said.

So far, he pointed out, the Davis administration has been silent.

ELVIS SLIPPING?

LONDON (UPI)—Elvis Presley still is shy of the old music magic he had with British fans before he became a GI and shaved his sideburns.

His first disc since his Army discharge, "Stuck On You," failed to top the British hit parade. It rose as high as number two last week and slipped to eighth place this week.

BETWEEN BOSSES

May 3 Ohio Primary To Be Costly Fight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The May 3 Ohio primary is being called the million-dollar fight between the bosses.

There is a record number of candidates in the field for offices from the county court houses to the White House.

But they apparently have failed to stir the voters, mainly because all of the delegates to the national conventions will be pledged to support Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

The contest between slates pledged to Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination developed into a bitter prestige battle between Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Ray T. Miller, chairman of the Democratic organization at Cleveland.

DiSalle, the first big state governor to endorse Kennedy, is running as a favorite son candidate with a full slate of delegates pledged to support Kennedy. They will stick with the Massachusetts senator as long as Kennedy wants the 64-vote Ohio delegation.

Miller entered a slate which could win 30 votes pledged to Kennedy.

The Republican organization delegates are pledged to Nixon, whose name will be on the ballot. The only challenge is from former U.S. Sen. George H. Bender, of Cleveland, who is pledged to himself and says he favors Nixon. Bender, an office holder off and on for 40 years, was refused a place on the headquarters slate and is running on his own.

The Democratic voter will face the major task of voting for 36 delegates from the state at large, each with one-half vote. Republicans will vote for 10 delegates from the state at large.

The long list of delegates — candidates, plus the races for U.S. representative, state Legislature, minor state offices, and county offices—requires two ballots for each party to list its candidates. The expense of printing and counting the ballots and the campaign resulted in the delegate contests being called a million-dollar fight between those seeking control of the internal machinery of the party.

Voters, confused and indifferent to the internal dispute within both parties, generally have indicated they feel they have no choice in nominating a candidate for president and were reported by party leaders as being generally little concerned about the whole matter.

DiSalle will control a majority of the Buckeye delegation as Miller did not enter a full slate. He has said, however, he does not want a default type victory and has called for a "smashing" win over the Miller forces.

The stakes are high for DiSalle. If he controls a majority of Ohio's 64 votes, the former federal price stabilizer would be in a key spot in a deadlocked convention.

Three Injured When Car Hits Mayor's Auto

Three injuries resulted last night when an automobile with four passengers ran into Mayor W. L. Howard's parked car.

Injured were Mrs. Ida W. Middleton, 31, driver of the car; her husband, Huey Middleton, 1506 South 8th street, and Mrs. Peggy Hunt, 1711 South 8th street, one of the passengers.

Mrs. Hunt's husband, George Hunt, was not injured.

According to police, the mishap took place near the intersection of Plum and South 8th streets. Howard's car was parked on South 8th and the Middleton vehicle was headed north.

Police said that Howard's car was partially on the pavement, but did not say how far it extended into the street.

Mr. and Mrs. Middleton were taken to Wright - Bendel Clinic for observation and treatment of minor injuries. Mrs. Hunt was treated at St. Francis and later released.

When asked if charges would be filed, police said "At this time, the police department has filed no charges."

"They have equal service," Miss Culver said. "It's just that it isn't all put together."

The state librarian said she explained to the students they could use the third-floor reading room, but this was rejected as "Jim Crow."

Miss Culver said she believed "they've just been told what to do."

Major Johns, ejected from all-Negro Southern University here after a mass boycott of classes at the state-supported school last month, told newsmen he came to the picket scene "because the kids called me."

Johns said he has been retained as public relations representative of CORE.

Johns talked with the pickets after newsmen left.

The students opened their picketing demonstration with a prayer to "give us strength to go about this thing with firmness in our hearts. . . . for our cause."

About 10 minutes after they unrolled their placards and began to pace the sidewalk in front of the library, closed for the weekend, a single police car began to patrol the area. A motorcycle policeman later replaced the unit.

The pickets aroused little attention from strollers in the state capitol area and nearby business establishments.

sent the hospital was equipped with 21 beds.

"They stay full all the time," he explained. "We need more space and a general overhaul job."

But he added, "If we don't have any money, there's no use in going into this at all."

Allen said he would concentrate his efforts on improving parish roads.

"But right now I'm taking the position of awaiting the administration to see what course the Legislature can follow," Allen said.

So far, he pointed out, the Davis administration has been silent.

ELVIS SLIPPING?

LONDON (UPI)—Elvis Presley still is shy of the old music magic he had with British fans before he became a GI and shaved his sideburns.

His first disc since his Army discharge, "Stuck On You," failed to top the British hit parade. It rose as high as number two last week and slipped to eighth place this week.

BETWEEN BOSSES

May 3 Ohio Primary To Be Costly Fight

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—The May 3 Ohio primary is being called the million-dollar fight between the bosses.

There is a record number of candidates in the field for offices from the county court houses to the White House.

But they apparently have failed to stir the voters, mainly because all of the delegates to the national conventions will be pledged to support Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

The contest between slates pledged to Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination developed into a bitter prestige battle between Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Ray T. Miller, chairman of the Democratic organization at Cleveland.

DiSalle, the first big state governor to endorse Kennedy, is running as a favorite son candidate with a full slate of delegates pledged to support Kennedy. They will stick with the Massachusetts senator as long as Kennedy wants the 64-vote Ohio delegation.

Miller entered a slate which could win 30 votes pledged to Kennedy.

The Republican organization delegates are pledged to Nixon, whose name will be on the ballot. The only challenge is from former U.S. Sen. George H. Bender, of Cleveland, who is pledged to himself and says he favors Nixon. Bender, an office holder off and on for 40 years, was refused a place on the headquarters slate and is running on his own.

The Democratic voter will face the major task of voting for 36 delegates from the state at large, each with one-half vote. Republicans will vote for 10 delegates from the state at large.

The long list of delegates — candidates, plus the races for U.S. representative, state Legislature, minor state offices, and county offices—requires two ballots for each party to list its candidates. The expense of printing and counting the ballots and the campaign resulted in the delegate contests being called a million-dollar fight between those seeking control of the internal machinery of the party.

Voters, confused and indifferent to the internal dispute within both parties, generally have indicated they feel they have no choice in nominating a candidate for president and were reported by party leaders as being generally little concerned about the whole matter.

DiSalle will control a majority of the Buckeye delegation as Miller did not enter a full slate. He has said, however, he does not want a default type victory and has called for a "smashing" win over the Miller forces.

The stakes are high for DiSalle. If he controls a majority of Ohio's 64 votes, the former federal price stabilizer would be in a key spot in a deadlocked convention.

Three Injured When Car Hits Mayor's Auto

Three injuries resulted last night when an automobile with four passengers ran into Mayor W. L. Howard's parked car.

Injured were Mrs. Ida W. Middleton, 31, driver of the car; her husband, Huey Middleton, 1506 South 8th street, and Mrs. Peggy Hunt, 1711 South 8th street, one of the passengers.

Mrs. Hunt's husband, George Hunt, was not injured.

According to police, the mishap took place near the intersection of Plum and South 8th streets. Howard's car was parked on South 8th and the Middleton vehicle was headed north.

Police said that Howard's car was partially on the pavement, but did not say how far it extended into the street.

Mr. and Mrs. Middleton were taken to Wright - Bendel Clinic for observation and treatment of minor injuries. Mrs. Hunt was treated at St. Francis and later released.

When asked if charges would be filed, police said "At this time, the police department has filed no charges."

MAY DAY CELEBRATION

Parades, Talks Dominate Scene

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Parades, rallies and an almost endless flood of speeches dominate much of the world scene Sunday as nations on both sides of the Iron Curtain celebrate May Day.

With the holiday falling on a Sunday, a religious note was added to observances in many Western countries.

Designated by the International Socialist Congress in 1899 as a workers' holiday, May Day is celebrated with particular enthusiasm in the Communist sphere, along with parts of Western Europe, Latin America and the Oriente.

The United States and Canada ignore the occasion. They observe Labor Day the first Monday in September.

Moscow again will put on a mighty political and military show this time playing up the Communist teachings of Lenin and the travels of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The parade through Red Square will feature four 50-foot-long mystery missile.

Thousands of miles away in Cuba, Prime Minister Fidel Castro hopes a May Day rally will bring out 1½ million supporters as he seeks to show the world his controversial regime is not slipping.

Against a background of pressing economic and political problems, the Cuban revolutionary leader planned to parade his armed strength — regular troops and thousands of student and worker's militia.

East and West Berlin scheduled separate celebrations about a mile apart on opposite sides of their border. The Communist observance features a short military parade followed by a long procession of delegations from Iron Curtain countries. In West Berlin, the highlight is a big rally and an address by Mayor Willy Brandt.

A four-hour parade with hundreds of thousands of workers through downtown Budapest headlines Communist Hungary's celebration.

In Warsaw, Poland, the Communists will stage a giant rally on the broad square fronting the 30-story, Moscow-styled Palace of Culture and Science.

In Brazil, along with the usual parades, labor unions in all major cities will open a drive to increase the nation's minimum wage from $30 to $45 monthly.

Extra security regulations put a damper on Argentina's celebrations. Extra police were on duty to prevent any Communist demonstrations and many workers are expected to stay home out of fear of incidents.

May Day took on another aspect in England, where Britons celebrate the occasion with maypole dances and ceremonies as old as the island itself.

The origins of many of the rites, particularly popular in the villages, are lost in antiquity. But they usually signify one thing — the flush of new growth brought by the return of summer.

Fruit Company Sees Problems

BOSTON (AP)—Like many another vast enterprise, the United Fruit Co. might never have been started if its founders could have foreseen the complexities ahead.

They just wanted to buy bananas in the American tropics and sell them at a profit in American seaports.

Today, United Fruit is confronted with expropriation of land, cattle, machinery and buildings in Cuba, and is in litigation in the courts of Costa Rica.

The company argues that Costa Rican legislation that provides for a yearend labor bonus for United Fruit workers is discriminatory and violates the company's contracts with the government.

As for Cuba, the company says virtually all its lands in Cuba are subject to expropriation under that country's agrarian reform law of June 3, 1959—other than its sugar mills, town sites and railway lines. It estimates its properties subject to expropriation to be worth 32 million dollars, exclusive of tools and machinery.

By the end of last year, 22,000 acres of cattle properties, along with company reserve lands, and equipment, agricultural machinery and structures had been taken over.

Cuba, a major source of bananas in earlier years, is not an important banana producer any more. That points up another of the problems of this sprawling corporation, now doing business on four continents and on West Indies islands. Diseases have hit banana-growing—not only in Cuba Jamaica, and Nicaragua, but also in British Honduras, Dutch Guiana and Mexico.

Even within countries which still continue to be important banana producers, expensive shifts of plantations have become necessary. United Fruit long ago found it could not just buy bananas from local producers. It had to build up an organization of 82,000 employes in the tropics, raise a large part of its own bananas, build railroads, and operate steamship lines.

Besides decimating diseases, windstorms have leveled vast banana acreages.

The banana itself is no simple produce to handle. Within 21 to 25 days of its harvesting, it must be transported 2,000 to 6,000 miles to consumers. The fruit (it is really a vegetable) is not only highly perishable, but is is also easily damaged in shipment.

United Fruit reports a "severe reduction in earnings" last year. It blames this combination of factors: banana plant fungus, reduction in average sales prices in the United States and Canada, and, particularly in Western Europe, lower world prices for sugar due to excess production, and higher labor costs. Earnings dropped to $12,097,670 or $1.39 a share, compared with $22,741,575 or $2.60 a share in 1958. Sales were down to $321,921,474 from the 1958 total of $324,385,946.

Labor and labor relations are no longer simple in countries where rapid economic and social changes are taking place.

A labor relations expert was brought in after a series of strikes in the decade through 1954. Virtually all the company's divisions now include labor relations officers. Close, friendly personal contacts are an objective, along with higher earnings.

But labor relations are complicated by a wide diversity of workers: white Spanish American nationals, Spanish-speaking Negroes, Indians — some of whom don't speak Spanish—and some workers of mixed races, and black Caribs.

There are further adjustments, both with governments and labor in the six banana countries: Costa Rica, Honduras, Colombia, Ecuador, Panama and Guatemala.

A trend toward linking all unions in various countries in a single international labor organization has raised fears that purely local labor difficulties could result in general sympathy strikes that might even involve American and Canadian labor organizations.

One point of friction arose from the company's identification with railroad building and operation. Banana railroads must necessarily serve banana areas primarily, rather than an entire national economy. Heavy United Fruit investment to save international railways of Central America led to identification of United Fruit with general public transportation in many minds in Guatemala. There was resentment when railroad service was not up to expectations.

Confronted with restrictive legislation, as in Costa Rica and Cuba, United Fruit this year served notice that funds for new ventures in any area will depend on assurance that contracts will be respected and that the company will face no discrimination.

The company, heavily involved in the banana trade, has sought diversification in more recent years, in addition to its already substantial business in raising and refining sugar. It is increasing production of cacao and palm oil and has extended its ventures in beef raising into three Central American countries. It is engaging in petroleum and mineral operations in Colombia, Panama and Ecuador, and geological surveys in Central and South America.

BIG BEAVER

LANCASTER, Wis. (AP) — Two Lancaster men trapped a beaver that topped the previous Wisconsin record for size.

The huge animal tipped the scales at 92 pounds 8 ounces, as certified by a conservation warden. The old mark was 84 pounds, for a beaver trapped in the same area seven years ago.

Ki-Poong Rites Held

MANGURI, Korea (UPI)—Lee Ki-Poong, the man who aspired to inhert Syngman Rhee's mantle but instead brought about his own downfall, was buried Saturday on a rocky, barren mountainside in the public cemetery of Manguri (Forget Worries).

While women wailed and men wept, black wooden coffins containing the bodies of Lee and his wife, Maria, were lowered side by side into a single grave and covered with a Korean flag.

Almost simultaneously the bodies of their two sons who died with them in a family murder-suicide pact two days ago were lowered together into another grave a few yards down the mountainside. They were former army Lt. Kang Suk and Kang Wook, a sophomore at Yongsei Christian University before he was shot by his brother.

One point of friction arose from the company's identification with railroad building and operation. Banana railroads must necessarily serve banana areas primarily, rather than an entire national economy. Heavy United Fruit investment to save international railways of Central America led to identification of United Fruit with general public transportation in many minds in Guatemala. There was resentment when railroad service was not up to expectations.

Confronted with restrictive legislation, as in Costa Rica and Cuba, United Fruit this year served notice that funds for new ventures in any area will depend on assurance that contracts will be respected and that the company will face no discrimination.

The company, heavily involved in the banana trade, has sought diversification in more recent years, in addition to its already substantial business in raising and refining sugar. It is increasing production of cacao and palm oil and has extended its ventures in beef raising into three Central American countries. It is engaging in petroleum and mineral operations in Colombia, Panama and Ecuador, and geological surveys in Central and South America.

BIG BEAVER

LANCASTER, Wis. (AP) — Two Lancaster men trapped a beaver that topped the previous Wisconsin record for size.

The huge animal tipped the scales at 92 pounds 8 ounces, as certified by a conservation warden. The old mark was 84 pounds, for a beaver trapped in the same area seven years ago.

Ki-Poong Rites Held

MANGURI, Korea (UPI)—Lee Ki-Poong, the man who aspired to inhert Syngman Rhee's mantle but instead brought about his own downfall, was buried Saturday on a rocky, barren mountainside in the public cemetery of Manguri (Forget Worries).

While women wailed and men wept, black wooden coffins containing the bodies of Lee and his wife, Maria, were lowered side by side into a single grave and covered with a Korean flag.

Almost simultaneously the bodies of their two sons who died with them in a family murder-suicide pact two days ago were lowered together into another grave a few yards down the mountainside. They were former army Lt. Kang Suk and Kang Wook, a sophomore at Yongsei Christian University before he was shot by his brother.

LOUISIANA LEGISLATURE

State Finances Are Confusing

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Napoleon put Louisiana on the map, Huey P. Long built a political bonfire in it, and now Jimmie H. Davis, the incoming governor, apparently will try persuasion instead of farce to smoothe out the next four years.

To start, Davis, taking office May 10, will have a new Legislature for 60 days and state finances are so entangled everyone is confused.

The racial question is starkly real and pressing, after legislative roadblocks for years held off the threat to Louisiana's traditional separation of the races.

Tempestous Gov. Earl K. Long tried hard to run again with a plan to leap over a constitutional barrier against a governor succeeding himself. Stepping aside now, Long said Davis may make the best governor Louisiana ever had.

There was some irritation by certain legislative members over Davis' slowness to announce any decisions before taking office.

One politician remarked lawmakers were like a bunch of helpless men searching for a seeing-eye dog.

While the touchy business of Davis indicating publicly his choice for a new speaker isn't settled officially, just about everybody knows now Rep. Tom Jewell of Pointe Coupee Parish seems to be his choice.

Every governor starts off with legislative strength. Unless there is a startling change, and the way most lawmakers are talking, there is no indication of a change, the first legislative crisis Davis faced is over.

The people gave Davis a record vote. He said he wanted no political machine, he wanted an independent Legislature.

In several speeches, Davis said he meant that and made clear he wanted the Legislature to control the Louisiana spending spree.

But Davis told lawmakers in a pre-legislative conference he favored the scapel instead of the cleaver.

After the heavy spending of previous and present administrations, Davis summed up his key views on the fiscal problems with this statement:

"The people of our state will support any well-conceived move to stabilize the cost of government."

Youngster Hurt In Bicycle-Car Crash Saturday

Eight-year-old Jerry Danna received multiple injuries yesterday when he rode his bicycle into the path of a moving car.

Officials at St. Francis hospital said the youth suffered a fractured right leg, a serious gash on his left leg and multiple bruises and abrasions.

Police said the boy was riding his bicycle near his home, Apt. 9-A Louis Lock Homes, when the mishap occurred.

He swerved onto Lock Drive in front of a car driven by Harold G. Rayburn, 811 Wood street. Rayburn said he did not see the child in time to stop.

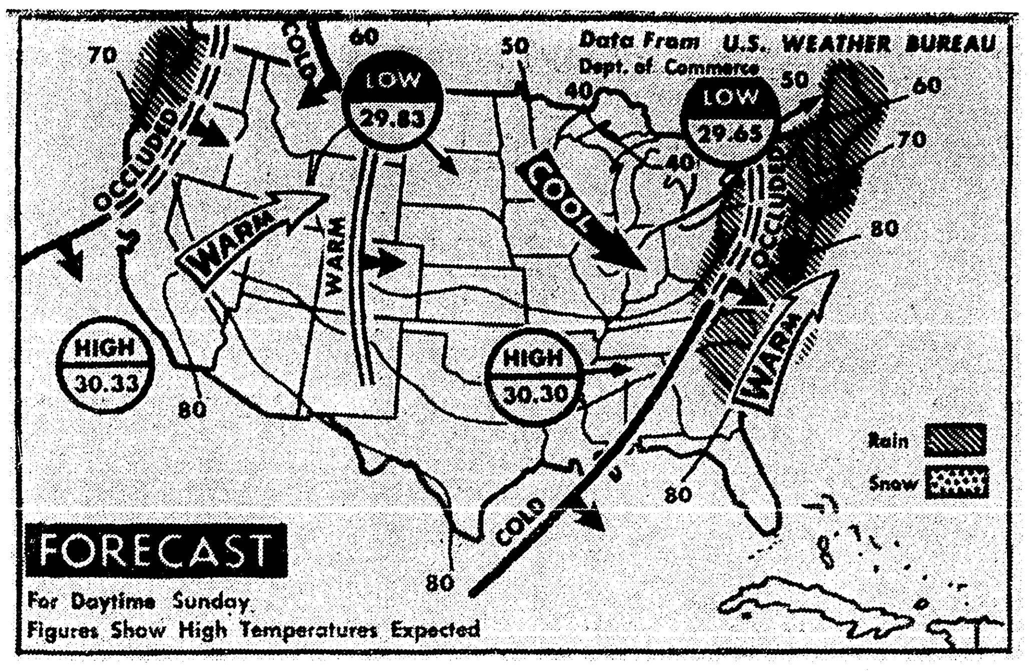
No charges were filed. City police termed the accident "Unavoidable."

POLITICS MAY INTERFERE

NEW YORK (AP) — Politics may interfere with Broadway stage productions next season for producer Roger L. Stevens, who is chairman of the finance committee of the Democratic party.

He plans two new stage shows, but that may be all for which he can spare time. This season he has presented seven new stage productions including the recently arrived "Duel of Angels."

One of the new shows he plans to offer has a record before opening in the length of its title. It is a farce by Arthur L. Kopit and the title is "Oh, Dad, Poor Dad, Momma's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feelin' So Sad."



SHOWERS AND THUNDERSHOWERS are predicted Sunday for Middle and Southern Atlantic states. Cooler temperatures are expected in Great Lakes area south through Ohio and Tennessee Valleys to Gulf states and South Atlantic. Warming trend is predicted for Great Plains westward through Rockies to Pacific Coast. (AP Wirephoto Map)

STEAMED UP

Truman Comments On Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP) — A steamed-up Harry S. Truman told thousands of rallying Democrats Saturday night in only slightly camouflaged language that some Republicans prefer political retirement to running with Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The former president also took a swipe at the present one by inviting fellow Democrats to "look at what passes for leadership at the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue these days."

Truman urged the party loyal to sweep the November election and throw out what he called the party of privilege.

"These last years of drift and neglect and indecision must be reversed," he said.

The way to do it, he said, is to keep reciting to the people a GOP record he said is mostly messy and bad. He said that the more he thinks about this record, "the more I get steamed up."

The fiery former chief executive slashed at his old enemy, Nixon, in predicting the Democrats will roll up November victories giving them even bigger majorities in both Senate and House.

"Let me ask you a question," Truman said. "Why do you suppose so many Republican members of the House are 'voluntarily' retiring this year? How would you feel if you had to run for Congress as a Republican on a ticket headed by this vice president?

"All I can say is, there are some things much worse than retirement."

In a speech for a dinner to raise money for Democratic congressional candidates, Truman whaled away with unflagging vigor and impartiality at the GOP, President Eisenhower, Nixon and the records of all three.

In text and tongue-lashings, it was a throwback to the give-em-hell Truman who rang up a stunning victory in the 1948 presidential election.

But in the scramble for this year's Democratic presidential nomination, Truman held to his announced position of neutrality. He said this wasn't the time or place to say which man he considers best.

Perhaps more by circumstance than plan, the party festivities at the big National Guard Armory Saturday night took on a Texas tinge that did nothing to detract from the quest Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas is making for the nomination.

Warm Welcome Given Dietrich In Germany

BERLIN (AP) — Marlene Dietrich was back in her home town Saturday for the first time in 15 years.

She got a warm welcome from a crowd of about 200 persons, many of them newsmen when she stepped from a jet airliner at Tegel Airport.

The actress wore a mink coat and a suit of buff wool with the tiny red ribbon of the French Legion of Honor in the lapel.

There was no sign of a cold reception that had been predicted in some quarters. The predictions were based on resentment by some Germans because she had accepted the French decoration, performed only for American troops when she returned to Germany after World War II and is only now coming back for public performances 15 years later.

But there was no indication of any resentment at the airport. She left the plane with an armful of flowers and quickly collectel several more bouquets from admirers. She posed for photographers for 15 minutes and gave several radio interviews consisting mostly of, "Hello, I am glad to be here."

Miss Dietrich will give three performances in Berlin next week and then make a tour of Germany.

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — A motorist trying to catch a speeding ambulance was in turn pursued by police at speeds up to 70 miles an hour.

Moore was charged with five traffic violations.

Presbyterians Reject Proposal Over Stock

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — A proposal to dispose of all church stock in tobacco companies was rejected Saturday by delegates to the 100th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.

The Suwannee Presbytery, which embraces most of North Florida, made the overture but an assembly standing committee recommended it be turned down.

During a brief floor debate, opponents of the proposal argued that the tobacco question is not one of morality, that Christianity is not a set of do's and don'ts.

The assembly of some 500 delegates approved a record budget of $9,456,230 for the boards and agencies of the church. The budget previously had been recommended by the General Council.

The assembly also approved the revised Book of Church Order, in effect a new constitution, which was drawn up by a committee appointed at last year's general assembly. The revision will be sent to the 83 presbyteries to be acted upon.

When rats are controlled, mice may increase due to less competition for food, and to differences in control requirements.

IN RESORT CITY

Fear, Grim Silence Replacing Gaiety

BILOXI, Miss. (AP)—Fear and grim silence have replaced gaiety and laughter in this resort city of 50,000 persons.

Its 26 miles of white sand beaches, bordering the Gulf of Mexico, are deserted. These are the segregated beaches where last Sunday's bloody fights between whites and Negroes took place.

Yesterdays business generally was off, but arms and ammunition were selling at a lifely clip.

Negro leaders say they expect another attempt sometime Sunday by Negro groups to integrate the formerly all-white beaches.

White elements in town say they will stop them.

The tense situation started three weeks ago Sunday when Dr. Gilbert Mason, a local Negro physician, went swimming in front of a swank beach resort motel. Police asked Mason to leave. He did.

Two weeks ago, Mason duplicated his swimming incident and police arrested him, charging he was disturbing the peace. The charge has not been prosecuted.

Last Sunday, a large number of Negroes converged on the beach and gangs of white youths soon followed.

The fighting went on into the night when a crowd of whites, estimated at between 400-500 persons, gathered around the old City Hall in the center of town.

A number of Negroes and whites were beaten by the mob.

Two Air Force officers were pinned to a wall by a gang of whites and beaten with clubs and blackjacks. Seven other airmen from nearby Keesler Air Force Base, including two Negro sergeants, were also beaten.

At least five shootings were reported, with 10 persons wounded, including two white men, but none seriously.

All available police were called out Monday in a drive to prevent duplication of Sunday's near rioting.

The only other incident reported all week was by a 17-year-old white youth who claimed he was beaten by five Negroes.

The youth, Alvin Flowers, told police he was walking down a street near the beach when six Negro youths riding in a car with Louisiana license plates jumped out and beat him with clubs and wrapped wire cables.

Mayor Laz Quave said he found some discrepancies in Flowers story, but would not elaborate.

Merchants say their business has been drastically effected by the racial situation.

Three movie theaters in town say attendance has dropped off to one-fifth of its former volume.

A jewelry store owner said he did not make one sale Wednesday.

Profile Painted Of 'New' French Leader De Gaulle

(Editor's Note — Twenty years ago, Kenneth L. Dixon was a war correspondent of The Associated Press in Africa and Europe. He knew Charles de Gaulle in his ausutere, symbol-of-France period. Today, managing editor of the Lake Charles, La., American Press, Dixon writes about Charles de Gaulle, president of France, as he unbent on a sentimental journey to New Orleans, the Paris of the South.)

By KENNETH L. DIXON

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Charles de Gaulle, the man "who stayed lonely to save France," left the United States Saturday night after a performance that would have given pride to a Louisiana politician.

Undoubtedly he was the most un-lonely man in the state.

And it was almost all his own doing.

Gone was the aloof, austere, untouchable symbol of a soldier so many of us knew nearly twenty years ago.

Instead there was a tall, scholarly, smiling gentleman who bent from the waist to shake hands with small children, who abandoned his champagne and his security guard to mingle with hundreds in Jackson Square—who probably would have kissed a baby, had there been one handy.

The man who, less than a generation ago, was so rigid in his national pride that he literally made Churchill and Roosevelt come to him, stood at attention at a luncheon Friday and valiantly tried to sing—in English—the words of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

And Madame De Gaulle's conduct would have done credit to the wife of a presidential candidate.

Among other things, she went shopping in New Orleans.

I actually thought of Harry Truman as I followed the general around.

The pace was that brisk, and so was the down-to-earth country friendliness. This simply was not the same man I would hardly have dared speak to in Algiers in 1943 or in Paris in 1945. Finally, I think I understand why Andre Malraux, the famed French novelist, (noted for his liberalism and sympathy for the common man) joined the De Gaulle camp.

Despite his years of loneliness, this obviously was a man who liked people—or else was the best actor this side of Hollywood.

Probably it started Friday morning, when he paid the traditional ceremonial visit to the Bienville monument. Among those present were a bunch of boys and girls from nearby parochial schools. They had come simply to applaud, wave their flags and see the President of France.

But the 6-foot-4 De Gaulle, after placing a wreath at the foot of the monument, wandered among the children, gravely shaking hands with them, one by one—and that took a lot of bending, or unbending, as you prefer.

One or two of the youngsters caught him by surprise. They asked him questions in English and De Gaulle, who speaks and understands English far better than he admits, instinctively answered in the same language.

"How are you feeling today, sir?" asked one.

"Good as ever," mon general replied—and then seemed momentarily shocked that he had spoken in English.

But he got used to the idea. Friday afternoon, at the reception in his and Madame De Gaulle's honor in Jackson Square, there were about 2,000 people present. By the best estimates available, he must have shaken hands with half of them.

To the total dismay of his combined French and American security guards, he deserted his canopy-covered stand and simply circulated in the crowd. And while he started speaking to people in French, he drifted into English and wound up using it almost exclusively, except when he was addressed in French.

I had a good example of his command of English at the luncheon. I was taking some pictures and I caught him and New Orleans Mayor deLesseps Morrison in a huddle.

When I motioned to the mayor for them to move a little closer together, he touched De Gaulle on the shoulder. The general looked at me, saw the gesture and grinned. "Close it up, no?" he said and moved in shoulder to shoulder with the mayor.

It was that way all day. Since he has no wsafely left these shores, I can say that I sympathize with his security guard. An assassin would have had a field day.

But I don't believe there were any De Gaulle-assassin types in New Orleans Thursday night and Friday.

Frankly, the whole thing has been an experience for me. I had known De Gaulle as the rigid, right-wing autocrat, and while I realized that he served a great cause in World War II, I still had little use for him personally. He seemed to have absolutely no human touch, and I was amazed when Maldraux joined him.

But Friday, all day and night I saw a different De Gaulle. The only time he seemed the soldier again was when he stood at attention during the 21-gun salute. The rest of the time, he was completely relaxed and friendly—or at least he seemed so.

One New Orleans city official said that perhaps De Gaulle had lived in Lincolnesque loneliness all those years because he felt he had to for the sake of France. It could be true.

But he doesn't have to do so now. And he was not lonely Friday night as he boarded his plane to leave this country. As he turned at the top of the steps and waved to the crowd, the cheer burst spontaneously from almost a thousand throats:

"Vive De Gaulle."

Concern On Bomb Threats Is Expressed

WASHINGTON — The FBI is taking a grim, unsmiling look at jokers who have been plaguing the nation's airlines with unfounded bomb scares.

FBI agents and federal prosecutors throughout the country have served notice they're not kidding in their crackdown on such hoaxes.

Several weeks ago, FBI agents were ordered to give top priority to checking out all airport bomb threats. Since then they have arrested eight persons on "bomb scare" charges, including several business executives, in different part of the country.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers signaled the start of the crackdown April 4 when he instructed federal district attorneys to prosecute all clear-cut cases of false bomb reports and to submit doubtful cases to the Justice Department before dropping the investigation.

Both government and airlines officials have become increasingly disturbed over what they consider an extremely bad joke on the part of pranksters who have been turning in phony bomb reports at the rate of more than one a day for months.

The new all-out campaign against jokesters and others who stir up bomb scares involves close teamwork between the FBI, local police and airline employes.

Towards the end of last year, every air carrier in the nation circulated to its employes detailed instructions on what to do when they receive a bomb threat. The airlines have been paying out rewards to employes who aid in trapping bomb hoaxers.

The actual search of plane and luggage is the responsibility of airport or local police. But as soon as a bomb report is received, the FBI dispatches its nearest agent by radio car to start tracking down clues. Bomb threats received by telephone posed the greatest difficulty for investigators.

Since each such report must be followed up by a time-consuming search, every bomb threat costs the airlines hundreds of dollars—not to speak of the cost in inconvenience and anxiety to travelers.

The law making it illegal to make false reports of explosives on planes, trains, busses and boats had been on the books since July 14, 1956.

STORY OF THE WEEK

High Court Will Rule On Blue Law

By SAM FOGG

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court agreed this week to rule on three modern day legal disputes which had their basic origins in one of the Ten Commandments: "Remember that thou keep holy the Sabbath day."

At issue were the "Blue Laws" of three states — Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Maryland — which date back to the Colonial days of the ducking stool and particularly restrict Sunday retail business activities.

In agreeing to hear argument in the cases and render rulings sometime after next October, the Supreme Court was opening up for review what could be a Pandora's box of religious, social and even labor union controversy.

It was the first time that the high tribunal acknowledged that a federal question of constitutionality is involved in the Blue Laws which in various forms have been applied by many states and numerous localities.

In conflict are the laws, revised often since their inception in the Colonial days, and the 20th Century modes of Sunday drivers, supermarkets, discount houses, seven-day drug stores and the other commercial paraphernalia of suburbia.

What Constitutes Sabbath

Even a more delicate issue arises from religious discrepancies over what constitutes the Sabbath. Those of the Jewish religion and some Christian sects such as the Seventh Day adventists hold that Saturday, not Sunday, is their day of prayer and rest.

Less than a decade ago, the Supreme Court refused to review a Blue Law case involving a kosher market in New York. It held that no substantial federal question was involved.

In general, over the years, the court has upheld the contention that states have the right to proclaim "a day of rest" in every seven and to set a specific day for the benefit of all workers. The basis for the rulings were civil rather than religious.

But last May 18, a federal appeals court headed by now-retired Judge Calvert Magruder struck down the Massachusetts Blue Law of 1653 vintage.

In a two to one decision, Magruder's court said the statute favored "dominant Christian sects" and discriminated against Jewish retailers who closed their stores Saturday in observance of their Sabbath and also were forced to remain shut on Sundays.

Magruder's written opinion also contended that in response to various pressure groups, the law had been amended 70 times since 1658 and, for instance, now allows the digging of clams on Sunday but not the dredging of oysters.

Closed After 10 a.m.

He noted that the defendant, a kosher market, was compelled to close after 10 a.m. while news dealers and druggists, bakers and fruit and vegetable dealers were allowed to sell all day.

The appeal to the court was brought by Gov. Foster Furcolo and other Massachusetts state and local officials. The Lord's Day League of New England and the Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Men have urged the court to uphold the Blue Law. Arraigned in opposition have been the International Religious Liberty Association and the Southern New England Conference of Seventh Day Adventists.

The Pennsylvania and Maryland cases touch pointedly on the question of commercial discrimination. Both involve a retail operation known as "Two Guys from Harrison" which features Sunday selling.

A federal appeals court in Pennsylvania went directly counter to the Massachusetts tribunal by ruling favor of the 1794 Pennsylvania Blue Law.

In appealing to the Supreme Court, "Two Guys from Harrison-Allentown, Ind.," contended it had been discriminated against because the restriction was not applied to all.

STORY OF THE WEEK

High Court Will Rule On Blue Law

By SAM FOGG

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court agreed this week to rule on three modern day legal disputes which had their basic origins in one of the Ten Commandments: "Remember that thou keep holy the Sabbath day."

At issue were the "Blue Laws" of three states — Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Maryland — which date back to the Colonial days of the ducking stool and particularly restrict Sunday retail business activities.

In agreeing to hear argument in the cases and render rulings sometime after next October, the Supreme Court was opening up for review what could be a Pandora's box of religious, social and even labor union controversy.

It was the first time that the high tribunal acknowledged that a federal question of constitutionality is involved in the Blue Laws which in various forms have been applied by many states and numerous localities.

AF Reserve Week Plans Announced

Today marks the beginning of Air Force Reserve Week, which was officially declared by Mayor W. L. Howard yesterday.

Howard said that the Air Show to be held at Selman Field today should serve to remind us that "the bombers and missiles of the Air Force stand as the Nation's first line of defense against military aggression."

He called attention to the 9798th Air Reserve Squadron whose headquarters are located in Monroe, and congratulated the Commander, Lt. Col. William T. Gattis, and all members of his squadron.

Howard said that the men and women making up this organization give "unstintingly of their personal time in the relief of suffering and in the safeguarding of the lives and property of their fellow Americans."

Bauxite was discovered in Arkansas in 1887, but the first shipment of 20 tons was not made until 1896.

THE KID WAS A KILLER
BY CARYL
CHESSMAN

CONVICT-AUTHOR Caryl Chessman tells, in what might be his final news conference at San Quentin prison, that he is prepared to prove his innocence of the crimes for which he is scheduled to be executed Monday morning. The book the 38-year-old Chessman holds, "The Kid Was a Killer" was written in his cell on death row, where he has been held for 12 years. He has had eight reprieves. (AP Wirephoto)

Cubans Hit Havana For Big Rally

HAVANA (AP) — Thousands of Cubans streamed into Havana Saturday night for Sunday's giant May Day rally that is expected to produce another barrage of U.S. denunciations by Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Many American residents, fearful Castro's oratory might spark anti-U.S. disorders, crowded into air flights for Miami. Those remaining here stuck close to their homes.

A predicted crowd of 1½ million for the rally—called to show support for Castro's regime — was scaled down to one million by pro-government newspapers. No explanation was given.

The capital was alive with speculation over what Saturday would bring.

It ranged from predictions that Castro would declare Cuba a Socialist state, or break off diplomatic relations with the United States, to reports he once again would voice familiar charges of an American plot against his government.

He will speak after a parade of about 150,000 armed militiamen, mostly peasants, workers and students.

Arrangements for the rally represent a maximum effort by officials to drum up national support for his regime in the face of what is believed to be growing discontent.

Bus and train services were used exclusively for bringing in the crowds from the provinces. Some Cubans came on foot. All theaters, restaurants, beaches, clubs, and liquor stores will be closed.

To further encourage a good turnout and because May Day falls on a Sunday, the government declared Monday a national holiday.

Missing from the celebration will be the usual display of banners demanding higher wages for labor.

The powerful Cuban Confederation of Workers, the main organizing force behind the rally, has banned such ideas as counter-revolutionary.

Also missing will be David Salvador, once Castro's right-hand man in labor circles. A political moderate, he has been virtually ousted from the confederation's top post of secretary general by extreme leftist Jesus Soto.

Reports from Camaguey, where Salvador returned to his old job in a sugar mill, said he was suffering from a liver ailment and would be unable to participate in the rally.

AF Reserve Week Plans Announced

Today marks the beginning of Air Force Reserve Week, which was officially declared by Mayor W. L. Howard yesterday.

Howard said that the Air Show to be held at Selman Field today should serve to remind us that "the bombers and missiles of the Air Force stand as the Nation's first line of defense against military aggression."

He called attention to the 9798th Air Reserve Squadron whose headquarters are located in Monroe, and congratulated the Commander, Lt. Col. William T. Gattis, and all members of his squadron.

Howard said that the men and women making up this organization give "unstintingly of their personal time in the relief of suffering and in the safeguarding of the lives and property of their fellow Americans."

Bauxite was discovered in Arkansas in 1887, but the first shipment of 20 tons was not made until 1896.

Cubans Hit Havana For Big Rally

HAVANA (AP) — Thousands of Cubans streamed into Havana Saturday night for Sunday's giant May Day rally that is expected to produce another barrage of U.S. denunciations by Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Many American residents, fearful Castro's oratory might spark anti-U.S. disorders, crowded into air flights for Miami. Those remaining here stuck close to their homes.

A predicted crowd of 1½ million for the rally—called to show support for Castro's regime — was scaled down to one million by pro-government newspapers. No explanation was given.

The capital was alive with speculation over what Saturday would bring.

It ranged from predictions that Castro would declare Cuba a Socialist state, or break off diplomatic relations with the United States, to reports he once again would voice familiar charges of an American plot against his government.

He will speak after a parade of about 150,000 armed militiamen, mostly peasants, workers and students.

Arrangements for the rally represent a maximum effort by officials to drum up national support for his regime in the face of what is believed to be growing discontent.

Bus and train services were used exclusively for bringing in the crowds from the provinces. Some Cubans came on foot. All theaters, restaurants, beaches, clubs, and liquor stores will be closed.

To further encourage a good turnout and because May Day falls on a Sunday, the government declared Monday a national holiday.

Missing from the celebration will be the usual display of banners demanding higher wages for labor.

The powerful Cuban Confederation of Workers, the main organizing force behind the rally, has banned such ideas as counter-revolutionary.

Also missing will be David Salvador, once Castro's right-hand man in labor circles. A political moderate, he has been virtually ousted from the confederation's top post of secretary general by extreme leftist Jesus Soto.

Reports from Camaguey, where Salvador returned to his old job in a sugar mill, said he was suffering from a liver ailment and would be unable to participate in the rally.

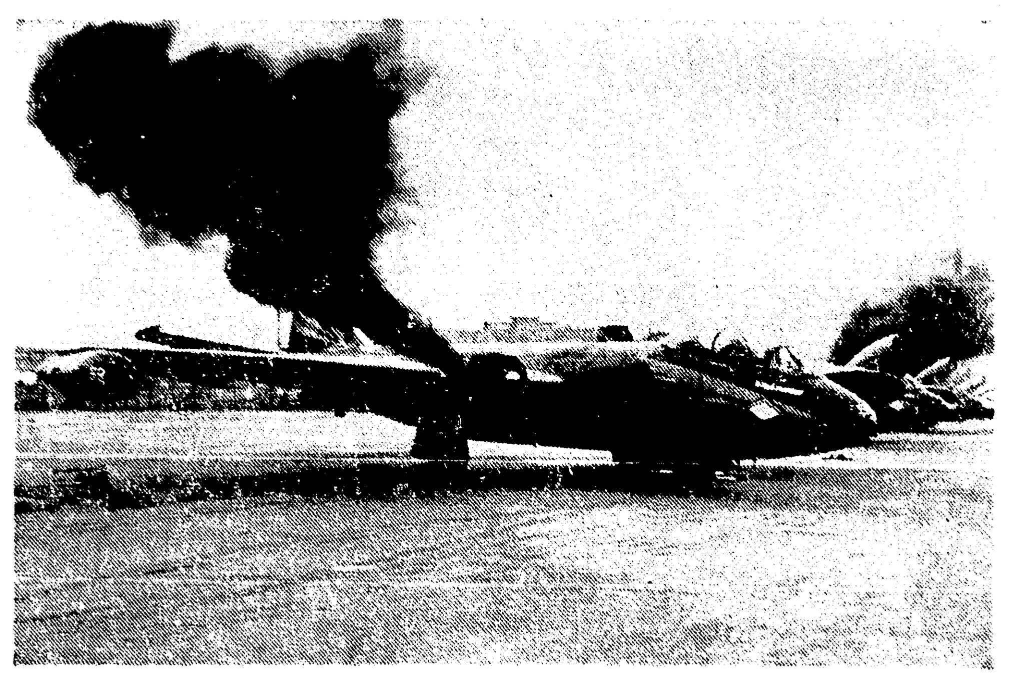
BIG KITCHENS RETURN

But, he said, it's now known as the kitchen - family room "where you can promote togetherness." She said "it provides a place for family relaxation and easy recreation."



THE B-57 pictured here arrived at Selman Field yesterday from Adams Field in Little Rock and is supplied by the Arkansas National Guard as part of the military displays to be exhibited at the big Jaycee Air Show today. The craft is powered by two jet engines and is started with a charge of gun powder as shown in the photo. The display will consist of four CAP aircraft — a Twin Engine C-45, an L-16, and two L-5's, along with several search map displays and other displays.

Capt. Fred M. Cook, Flight Surgeon and his nurse, Annie Becky Cook will be in charge of the first aid station and will render aid.

The purpose of the display is to acquaint people with the function of the Civil Air patrol, which searches for people who are lost, searches for lost aircraft and helps law enforcement agencies in emergencies.

At the present, the only active squadrons in northeast Louisiana are the Monroe and Bastrop squadrons. But the officials of the squadrons are working with wing officials to start new squadrons in Rayville, Delhi, Tallulah, Lake Providence and Winnsboro.

One of the highlights is a huge search map where the residents in Ouachita Parish and Morehouse can find their houses, every road, landmark.

Leonard Pratt is operation and training officer for the Bastrop squadron, and Maj. Edward Christiansen, from New Orleans, — Wing Liason officer — is helping with the display.

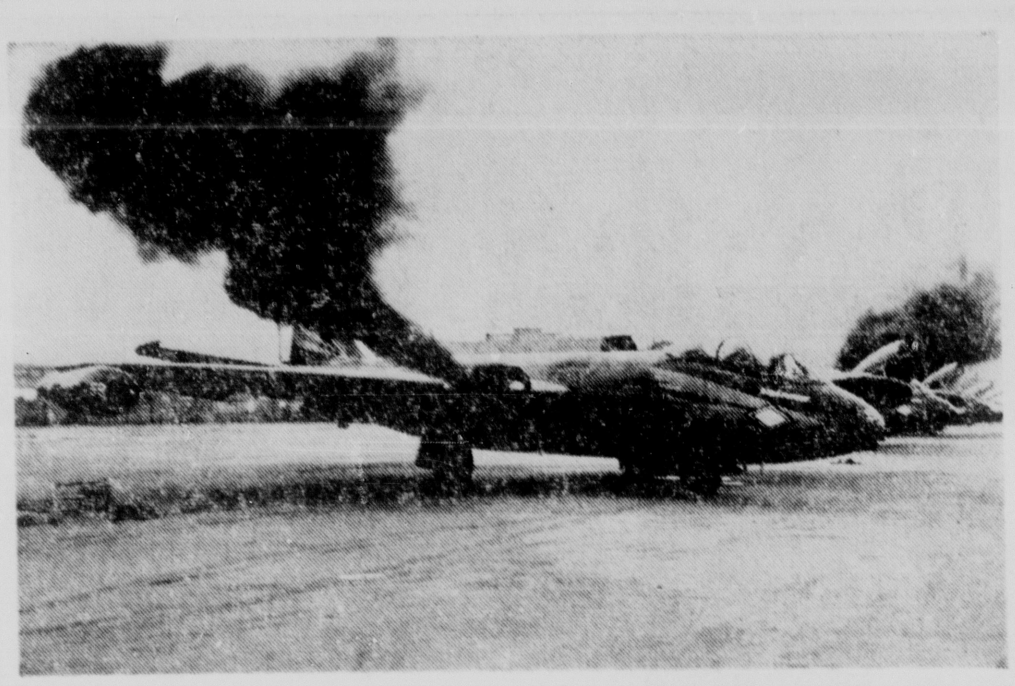
BIG KITCHENS RETURN

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI) — University of Vermont home management specialist Janet Vaughn says the big, old-fashioned kitchen is returning. But, he said, it's now known as the kitchen - family room "where you can promote togetherness." She said "it provides a place for family relaxation and easy recreation."



THE B-57 pictured here arrived at Selman Field yesterday from Adams Field in Little Rock and is supplied by the Arkansas National Guard as part of the military displays to be exhibited at the big Jaycee Air Show today. The craft is powered by two jet engines and is started with a charge of gun powder as shown in the photo. The Air Show will include parachute demonstrations by the Tri-State Sky Divers and a two hour aerial extravaganza by the Cole Brothers and will start at 1:30.

Air Show Is Slated Today By Jaycees

The Jaycee Air Show gets underway today at 1:45 p.m. when the Tri - State Sky Divers, a Shreveport parachute club, begin their jumps.

The Air Show will include the Sky Divers, the Cole Brothers Air Circus, and exhibits of various types of aircraft.

Helicopter rides will be offered until noon.

The Sky Divers will make approximately 24 parachute jumps in all, and will feature a free fall from 10,000 feet to about 1,500 feet. Another act consists of two men getting out on the wings of a plane in flight and jumping off. The group will perform from about 1:45 till 2:30 p.m.

The Cole Brothers Air Circus, which includes nine acts, features solo aerobatics, comedy, car to plane transfer, girl on the wing through a series of aerobatic maneuvers, light plane safety demonstration and others.

Proceeds of the show will go to the Jaycees youth work throughout the city.

CAP DISPLAY

The Bastrop Civil Air Patrol Squadron with the help of officials and members of the Monroe Squadron and Louisiana Wing plan to have a display and first aid station at today's show.

The display will consist of four CAP aircraft — a Twin Engine C-45 an L-16, and two L-5's, along with several search map displays and other displays.

Capt. Fred M. Cook, Flight Surgeon and his nurse (wife) Becky Cook will be in charge of the first aid station and will render aid.

The purpose of the display is to acquaint people with the function of the Civil Air patrol, which searches for people who are lost, searches for lost aircraft and helps law enforcement agencies in emergencies.

At the present, the only active squadrons in northeast Louisiana are the Monroe and Bastrop squadrons. But the officials of the squadrons are working with wing officials to start new squadrons in Rayville, Delhi, Tallulah, Lake Providence and Winnsboro.

One of the highlights is a huge search map where the residents in Ouachita Parish and Morehouse can find their houses, every road, landmark.

Leonard Pratt is operation and training officer for the Bastrop squadron, and Maj. Edward Christiansen, from New Orleans, — Wing Liason officer — is helping with the display.

Officers said that the accident occurred about two and one-half miles south of here on highway 167. The two vehicles collided headon in Wilkerson's lane of traffic. He was travelling north and Rasberry was going south.

'PUSHING PANIC BUTTON'

Humphrey Slaps At Sen. Kennedy

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) slapped back at Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) Saturday, saying Kennedy was pushing the panic button in making personal attacks on him.

"It has always seemed rather amusing to me," Humphrey told a sidewalk crowd in the lumber town of Richwood, "to see Jack (Kennedy) publicly challenge other candidates to enter the primaries, and then when someone does enter, he complains there is a conspiracy to stop him and deny him the nomination.

"Politics is a serious business, not a boy's game where you can pick up your ball and run home if things don't go according to your idea of who should win."

Kennedy accused Humphrey Friday night of having "distorted my record, attacked my integrity, and played fast and loose with smears and innuendoes."

It was his strongest statement about Humphrey since the two began campaigning for the significant May 10 West Virginia presidential primary.

No Republican presidential hopefuls are entered. No write-ins are permitted. And the state's 25 delegates to the Democratic National Convention in July are not obligated to the winner.

Kennedy was all but speechless from the campaign wear and tear on his throat, but he was out Saturday touring the industrialized Charleston area.

He had to leave most of the speaking to an aide. With Kennedy standing by, Matt Reese of Huntington, hefty executive secretary of the West Virginians for Kennedy, told 200 persons at Madison that a vote for Humphrey would be wasted because "he cannot win the nomination."

"It seems to me," Reese said, "that Hubert Humphrey, perhaps not intentionally, is fronting for other candidates."

Humphrey inserted a veiled warning to Robert F. Kennedy, the senator's brother who has come to Charleston to take personal charge of the Kennedy campaign. Saturday night Robert compared Humphrey's campaign tactics with those of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis).

"I'd suggest," Humphrey told a reporter, "that Brother Bobby examine his own conscience about innuendoes and smears. If he has trouble knowing what I mean, I can refresh his memory very easily. It is a subject he should not want opened."

Asked to elaborate, Humphrey replied firmly, "No, sir."

With the campaign focusing more and more public attention on West Virginia and the economic plight in some of its areas, Gov. Cecil H. Underwood, a Republican, was becoming increasingly more short-tempered.

He said he and the nearly two million residents of the state strongly resent the way both Kennedy and Humphrey are using West Virginia as a political arena and holding up the state to ridicule.

But Kennedy and Humphrey aren't listening. The way they're campaigning now, going into the home stretch, just about everything—and everybody—is fair game, especially Republicans.

'Red Sea' Which Became Mer Rouge

By MRS. SHELBY WHITE
Special Correspondent

When Abram Morehouse established his first settlement at Mer Rouge in 1806, an observer standing on top of Red Hill looking down into the rich, fertile delta region, admiring the luxuriant, colorful growth of sage grass, remarked, "This looks like a Red Sea. Let's call it Mer Rouge."

And so it was that this, the oldest settlement in Morehouse Parish, got its name.

Situated on the Missouri Pacific Railroad in Northeast Louisiana where five highways meet, Mer Rouges' broad main street with its whiteway and boulevard, with towering oaks bordering well planned streets, impresses the visitor.

BEAUTY

As one drives admiringly past the beautiful colonial homes set well back from the highway with and flowers, one feels the urge to spacious well kept lawns, brightened by blooming shrubs stop and revel in its beauty.

When Spain owned what is now the State of Louisiana, one of its citizens, Baron de Bastrop, obtained a contract that when he had induced settlers to the country lying north of the Ouachita River, he would acquire ownership of several leagues of land for his services.

To help in the fulfillment of this contract Baron de Bastrop enlisted the services of Abram Morehouse of Kentucky — and he induced Josiah Davenport of Providence, R.I., a sea-faring man, to join them. Capt. Davenport had at Savannah, Ga. sold his ship, "Cleopatra," to a man whose business was slaves. Payment was part cash, remainder in young Africans. Capt. Davenport went with these slaves to New Orleans looking for a market, and there met Abram Morehouse.

MONEY NEED

Morehouse needed more money than he had at his command and he needed help to pull up the Mississippi and Ouachita Rivers boats that he loaded with supplies to be carried into the section of country which lies adjacent to the town of Monroe. This was before steam had been applied to pull boats upstream. Tradition tells us these slaves pulled the boats to their destination.

Morehouse established his first settlement at Mer Rouge. The Choctaw Indians occupied the country. Bayou Barthomew and Boeuf River, running north and south, with numerous lakes and cypress brakes, supplied ample water, and game was in abundance. The Choctaws were friendly people and did not object to the coming of the white man.

Morehouse made a trip back to his Georgetown, Ky. home and brought back a number of white families who settled in Mer Rouge where Capt. Davenport had commenced to farm. When Baron de Bastrop (in 1795) obtained from Spain a grant of land, one million acres to induce white settlers, he gave publication as follows:

"Bastrop to Settlers: I will give to every family industrious and well recommended, 400 arpens of land — take where they please — six months provisions, all kinds of seed they wish to plant out, and their children (that is to say, boys) will be enregistered; and when they come of age, 400 arpens of land will be given to each of them, during this current Spring." — (Signed) Baron de Bastrop, Louisville, Ky., 15th Feb., 1797.

DEEDED

To secure the services of a man to help procure settlers the Baron deeded to Abram Morehouse 400,000 acres of the land that had been granted to him, and also borrowed money from him to help finance the venture. From this beginning Mer Rouge has grown to be one of the lovliest little towns in northeast Louisiana.

Among the early settlers were found the names Brown, Barlow, Andrews, White, Turpin, Cooper, Williams, and many others. Their descendants make up a large portion of the citizenry of this busy town.

With its rich alluvial farm lands and nearby gas fields, enabling industry to successfully operate, there is a thriving area in Morehouse parish. Two International Paper Mills, chemical and carton factories only seven miles away, afford employment to many Mer Rouge citizens.

In years prior to the Second World War, plantation owners employed hundreds of Negroes. These same plantations now are being operated by the latest in farm machinery, and very few workers are needed. The "good old days" when one was awakened by the singing of the plantation hands as they came to "the lot" at daybreak to catch their mules — are past.

We still have "the lot" and a few mules for emergency plowing, but there are more tractors than mules.

Today, former vast cotton and corn fields are largely planted to pastures, and beautiful herds of Brahmas, Charbra, Herefords and Angus cattle graze on the luxuriant forage.

Cotton is still a big money crop, with soybeans and small grain gaining in popularity.

Mer Rouge has three cotton gins and a new feed mill. Many churches administer to spiritual needs. Excellent modern brick school buildings provide educational centers for the children.

An adequate library services a large area. Many and varied establishments make up the business section. It is considered a good business town.

So — though the Mer Rouge of long ago was good, with its leisurely life and time to enjoy it — the Mer Rouge of today with its accelerated pace is better.

Each of its five highways leads to an ideal fishing spot.

For Luxury Living

New Standards Are Seen

NEW YORK (UPI) —Construction of a cooperatively owned community on the former Long Island estate of Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney may set new standards for luxury living in the United States.

A real estate development plan calls for the building of 283 "town houses" in 11 clusters on the estate's 530 acres of wooded hills and rolling meadows teeming with wild life.

Automobiles will be parked in a huge underground garage. Underground horizontal elevators, to be called "horizontilators," will deliver residents and packages to individual living units. The pastoral idyll will be completely free from surface traffic except for two access roads to the car park.

The estate, near the village of Old Westbury, will remain one of the last strongholds of an elegance affected by the blue-blooded families of bygone days on Long Island's Gold Coast.

Its wealthy residents-to-be will frolic where the Whitneys did—in a glass-roofed tennis house and on a private squash court. Two 18-hole golf courses will hug the natural contours of the terrain. Hunt courses, bridal paths, streams and ponds where America's social elite have ridden to the hounds since the turn of the century will remain. The Meadowbrook Hunt, America's oldest, will continue its rallies there. Two stables, one 450-feet long, and two manor houses, will be given over to the future colonists.

This revolutionary, cooperative plan, obviously and of necessity tailored for a well-heeled proletariat, is the brainchild of real estate investor Norman Blankman who paid two-million dollars for the Whitney estate.

But despite the plan's upper-crust beginnings, Blankman believes his concept offering a new pattern for land utilization is equally applicable for development of middle and lower income "cluster communities."

He suggests that this cooperative, land development pattern may help answer the dilemma posed by the need for providing new residences for the exploding populations of our cities without destroying the natural beauty of the adjacent rural countrysides.

Cost of buying of the cluster units in the Whitney estate community was estimated at $50,000-$60,000 plus approximately $900 in monthly administrative and maintenance fees.

Women Breadwinners In Pennsylvania Anthracite Lands

COALDALE, Pa. (AP) — "I just couldn't believe a healthy, willing guy like me couldn't get a decent job. I had to face it, though. I couldn't. So the wife went to work in a dress factory. Making me a sort of kept husband, the way I felt."

It's a onetime coal miner sounding off. He put into stark, human terms the impact of the economic shakeup which has made breadwinners of so many women in these anthracite lands of eastern Pennsylvania.

His name might be Tony, Joe, Mac or Jan. Uncomfortable in his strange role, unable to understand why his world collapsed, why he can't earn a living with strong hands, his pride prevents him from posing for pictures, or permitting use of his name.

Others have outgrown their embarrassment.

"Housework is right for the woman. It's no good for the man. But I guess we've got to do it," says Zane Kuzman, fit as ever at 47. For 18 years he dug hard coal. When bad times closed the mine he couldn't find a job. His wife Rose went to work in a garment factory. Zane started keeping house for Rose and their daughters, Bonnie, 11, and Sandy, 17.

Kuzman's story is typical of thousands in this coal country where 20 years ago more than 75,000 men worked in the mines. Now there are fewer than 18,000 —and the total shrinks every year.

Twenty years ago the garment industry employed 9,200 women in this region. Partly as the result of many community bootstrap projects designed to attract factories, today it employs more than 40,000.

Pennsylvania's coal county is believed to be the only region in America where so many families are supported by women. It's not that the miner won't work. He simply has become an economic has-been.

Why can't Kuzman, though hale and able, find a job?

"Like most of the others, I'm at the wrong age," he says. "When you go after a job and ask for an application blank, they first ask your age. When I say 47, they right away say 'Too old.' I don't even see an application blank. It's the same with the rest of the guys. After 40 you're done. I can't understand it. They just won't talk to you about a job.

"Let me tell you something else. Every man who worked in the mines knows something besides digging coal. They know some trade. They are plumbers, carpenters, pipefitters, electricians. Any of these guys could fit right in as a helper on almost any job. I hope some industry will see that here we have a ready-made labor force, willing and eager to work."

The husband and wife working team is a commonplace of American society. Here it has different twists. Even when the male has some kind of job, many a wife earns more than her husband. Some husbands are long distance commuters, returning home only for weekends. The wife works both to help with the family budget and to overcome loneliness.

In dressmaking plants mother and daughter, even grandmother and granddaughter, working side by side, equal as wage-earners. Because they have become wage-earners, the women are attaining a self-sufficiency and independence new, but not always welcome, to this part of the country.

Over the state the average earnings of women garment workers are $45 to $60 a week, mostly for piece work. This doesn't compare, of course, with what a miner could make. But women—chiefly because of the economic necessity—have flocked to the plants. In Schuylkill County, one out of every four women works in the garment industry.

Many homes have three, four, or more women breadwinners. Then the family income adds up to more than the man alone could earn.

The women of eastern Pennsylvania take their new status quite seriously, but without illusions. A sampling of what they think about playing a man's part produced this general position:

"We're not trying to wear the pants. And you couldn't exactly call us career women. When the coal slump set in somebody had to do something. We were that somebody. A lot of us would rather be home instead of in a factory. And we'd rather have our men drawing good pay and doing what real men want to do."

At home or doing the grocery shopping the housekeeping men poke a little fun at each other. But let an outsider get too flip and they'll make it plain it is no joke.

"I didn't think I could take it," recalls one ex-miner. "Not at first. I felt a guy couldn't keep his self-respect while his wife was out making the dough.

"You want to know something, though," he continued. "When I simmered down I found it was tougher on the wife here at home than she's ever had it at the plant. It's a man-sized job just looking after our two kids.

"So I guess you can say I kept my self-respect. All the same, offer me a job and see how I'll jump at it."

Case Of Boiling Radiator

By JACK VANDENBERG

DETROIT (UPI) — A boiling radiator, once a common sign of automobiles trouble, may become a desired feature on cars of the future.

Unlike the cars of the past that spouted a jet of steam when the radiator boiled, cars of the future with boiling radiators will show no visible evidence of the turmoil going on inside the engine and the radiator.

Dow Chemical Co. is working on a system of cooling a car's engine by boiling a liquid coolant until it turns to steam. The steam, a vapor, rises and goes to the radiator when it is condensed to fluid and returned to the engine.

The system is not new. Auto companies first studied the potential of this system, known as "ebullient cooling," in the 1920's. But it was discarded at that time because inadequate pressure caps and lack of special coolants made the system impractical.

The system would have to be sealed to prevent any of the steam from escaping or the coolant would boil away as it did when motorists became as overheated as their engines.

It wasn't the fact that the coolant boiled that bothered the motorist, it was just that he didn't have any coolant left after it boiled and his engine overheated.

Dow's research is aimed at developing a completely closed cooling system. There would be no need for a filler cap because the coolant would not be allowed to escape, and there would be no need to add more coolant.

Under this system, a motorist would not be able to add anti-freeze in the winter months so the cooling system would have to be constantly protected against freezing.

This is where the chemists come in. They have developed a research material, ET-373, which appears to work.

Test results to date indicate ebullient cooling offers many advantages for cars, which could make a boiling radiator an attractive feature on cars of the future.

Rights Of Children Cited

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United Nations recent "declaration of the rights of children" hold that mankind owes to the child "the best that it has to give."

The "bill of rights" for juveniles is proof that the peoples of almost all of the world, the 82 nations represented in the U.N., want the best for children everywhere.

The main point made in the document is that the child shall be given the opportunities and facilities to enable him to develop physically, mentally, morally, spiritually and socially in a healthy and normal manner—and in conditions of freedom and dignity.

The document also holds that each child is entitled to receive education, which shall be free and compulsory at least in the elementary stages.

And the education "shall promote his general culture and enable him, on a basis of equal opportunity, to develop his abilities, his individual judgment and his sense of moral and social responsibility, and to become a useful member of society."

Where health is concerned, the declaration states that the child "shall be entitled to grow up and develop in health; to this end special care and protection shall be provided both to him and to his mother including adequate prenatal and post-natal care."

And the child who is physically, mentally or socially handicapped "shall be given the special treatment, education and care required by his particular condition."

Additional rights of children cited in the U.N. document follow:

—The child, for the full and harmonious development of his personality, needs love and understanding. "He shall, wherever possible, grow up in the care and under the responsibility of his parents, and in any case in an atmosphere of affection and of moral and material security."

—The child, of tender years shall not, save in exceptional circumstances, be separated from his mother.

—Children without a family and those without an adequate means of support oblige society and the public authorities to extend particular care to them.

"—The child shall have full opportunity for play and recreation.

—The child shall be protected against all forms of neglect, cruelty and exploitation.

Landscaping Soars

NEW YORK (UPI) — The fantastic growth of backyard swimming pools has created a heavy demand for landscaping services.

Too many homeowners pay little attention to pool surroundings. Shrubs, trees and ornamental bushes are scattered about with little thought given to plant habits.

To help homeowners set up the ideal surroundings for their new private playgrounds United States Pool Corp., Newark, N.J., has devised a few basic rules of landscaping that can be easily and effectively utilized.

According to the company's landscaping engineer, the more attractive and hearty evergreens suitable for screening and high hedging around the pool are hemlock, canadensis, taxus cuspeda capitada, ilex crenata microphylla, ilex cornuta and arbovitae.

Be extra careful when selecting evergreens to be used near a pool, making sure the dropped foliage is not prickly or sharp, such as holly, juniper and strictor.

Seasonal flowering shrubs may be used for a low cost, effective summer screen, but should be planted well back from the pool because the dropping of leaves and flowers will only add to the chore of keeping the pool clean.

This also includes flowering trees. These trees, also planted well back from the pool area, are most effective for screening from second story windows or higher level property surrounding the pool.

Flowers should never be planted close to the pool because they attract bees and other insects that can be a nuisance, and spent flowers will fall into the pool on windy days. However, flowers have an important usage as background setting.

Ugly banks may be turned into beautiful rock or ledge gardens with a generous sprinkling of perennials for permanent settings, but, according to United States Pool, a liberal sprinkling of annuals should be included for color.

Most swimming pool installations require fencing, and it would be wise to brighten these screens with vine-type plants.

Rights Of Children Cited

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — The United Nations recent "declaration of the rights of children" hold that mankind owes to the child "the best that it has to give."

The "bill of rights" for juveniles is proof that the peoples of almost all of the world, the 82 nations represented in the U.N., want the best for children everywhere.

The main point made in the document is that the child shall be given the opportunities and facilities to enable him to develop physically, mentally, morally, spiritually and socially in a healthy and normal manner—and in conditions of freedom and dignity.

The document also holds that each child is entitled to receive education, which shall be free and compulsory at least in the elementary stages.

And the education "shall promote his general culture and enable him, on a basis of equal opportunity, to develop his abilities, his individual judgment and his sense of moral and social responsibility, and to become a useful member of society."

Where health is concerned, the declaration states that the child "shall be entitled to grow up and develop in health; to this end special care and protection shall be provided both to him and to his mother including adequate prenatal and post-natal care."

And the child who is physically, mentally or socially handicapped "shall be given the special treatment, education and care required by his particular condition."

Additional rights of children cited in the U.N. document follow:

—The child, for the full and harmonious development of his personality, needs love and understanding. "He shall, wherever possible, grow up in the care and under the responsibility of his parents, and in any case in an atmosphere of affection and of moral and material security."

—The child, of tender years shall not, save in exceptional circumstances, be separated from his mother.

—Children without a family and those without an adequate means of support oblige society and the public authorities to extend particular care to them.

"—The child shall have full opportunity for play and recreation.

—The child shall be protected against all forms of neglect, cruelty and exploitation.

Landscaping Soars

NEW YORK (UPI) — The fantastic growth of backyard swimming pools has created a heavy demand for landscaping services.

Too many homeowners pay little attention to pool surroundings. Shrubs, trees and ornamental bushes are scattered about with little thought given to plant habits.

To help homeowners set up the ideal surroundings for their new private playgrounds United States Pool Corp., Newark, N.J., has devised a few basic rules of landscaping that can be easily and effectively utilized.

According to the company's landscaping engineer, the more attractive and hearty evergreens suitable for screening and high hedging around the pool are hemlock, canadensis, taxus cuspeda capitada, ilex crenata microphylla, ilex cornuta and arbovitae.

Be extra careful when selecting evergreens to be used near a pool, making sure the dropped foliage is not prickly or sharp, such as holly, juniper and strictor.

Seasonal flowering shrubs may be used for a low cost, effective summer screen, but should be planted well back from the pool because the dropping of leaves and flowers will only add to the chore of keeping the pool clean.

This also includes flowering trees. These trees, also planted well back from the pool area, are most effective for screening from second story windows or higher level property surrounding the pool.

Flowers should never be planted close to the pool because they attract bees and other insects that can be a nuisance, and spent flowers will fall into the pool on windy days. However, flowers have an important usage as background setting.

Ugly banks may be turned into beautiful rock or ledge gardens with a generous sprinkling of perennials for permanent settings, but, according to United States Pool, a liberal sprinkling of annuals should be included for color.

Most swimming pool installations require fencing, and it would be wise to brighten these screens with vine-type plants.

'The Dishonor Roll'

Recent insurance company figures show that since the advent of the automobile, a little more than 50 years ago, more than 62,000,000 men, women and children have been killed or injured on our highways. More Americans have died on our highways than in all the wars this country has fought.

We get some idea of the enormity of these figures when we consider that the total population of this country is somewhere in the neighborhood of 176,000,000 and that those killed and injured in auto crashes total more than one-third of this number.

In 1959 there were 900 more deaths and 50,000 more injuries on United States highways than occurred in 1958, the insurance figures showed. In 1959, fatalities climbed to 37,600 and more than 2,870,000 were injured.

More than 85 per cent of the 37,600 deaths [illegible] was blamed on human error. More than 85 [illegible] safety news stories and editorials this newspaper and hundreds of others across the country printed during the year.

Inattention and carelessness are overwhelming factors which figure in 85 per cent of our death crashes. A lapse of attention to the road ahead, a heavy foot on the gas pedal, an unnecessary gamble to save a few seconds [illegible] those who have erred once too often.

By far the biggest single cause of accidents resulting in death or injury was speed. More than [illegible] per cent of the deaths and [illegible] per cent of the injuries were blamed on speed.

Although [illegible] 14 per cent of the driving population, drivers under 25 years of age [illegible] 25 per cent of the fatal accidents. There were 13,140 drivers under 25 involved in fatal accidents during 1959 and of this number only 2,010 were under 18, indicating that those under 18 are about as safe as those over 18 and under 25. This does not make much of an argument for those wanting to raise the age for licensing drivers, as we could hardly deny a man the right to drive until he was 25 years old. Girls and young women drivers seem to be about as safe as older women and in many states the young women are exempted from the insurance penalty placed on men under 25.

It is significant that the young man driver is most dangerous at the time he makes the best soldier — from the time he is licensed until he is about 25. That is the age at which men ordinarily make the most daring soldiers.

It is apparent that, despite the [illegible] lists, the courtroom scenes, the newspaper headlines and the spotlight of publicity, we continue to ignore this great and needless waste of human resources and material values.

We shake our heads in sorrow over relatives or friends listed, children killed, lives blighted. Then, as in 1959, we add 37,600 men, women and children killed and 2,870,000 injured, maimed and disfigured on an ever-increasing toll of [illegible].

None of us [illegible] killed and injured [illegible] "The Dishonor Roll" [illegible] some of these tragedies were due to the fault of others. Yet, we must do our utmost to escape "The Dishonor Roll."

Only through an awareness of the terrible power of the modern [illegible] desire of each of us to keep our automobile and only through the [illegible] names from the pages of "The Dishonor Roll" will we begin to lower the deadly toll and to make our highways safe avenues of commerce and pleasure for all.

Wise Money-Spending

In a [illegible] conference in which he commented briefly on a dozen-odd domestic problems, President Eisenhower said he saw no reason why the United States economy would go into a tailspin if world disarmament should be realized.

The president said money now spent on "sterile" munitions could be spent on such projects as school and road construction.

Apparently there was good logic in what the president said, although some might differ on how the money should be spent.

President Eisenhower did not explain what he meant by "sterile" munitions but it was evident he meant something non-productive. We regard munitions as an absolute requirement for this country's defense, yet we know that, within themselves, the weapons of war will produce nothing we don't already have. Therefore, if disarmament should be achieved, we could spend money in other ways much more profitably.

Even in the handling of personal funds people differ greatly in how they want to spend their money. Some people say, "I feel I am wasting my money if I don't have anything to show for it after I've spent it." Perversely, some say, "If I have anything to show for my money after I've spent it, I feel I haven't got my money's worth because I haven't had any fun.

When we spend United States money on weapons we don't have anything to show for it except a few obselete machines some years later, although those munitions may have been a means of preventing war.

Not many of us are optimistic that world disarmament will be achieved and some are afraid that if it were we would face another depression, but, in reality, we will attain our greatest prosperity in times of peace because then we can spend our money on things that are productive and valuable within themselves. It is almost impossible to imagine the tremendous advancement that could be made along many lines, including highway construction, water conservation and control, education, scientific achievements, climate control and interplanetary and space exploration, if we could spend on these things the money we are now spending for war implements and often wasteful assistance to other countries.

Sylvia Porter, outstanding economics columnist, has pointed out that, despite some drastic slumps in the stock market, business and industry are making big plans for construction and expansion during the next three years. Instead of becoming skeptical and slackening off in their calculations, business and industrial leaders are moving along with preparations to take care of a constantly expanding and growing economy. They are moving confidently ahead, knowing that people will constantly demand more and more goods.

If disarmament were to become an actuality, if spending were directed into more reproductive channels and if the people's confidence were to be maintained at the present high levels, the advancements we could achieve in the next quarter of a century would make those of the last half-century look small.

With proper planning and confidence, there would be no need for wars and rumors of war to maintain our prosperity and high standard of living. The more we can show for the money we spend, culturally, intellectually, spiritually, constructively and exploratively, the faster civilization will advance.

Democratic Majorities

Republicans Have Even Chance To Retain Presidency But Little To Gain Control Of Congress

The Republicans appear to have an even chance to retain the Presidency in the November elections, but nothing except a political miracle could get them back control of Congress.

The Democratic majorities of [illegible] in the Senate and [illegible] in the House of Representatives are so great that even the most optimistic GOP party leaders hardly dare hope they can wrest back control of either House.

In fact, Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona, chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign committee, has publicly acknowledged that it will be mathematically impossible to win the Senate this year.

* * *

An overwhelming landslide victory by the Republican Presidential ticket, which seems very unlikely at this point, could conceivably switch control of the House. A change in the party membership large enough to offset the switch has happened several times since the two party system in the United States developed, but there were tremendous political factors involved which are not apparent this year.

On the other hand, Democratic party leaders have no illusions that they can increase their margins. In fact, their political strategy with respect to the Congressional campaign will be to hold as many of their present seats as possible.

* * *

In this endeavor, they have their best chance in the Senate, where only thirty-three seats will be at stake. While twenty-two of them are presently Democratic, twelve of them are in the South and Southwest and are not even considered targets by the GOP.

Of the other ten, Goldwater believes the Republicans have the best chance of capturing Democratic seats in Oregon, where popular Senator Newberger recently died; Rhode Island, where 92-year-old Senator Green is retiring; Wyoming, Montana, Michigan and Illinois.

Other states in which Republican candidates will wage battles for Democratic seats, but where the prospects are less, are Alaska, Delaware, Minnesota and West Virginia.

Democratic party leaders have Colorado, North Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas, all heavy agricultural states. They feel that the discontent among the farmers over low prices and high costs will tend to benefit them. Privately, however, most of them would settle for a stand-off.

* * *

If modern political experience means anything, there should be a Republican swing back in the House, even though inadequate to give the party control. In only two of the biennial elections since 1926 were there virtual stalemates. In both instances, 1940 and 1956, popularity of the winning Presidential candidates — Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dwight D. Eisenhower — apparently contributed to this situation.

In all the others, which ever party had picked up a sizable number of seats in the previous election lost some of them, at least, two years later.

Leaders in both parties will concentrate their campaign work in the so-called doubtful districts — those in which the winner in 1958 won by a margin of five per cent or less. It is usually accepted that where the margins are greater, it is rather futile to spend much money or time. This rule of thumb, of course, means exclusion of most of the southern districts, as well as many of those in the large cities.

Using this formula, there are 105 Congressional seats where the major fights will be waged. Of this number, sixty-three are now held by Republicans and forty-two by Democrats.

Good In Little

Most Of Us Get Greatest Satisfaction In Small Things

NEW YORK (AP)—It's the little things that stand out in a life.

The scientists may invent atom bombs and moon rockets, and the statesmen crap-shoot for the world at summit meetings. Rebellions may arise and earthquakes come and go. Your average man is more likely to remember the day they came out with a new kind of beer bottle cap.

* * *

The big glories and big disasters find a page in human history. But it is the small glory, the little disaster, that write the history of the individual human heart.

Our memory—which is our life—is a summary of unforgettable personal moments which had no impact on the world at large but which changed us forever. Add these moments up and what do you have? yourself.

One man's mental album, for example, might contain such landmark moments as:

Stubbing your toe as a barefoot child and reaching the philosophic conclusion, in the midst of excruciating pain, that you could not be physically immortal, or you wouldn't hurt so.

Staring at yourself in the mirror as a small boy until your mind reeled at the mystery, "Who am I? What am I?"

* * *

The thrill of pride when you finally learned to whistle through your front teeth. Later, after you got your upper plate, you had the problem of learning how not to whistle.

The thrill of pride when you saved up enough money to buy your first pair of long pants and felt at last you were a man.

The thrill, 40 years later, when you put on your first pair of Bermuda shorts, of feeling almost like a boy again.

The pleasant discovery, the day your Boy Scout outfit arrived, that the girls really do go for a guy in uniform.

The later discovery that while women enjoy being put on a pedestal before marriage, after marriage they'd rather sit down, take their shoes off, and rest their feet.

The day you first noticed your mother was getting gray hair, and the day the barber confided your own hair was getting a bit thin on the top.

The proud hour when your father said, "Why, son, when I was your age I wasn't earning half that much money."

Holding the baby on your shoulder, patting it on the bottom, and getting a loud clear burp.

The day when, in a time of blowing bulges, the U. S. president sent you a missive saying, "Greetings."

The day, years later, when you tried to put on your old uniform and found Uncle Sam hadn't made the pants too long but that they no longer would go around your waist.

Going to the funeral of a loved one and knowing death at last had broken the magic of a closed family circle.

* * *

Turning the key in the front door of the first home you and your friendly neighborhood banker ever owned together.

Going to the grocery store with a $10 bill and returning for the first without any change.

Being tapped for membership by the P-T.A. and getting your first committee assignment — to help find a way to get the school some new lockers.

Realizing for the first time that instead of going up stairs two at a time, you now paused and looked around for an escalator.

Being told by the doctor it was now time to start counting things you'd never before counted—cigarettes, cocktails, and calories.

* * *

Looking at yourself in the mirror and having an eerie feeling the face you saw resembled more the face of your father as you remembered him than your own face. And the silent asking of yourself, as you had long years before as a boy: "Who am I? What am I?"

And what are the landmark moments in your own mental album that make you what you are?

STUDENTS ON PROBATION

CLEVELAND (AP) — As the result of poor grades, John Carroll University placed a record 1,697 students — nearly 20 per cent of the entire student body—on probation.

New academic standards were announced last fall, "but the boys may not have been fully aware of their significance," the Rev. Joseph F. Downey, dean of Arts and Sciences, explained, adding:

"It appears that the students got caught somewhat by surprise."

New Factories

American Industry Off To New Record Of Progress Spending

The most encouraging news to come out on the American economy so far in 1960 was released today in the form of an authoritative survey disclosing that American industry is now off on a record program of spending for modernization of its plants, research into new products, making of the new things — and already plans are set to keep the spending at a high level right through 1963.

* * *

In plain words, these revelations in the 13th annual McGraw-Hill survey of business' plans mean that:

(1) American businessmen have not cut back one penny on their plans to spend on new factories and equipment as a result of the stock market decline, the failure of the economy to live up to the exuberant first-of-the-year forecasts. The McGraw-Hill survey was made in late March-early April, when sentiment was at a low point. In the face of this, it shows spending plans at the highest level reported to date.

(2) All over the country this year and during the next three years, U. S. corporations will be pouring billions of dollars into a drive to make their factories more efficient. Modernization of plants, not the simple building of additional plants, is the key aim of American business now. As businessmen increase their efficiency they will be able to turn out more goods at lower prices, compete more aggressively around the world — even as they continue to raise the pay of U.S. workers, maintain their profits.

(3) From coast to coast corporations also will be stepping up spending on research to create new products and new processes which will attract you as an individual or business customer and armies of buyers in markets outside our borders. Whole new industries may be created in coming years by research going on this minute.

(4) The total of the spending on plants and equipment is in itself large enough to be a significant prop under our entire economy. As the billions are spent in 1960, they'll make jobs, support paychecks. The size of this spending distinctly lessens the threat of a recession in these months.

(5) At the same time, the spending will not greatly expand our industry's capacity to produce. The emphasis on efficiency rather than volume of plants lessens the danger that we'll develop so much capacity to produce that factories will be standing idle even in cycles of good business.

* * *

So important is this annual McGraw-Hill survey considered that when rumors of its results spread through Washington this week, every economist I checked was obviously relieved, heartened. This survey is not a forecast. It is a report of what large companies employing more than 50 per cent of all the workers in their industries actually planned to spend a few weeks ago. To give you a few figures:

Business investment in new plants and equipment in 1960 is slated to hit an all-time peak of $37.9 billion, up 16 per cent over 1959, comparing with a 10 per cent rise indicated by the preliminary checkup last fall and a 14 per cent rise projected by a government survey in mid-March.

* * *

Even at this early date businessmen expect to spend more in each of the next three years than they spent in 1959. This is exceedingly preliminary, and, as Dr. Dexter M. Keezer, chief of McGraw-Hill's Dept. of Economics points out, all the odds are the 1961-63 spending has been underestimated, will be revised upward as the years approach.

Of the 1960 total almost $10 billion, or about two-thirds of the spending planned by manufacturers, will be for modernization. Manufacturing capacity is to be raised only 5 per cent this year.

Spending for research is to hit $9.5 billion this year, $10.7 billion a year by 1963 — all-time records, of course.

Good news? You bet it's good news. Moreover, spending for research is at the heart of the good news. Monday I'll report on what this research spending means to

Religious Issue

Candidates Trying To Shrug It Off; People Will Decide

WASHINGTON, D. C. — It wouldn't appear from anything they recently said that Candidates Nixon and Kennedy understand what the religious issue of 1960 is all about. Speaking last week before the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the two poll-leading aspirants hit these odd attitudes.

* * *

Oh, platitude, thy name is Nixon. The Vice President, without a trace of shame before a roomful of editors, reached for a hip-pocket swing of Old Sloganeer. Religion, he said, "will be an issue exactly to the extent that the candidates and those who support them continue to make it an issue."

While this may be acceptable sing-song campaign oratory, it is skin-deep thinking. What candidates have made religion an issue? Nixon talking about Kennedy, about Humphrey, about Symington, about Johnson, about Rockefeller, about himself? The only candidate-supporter who comes within shouting distance of the Nixon indictment is Senator Robert Byrd (D., W. Va.). Surely Byrd is not personally responsible for the nation-wide interest in this subject.

* * *

No, religion is a people's issue. There is hardly a home in the USA where people don't have strong feelings about their own church. This often regrettably means feelings against other churches, but people are like that. It would surprise me if Americans didn't care more deeply about their community place of worship than about their Congressman and his party.

The Vice President apparently felt that one good banality deserves another. Religion, he added, could be a legitimate issue only "if one of the candidates for the Presidency had no religious belief." But if Nixon were trying to demonstrate his tolerance and intellectual liberalism, he should have said something else. Surely freedom in this case means the right to believe anything — or nothing — about God.

* * *

The three most famous nonbelievers in our history may be Tom Paine, Clarence Darrow and H. L. Mencken — one a great friend of the American Revolution, the second a compassionate friend of the underdog, the third a fierce enemy of buncombe and an ardent lover of truth. Religious tolerance, as envisioned by Jefferson, himself a bit of a skeptic, should provide equal protection — no more, no less — to the agnostic, the Catholic and the Holy Roller. But the Vice President, speaking to a literate, intelligent group, gave out with hokum — and, what's worse, seemed to get away with it.

Oh, wrap me in the Flag and Constitution: Senator Jack Kennedy wowed the editors by using blames-giving of a more forthright nature than Nixon's. Kennedy chided the nation's press for raising the issue, which, he says, is not an issue, anyhow. This is not a new approach. Minnesota Governor Orville Freeman, manager of Kennedy's chief primary rival, Senator Hubert Humphrey, told some of us much the same thing after the Wisconsin primary. He seemed to think that if the press would just look the other way, there would be no religious issue in these elections. But Kennedy, Freeman and Humphrey are all intelligent men. They ought to know that prejudice is as immutable a law as gravitation. A candidate, like an aircraft, has to rise above it if he's to get anywhere.

* * *

Kennedy's vigor and headlong will-to-win are the elements which could lift him. These fighting qualities are gaining him a deferred opportunity to mount on high. "You could feel the adrenaline running . . . I see now how he swam five miles in the Pacific with a broken back!" These were some of the comments of his listeners at the ASNE Convention address. Jack Kennedy is still suffering from the earlier-drawn image of the youthful hair-shock and (particularly in West Virginia) from the prejudicial (and unavoidable) contrast of rich boy vs. poor boy in his contest with Humphrey. But Jack is no "boy" — he is a hard, high-strung, ambitious, able and determined man who is out to prove himself a statesman.

* * *

While not exactly pulling "I hold in my hand" techniques, Kennedy is using both the Stars and Stripes and the Constitution to smother the religious issue. It's no compliment to democracy when he asks his audience to agree with him that military service is a qualification for the Presidency, or that the Constitution gave him any "right" to their votes.

Democratic Majorities

Republicans Have Even Chance To Retain Presidency But Little To Gain Control Of Congress

The Republicans appear to have an even chance to retain the Presidency in the November elections, but nothing except a policital miracle could get them back control of Congress.

* * *

The Democratic majorities of thirty in the Senate and one hundred and twenty - seven in the House of Representatives are so great that even the most optimistic GOP party leaders frankly doubt that they can wrest back control of either House.

In fact, Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona, chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign committee, has publicily acknowledged that it will be mathematically impossible to win the Senate this year.

* * *

An overwhelming landslide victory by the Republican Presidential ticket, which seems very unlikely at this point, could conceivably switch control of the House. A change in the party membership large enough to offset the switch has happened several times since the two party system in the United States developed, but there were tremendous political factors involved which are not apparent this year.

On the other hand, Democratic party leaders have no illusions that they can increase their margins. In fact, their political strategy with respect to the Congressional campaign will be to hold as many of their present seats as possible.

* * *

In this endeavor, they have their best chance in the Senate, where only thirty - three seats will be at stake. While twenty - two of them are presently Democratic, twelve of them are in the South and Southwest and are not even considered targets by the GOP.

Of the other ten, Goldwater believes the Republicans have the best chance of capturing Democratic seats in Oregon, where popular Senator Newberger recently died; Rhode Island, where 92-year-old Senator Green is retiring; Wyoming, Montana, Michigan and Illinois.

Other states in which Republican candidates will wage battles for Democratic seats, but where the prospects are less, are Alaska, Delaware, Minnesota and West Virginia.

Democratic party leaders have Colorado, North Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa and Kansas, all heavy agricultural states. They feel that the discontent among the farmers over low prices and high costs will tend to benefit them. Privately, however, most of them would settle for a stand - off.

* * *

If modern political experience means anything, there should be a Republican swing back in the House, even though inadequate to give the party control. In only two of the biennial elections since 1926 were there virtual stale - mates. In both instances, 1940 and 1956, popularity of the winning Presidential candidates — Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dwight D. Eisenhower — apparently contributed to this situation.

In all the others, which ever party had picked up a sizable number of seats in the previous election lost some of them, at least, two years later.

Leaders in both parties will concentrate their campaign work in the so-called doubtful districts — those in which the winner in 1958 won by a margin of five per cent or less. It is usually accepted that where the margins are greater, it is rather futile to spend much money or time, This rule of thumb, of course, means exclusion of most of the southern districts, as well as many of those in the large cities.

Using this formula, there are 105 Congressional seats where the major fights will be waged. Of this number, sixty - three are now held by Republicans and forty - two by Democrats.

Good In Little

Most Of Us Get Greatest Satisfaction In Small Things

NEW YORK (AP)—It's the little things that stand out in a life.

The scientists may invent atom bombs and moon rockets, and the statesmen crap-shoot for the world at summit meetings. Rebellions may arise and earthquakes come and go. Your average man is more likely to remember the day they came out with a new kind of beer bottle cap.

* * *

The big glories and big disasters find a page in human history. But it is the small glory, the little disaster, that write the history of the individual human heart.

Our memory—which is our life—is a summary of unforgettable personal moments which had no impact on the world at large but which changed us forever. Add these moments up and what do you have? yourself.

One man's mental album, for example, might contain such landmark moments as:

Stubbing your toe as a barefoot child and reaching the philosophic conclusion, in the midst of excruciating pain, that you could not be physically immortal, or you wouldn't hurt so.

Staring at yourself in the mirror as a small boy until your mind reeled at the mystery, "Who am I? What am I?"

* * *

The thrill of pride when you finally learned to whistle through your front teeth. Later, after you got your upper plate, you had the problem of learning how not to whistle.

The thrill of pride when you saved up enough money to buy your first pair of long pants and felt at last you were a man.

The thrill, 40 years later, when you put on your first pair of Bermuda shorts, of feeling almost like a boy again.

The pleasant discovery, the day your Boy Scout outfit arrived, that the girls really do go for a guy in uniform.

The later discovery that while women enjoy being put on a pedestal before marriage, after marriage they'd rather sit down, take their shoes off, and rest their feet.

The day you first noticed your mother was getting gray hair, and the day the barber confided your own hair was getting a bit thin on the top.

The proud hour when your father said, "Why, son, when I was your age I wasn't earning half that much money."

Holding the baby on your shoulder, patting it on the bottom, and getting a loud clear burp.

The day when, in a time of blowing bulges, the U. S. president sent you a missive saying, "Greetings."

The day, years later, when you tried to put on your old uniform and found Uncle Sam hadn't made the pants too long but that they no longer would go around your waist.

Going to the funeral of a loved one and knowing death at last had broken the magic of a closed family circle.

* * *

Turning the key in the front door of the first home you and your friendly neighborhood banker ever owned together.

Going to the grocery store with a $10 bill and returning for the first without any change.

Being tapped for membership by the P-T.A. and getting your first committee assignment — to help find a way to get the school some new lockers.

Realizing for the first time that instead of going up stairs two at a time, you now paused and looked around for an escalator.

Being told by the doctor it was now time to start counting things you'd never before counted—cigarettes, cocktails, and calories.

* * *

Looking at yourself in the mirror and having an eerie feeling the face you saw resembled more the face of your father as you remembered him than your own face. And the silent asking of yourself, as you had long years before as a boy: "Who am I? What am I?"

And what are the landmark moments in your own mental album that make you what you are?

STUDENTS ON PROBATION

CLEVELAND (AP) — As the result of poor grades, John Carroll University placed a record 1,697 students — nearly 20 per cent of the entire student body—on probation.

New academic standards were announced last fall, "but the boys may not have been fully aware of their significance," the Rev. Joseph F. Downey, dean of Arts and Sciences, explained, adding:

"It appears that the students got caught somewhat by surprise."

New Factories

American Industry Off To New Record Of Progress Spending

The most encouraging news to come out on the American economy so far in 1960 was released today in the form of an authoritative survey disclosing that American industry is now off on a record program of spending for modernization of its plants, research into new products, making of the new things — and already plans are set to keep the spending at a high level right through 1963.

* * *

In plain words, these revelations in the 13th annual McGraw-Hill survey of business' plans mean that:

(1) American businessmen have not cut back one penny on their plans to spend on new factories and equipment as a result of the stock market decline, the failure of the economy to live up to the exuberant first-of-the-year forecasts. The McGraw-Hill survey was made in late March-early April, when sentiment was at a low point. In the face of this, it shows spending plans at the highest level reported to date.

(2) All over the country this year and during the next three years, U. S. corporations will be pouring billions of dollars into a drive to make their factories more efficient. Modernization of plants, not the simple building of additional plants, is the key aim of American business now. As businessmen increase their efficiency they will be able to turn out more goods at lower prices, compete more aggressively around the world — even as they continue to raise the pay of U.S. workers, maintain their profits.

* * *

(3) From coast to coast corporations also will be stepping up spending on research to create new products and new processes which will attract you as an individual or business customer and armies of buyers in markets outside our borders. Whole new industries may be created in coming years by research going on this minute.

(4) The total of the spending on plants and equipment is in itself large enough to be a significant prop under our entire economy. As the billions are spent in 1960, they'll make jobs, support paychecks. The size of this spending distinctly lessens the threat of a recession in these months.

(5) At the same time, the spending will not greatly expand our industry's capacity to produce. The emphasis on efficiency rather than volume of plants lessens the danger that we'll develop so much capacity to produce that factories will be standing idle even in cycles of good business.

* * *

So important is this annual McGraw - Hill survey considered that when rumors of its results spread through Washington this week, every economist I checked was obviously relieved, heartened. This survey is not a forecast. It is a report of what large companies employing more than 50 per cent of all the workers in their industries actually planned to spend a few weeks ago. To gvie you a few figures:

Business investment in new plants and equipment in 1960 is slated to hit an all-time peak of $37.9 billion, up 16 per cent over 1959, comparing with a 10 per cent rise indicated by the preliminary checkup last fall and a 14 per cent rise projected by a government survey in mid-March.

* * *

Even at this early date businessmen except to spend more in each of the next three years than they spent in 1959. This is exceedingly preliminary, and, as Dr. Dexter M. Keezer, chief of McGraw-Hill's Dept. of Economics points out, all the odds are the 1961-63 spending has been underestimated, will be revised upward as the years approach.

Of the 1960 total almost $10 billion, or about two-thirds of the spending planned by manufacturers, will be for modernization. Manufacturing capacity is to be raised only 5 per cent this year.

Spending for research is to hit $9.5 billion this year, $10.7 billion a year by 1963 — all-time records, of course.

Good news? You bet it's good news. Moreover, spending for research is at the heart of the good news. Monday I'll report on what this research spending means to us.

Religious Issue

Candidates Trying To Shrug It Off; People Will Decide

WASHINGTON, D. C. — It wouldn't appear from anything they recently said that Candidates Nixon and Kennedy understand what the religious issue of 1960 is all about. Speaking last week before the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the two poll-leading aspirants hit these odd attitudes:

* * *

Oh, platitude, thy name is Nixon: The Vice President, without a trace of shame before a roomful of editors, reached for a hip-pocket swing of Old Sloganeer. Religion, he said, "will be an issue exactly to the extent that the candidates and those who support them continue to make it an issue."

While this may be acceptable sing-song campaign oratory, it is skin-deep thinking. What candidates have made religion an issue? Nixon talking about Kennedy, about Humphrey, about Symington, about Johnson, about Rockefeller, about himself? The only candidate-supporter who comes within shouting distance of the Nixon indictment is Senator Robert Byrd (D., W. Va.). Surely Byrd is not personally responsible for the nation-wide interest in this subject.

* * *

No, religion is a people's issue. There is hardly a home in the USA where people don't have strong feelings about their own church. This often regrettably means feelings against other churches, but people are like that. It would surprise me if Americans didn't care more deeply about their community place of worship than about their Congressman and his party.

The Vice President apparently felt that one good banality deserves another. Religion, he added, could be a legitimate issue only "if one of the candidates for the Presidency had no religious belief." But if Nixon were trying to demonstrate his tolerance and intellectual liberalism, he should have said something else. Surely freedom in this case means the right to believe anything — or nothing — about God.

* * *

The three most famous nonbelievers in our history may be Tom Paine, Clarence Darrow and H. L. Mencken — one a great friend of the American Revolution, the second a compassionate friend of the underdog, the third a fierce enemy of buncombe and an ardent lover of truth. Religious tolerance, as envisioned by Jefferson, himself a bit of a skeptic, should provide equal protection — no more, no less — to the agnostic, the Catholic and the Holy Roller. But the Vice President, speaking to a literate, intelligent group, gave out with hokum — and, what's worse, seemed to get away with it.

Oh, wrap me in the Flag and Constitution: Senator Jack Kennedy wowed the editors by using blames-giving of a more forthright nature than Nixon's. Kennedy chided the nation's press for raising the issue, which, he says, is not an issue, anyhow. This is not a new approach. Minnesota Governor Orville Freeman, manager of Kennedy's chief primary rival, Senator Hubert Humphrey, told some of us much the same thing after the Wisconsin primary. He seemed to think that if the press would just look the other way, there would be no religious issue in these elections. But Kennedy, Freeman and Humphrey are all intelligent men. They ought to know that prejudice is as immutable a law as gravitation. A candidate, like an aircraft, has to rise above it if he's to get anywhere.

* * *

Kennedy's vigor and headlong will - to - win are the elements which could lift him. These fighting qualities are gaining him a deferred opportunity to mount on high. "You could feel the adrenaline running . . . I see now how he swam five miles in the Pacific with a broken back!" These were some of the comments of his listeners at the ASNE Convention address. Jack Kennedy is still suffering from the earlier-drawn image of the youthful hair-shock and (particularly in West Virginia) from the prejudicial (and unavoidable) contrast of rich boy vs. poor boy in his contest with Humphrey. But Jack is no "boy". — he is a hard, high-strung, ambitious, able and determined man who is out to prove himself a statesman.

* * *

While not exactly pulling "I hold in my hand" techniques, Kennedy is using both the Stars and Stripes and the Constitution to smother the religious issue. It's no compliment to democracy when he asks his audience to agree with him that military service is a qualification for the Presidency, or that the Constitution gave him any "right" to their votes.

American Operas

Up-And-Down Reception

NEW YORK (AP) — "Yes, Gwendolyn, there really is an American opera," The State Journal, Lansing, Mich., exulted after seeing recent performances by the touring New York City Opera with its repertory of four home grown works.

That was the staunch opinion, too, of Julius Rudel, and on the basis of it he managed to get these, among others, performed here with Ford Foundation help; and with Ford again rallying generously to his support, took them on the road to 20 cities. City opera director Rudel's opinion hasn't changed a bit in spite of an uneven picture of the tour's accomplishments.

"Audiences were almost belligerently favorable," he declared.

He regretted to report three tough handicaps:

"We had to combat the fact that the operas were not known. Then we were up against the fact that they are American, and Americans haven't the habit of thinking fellow Americans can write opera. Finally, many potential patrons must have said to themselves, if we're going to see opera, why go to anything but the master works, why spend money on operas that are confessedly not the world's best?"

FAVORABLE

"Even so," he went on, and offered a thick envelope of clippings and correspondence to prove it, "though audiences could be small, and critics critical, we had some most favorable reactions.

"The total press score was nine critics against, 16 undecided, 48 in favor."

The Bushnell Hall management in Hartford, Conn., summed up: "Financial situation disappointing" but "a real cultural and educational service to the community."

At Indiana University, the story was "scanty audience in iron suspense." In Boston despite the "bleak sight of row upon row of empty seats" in Symphony Hall, Jules Wolffers of the Boston Herald declared Carlisle Floyd's "Susannah" was a work that "comes close to greatness."

Out in Chicago the same work was lambasted. Don Henahan of the Chicago Daily News reported that it "proves no work of art can be pieced together out of odds and ends." Roger Dettmer of the Chicago American declared bitingly that there was nothing wrong with "Susannah" except that it needed a libretto, music and a stage manager. Claudia Cassidy of the Chicago Tribune was unfriendly.

POINT OF TOUR

Washington was the only other city, Rudel recalled, where the press was hostile. Paul Hume of the Washington Post read the libretto ahead of time and decided nothing could save it unless the music did, Rudel said; then heard the music and decided it saved nothing. Hume liked Douglas Moore's "The Ballad of Baby Doe" but asked why any management could "confine any operatic venture to just American operas."

That was, of course, the point of the tour: To present American operas to American opera - goers. These works won high critical approval in New York, so what would the public in other cities think? In Chicago despite the criticism, the attendance was nearly 90 per cent capacity for three shows. In Philadelphia and Baltimore it was not encouraging: in university towns it was good.

"The ground was broken," said Rudel affirmatively.

"Surely we could have done better with 'Aida,' " he went on. "But we didn't have to tour to learn that. On the other hand, second - best foreign operas might not have drawn any better than these four native works. Robert C. Marsh of the Chicago Sun-Times pointed out that audiences would have been just as small, and could have been a good deal less enthusiastic, if they had been asked to buy tickets to 'Oberto,' or 'Le Villi,' or 'Die Feen,' which are, respectively, the first works of Verdi, Puccini and Wagner.

"And there was another good word for us out of Chicago, where Robert Pollak of the Hyde Park Herald wrote that the company got an undeserved flailing."

"Baby Doe" and "Susannah" won Music Critics Circle annual awards here; and Hugo Weisgall's "Six Characters in Search of an Author" and Weill's "Street Scene," the four touring numbers, they aroused the almost unanimous praise of the New York press. They will continue to as long as Rudel keeps them in his repertory here.

"THE BEST OF PETER GUNN." Music composed by Henry Mancini and orchestra directed by Ray Ellis MGM Records E3813 (LP), SE3813 (stereo). One of the more salient reasons for the great success of the "Peter Gunn" TV series is its music. The impact of the music on the audience of this series was instantaneous — a hit. For this album Ray Ellis has selected twelve of the most representative Mancini themes for his orchestral pallette, presenting them in no less creative and musically solid manner than their originator.

"LONELY BLUE BOY." Conway Twitty MGM Records E3813 (LP), SE 3813 (stereo). This album contains a million - selling Twitty hit, "Lonely Blue Boy" its title selection. CLASSICAL

"MARCHES FROM THE OPERA." Reinhard Linz conducting The London Philharmonic Orchestra. Somerset P-10500 (LP). The melodies of the marches in this album have a retentive quality that insures their popularity with audiences of every degree of musical training. The London Philharmonic Orchestra has selected an exceptionally well - balanced program of the more familiar marches and gives a most spirited performance under the baton of Reinhard Linz, guest conductor from the Hamburg State Opera. Selections include marches from "Aida", "Faust," "Tannhauser," "Magic Flute," "Die Meistersinger," "The Prophet," "Fidelio" and "The Marriage of Figaro."

Stravinsky: "Song of The Nightingale" and "Pulcinella Suite." Ernest Ansermet conducting the L'Orchestre De La Suisse Romande. London CS 6138 (stereo). The symphonic poem "Song of the Nightingale" is based on sections of the music from the second and third acts of Stravinsky's opera "Le Rossignol." The work was written in 1917 and was first presented in Geneva on December 6, 1919 by Ernest Ansermet a performance which Stravinsky described as "careful and highly finished." None the less can be said about this recorded performance. "Pulcinella Suite," one of the most popular of Stravinsky's lighter works is taken from the hour-long ballet of that name which he wrote in 1919-20.

Guide To Good Reading

This week there are a number of new titles of fiction available at the Ouachita Parish Public Library. "Something of an Achievement" by Gwyn Griffin has it's setting in a Northeast African British crown colony. There are moving moments as well as sharp drama in this commentary on a failing, fading colonialism and the disappointed, limited and frustrated figures who try to ensure it's survival. Donald Barr Chidsey has given us another historical romance which he calls "Reluctant Cavalier." It has it's setting in the Elizabethan World and brings in many important historical figures. An outstanding book is "The Leopard" by Giuseppe Di Lampedusa. It is a story of the decline of the Sicilian aristocracy. It is beautifully written and is forceful without being blunt, rare without being vague and delicate but never fragile.

"The Bride Stealer" by Frank O'Rourke has it's setting in the area around Taos New Mexico. It has a folk lore quality and many moments of malicious humor. Francoise Sagan has another book called "Aimex - vous Brahms." Those who liked her earlier ones may want to read this. A new western, which will find a ready audience is "The Long Trail Back" by Todhunter Ballard. Certain to be popular with women is "Nightshade" by Helen Topping Miller. Miss Miller is certainly not a great writer, but she understands human nature and her books are always interesting. Paul Horgan's knowledge and deep understanding of the time and locale give dimension to his new book "A Distant Trumpet." It is a cynical account of American - Indian affairs during the infant days of the Southwest territory. John O'Hara is one of the greatest modern novelists. His latest book is called "Ourselves to Know" and is very different from his former titles. In this book we have a mystery to solve, not a mystery of action, but a mystery of character. He has done it very well and it will make exciting reading. "Billy Liar" is the title of a very unusual book by Keith Waterhouse. "Two Weeks in Another Town" is the title of Irwin Shaw's latest novel. It is concerned with an American stationed in Paris and his two weeks vacation in Rome. We meet a most unusual selection of characters and the book will interest many readers.

The field of non-fiction has a number of new titles from which the reader may choose. "How to Get What You're Worth" is the title of a book by O. J. McClure and it contains a great deal of valuable advice for those in the business world. One of the most beautiful books which the library has received in a long time is "The Stones of Florence" by Mary McCarthy. It is a beautiful and valuable book of description about Florence and the library is happy to have it as an addition to our memorial collection. "Earth My Friend" is the title of Peter Townsend's autobiography and it could hardly have come out at a more opportune time. It does not take up his entire life, but is an account of his recent voyage around the world. Another interesting travel book is "Return to Japan" by Elizabeth Vining. Mrs Vining, who was the tutor of the Crown Prince of Japan, immediately after the close of World War II, returned to Japan for his wedding. This is an account of what she saw and did and is written with her usual charm and flair. Archibald Rutledge has written several lovely books of the South Carolina Plantation country. The latest one is "The World Around Hampton." It is beautifully illustrated and will be read by many readers.

"America's Wonderlands published by the National Geographic Society is a beautiful book dealing with our National Park system. It is a lovely book for reading and for looking at the pictures. Those who like to read about personal adventures of World War II will enjoy "Wake of the Wahoo" by Forest J. Sterling. It is an enlisted man's account of the events which made the Wahoo famous and is written with excitement and humor. Earl Parker Hanson has written an account of Puerto Rico, which he calls "Puerto Rico, Land of Wonders." It presents an excellent contemporary description of this territory and is a distinct addition to our knowledge of this island.

BUSY ALREADY

NEW YORK (AP) — Major Broadway stage producers are rarely content with their classics. They are not happy unless they have a minor item of future drama to contemplate during idle moments.

For instance, major impresarios Alan Jay Lerner, Frederick Loewe and Moss Hart are now busily shaping up new plays for the next season.

The first will be the comedy, "I Give It Six Months," by George S. Kaufmann and Leueen MacGrath. The second presentation will be "Camelot," a musical comedy to be based on the tales of King Arthur's times.

The third item, now regarded as a "minor" effort, is a mystery thriller now named "Trap For A Lonely Man." It is now a hit in Paris, but will not be seen here until the audience verdict is given on "I Give It Six Months" and "Camelot."

A Long Novel But Appears To Be Good One

McGINNIS SPEAKS. By Frank Rooney. Harcourt, Brace. $5.

Several McGinnises speak in this good long novel: John the father who has lost his wife and regards his grief as one excuse for drink; his elder son Jack, 7, whom we first see being dragged off to school — it's better to educate boys than have them hanging around the house under foot; and above all George, best and most persistent speaker of the clan.

George speaks eloquently, passionately, in great intemperate gushes of words which play brilliantly around church and religion, which get him in and out of love, and in and out of other delights and troubles, to.

From the start George is an ornery youngster with a propensity to be himself. He is not interested in his brothers aptitude for success. He doesn't knuckle under to bullying playmates. He picks up the habit of expressing himself, first in music and later in poetry.

Broadway

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Someone was very smart in the case of "Bye Bye Birdie," the new musical hit at the Martin Beck Theater. It may have been Michael Stewart, who wrote the libretto, or Gower Champion, the director. Probably a combination of the two.

Anyway, the point is that although it will be known as the show that joshes rock 'n' roll, which is truly the basic idea, there is much more to it than that, and a good thing, too.

For rock 'n' roll, like a number of other subjects — radio, TV, movies, to mention a few — comes fully equipped with its own built-in ridicule, satire, burlesque or whatever you want to call it. It's tough to gild the lily. Also rock 'n' roll, like the songs of the genre, is just about a one-note affair.

Had "Bye Bye Birdie" harped on this one note, it could have turned out to be a bore. But along with the frail gimmick of getting a singing idol off to the Army amid a last flurry of publicity that backfires, there is a companion story line meshing romance and tenacious mother love that, if not especially new is so freshly written and acted as to lift the whole show to a plane of hilarity we don't often get these years.

"Bye Bye Birdie" is, in fact, the funniest show in town by a considerable margin, and so far as I'm concerned it is the best musical of a season that has had several quite acceptable ones.

With all due respect to Stewart, a new writer who seems to have a lot on the comedy ball, to songwriters Charles Strouse (music) and Lee Adams (lyrics) and to the thoroughly wonderful cast, the first bow of gratitude must go to director Champion. This is the man, who with wife Marge, has formed one of the country's greatest dancing acts for a dozen years. His skill as a choreographer has been used in creating the dances for three Broadway revues and one musical comedy.

But this is the first musical comedy he has served both as over-all director and choreographer, and he has turned out the slickest, most attractive and most imaginative staging job seen around here in a long time.

The acting honors have to be distributed among Kay Medford as a silver cord type of mother who is devastatingly funny; Chita Rivera as a love-starved secretary; Dick Van Dyke as a music publisher - manager harassed by problems of mother, romance and a singing idol; Paul Lynde as a father distracted by teenage antics; Dick Gautier as the Elvis Presley of the moment; Susan Watson as a worshiping teenager, and Michael J. Pollard as her jealous swain.

There isn't room to point out how and why they are so wonderful, but they are exactly that.

The Strouse-Adams score is a lively, often melodious and frequently comic affair that serves well at every turn. Champion's choreography often is novel, and he has devised one "ballet" for Miss Rivera that is a comic masterpiece. The extravagant and attractive sets by Robert Randolph and costumes by Miles White add their own humorous comment to the proceedings.

Aside from the pure entertainment provided by this production of Edward Padula and L. Slade Brown, it is welcome because it showcases several excellent new creative talents and because it proves that the completely hilarious musical is not yet dead, as some people have been thinking in recent years.

RUNNING THE SCALES

With JOHN CALE

With National Music Week approaching, it appeared musical activity in the Monroe-West Monroe district was chalking up principal labors before and after as well as during the week of recognition. So with all the "weeks" observing everything from apples to yams, music apparently toots its own horn 52 of them out of the year.

SYMPHONIC CLIMAX

Thursday evening marked the final concert of the season for the Twin City Symphony Orchestra with a program of solid orchestral fare at Brown Hall Auditorium on the Northeast Campus. The occasion noted the end of the seventh season the group has held subscription drives and Director Harry Lemert has just reason to be proud of the performance.

True, the orchestra of approximately 60 players was more a tri-state than a Twin City group with one player coming from as great a distance as Marshall, Texas. But there is no substitute for performance where a product like music is being put out for public support.

The local symphony has not attracted large audiences since its initial season. And with the response growing weaker, so did the music.

Thursday night's concert showed what the revival spirit of visiting "evangelists" can do. With better than half the musicians brought in from the Shreveport Symphony, the readings of Wagner, Bizet, Faure, Copland and Offenbach came through with life and clarity. From the first full climax in the Prelude to Act I of "Lohengrin" which opened the program, it was obvious the performers meant business. With some fine solo woodwind work in "Pelleas and Melisande" by Faure, the final number made up of familiar Offenbach themes was taken at a pace which last year's orchestra could not have touched.

We understand next year's orchestra will combine forces with the Northeast State Concert series. If this is the case, and the group holds only one or two concerts with plenty of outside support, we'll venture the prediction that the audiences will increase. For students, any composition worth playing can afford a good performance. But for paying public customers. . .well, it seems to work better to push for quality.

LITTLE THEATRE

At this writing, "Guys and Dolls" is still drawing full houses at Selman Field Playhouse. We had a few words from the orchestra after last week's review and certainly they deserve a hearing.

The score calls for 28 instruments and various conditions reduced the number to 6. These were brought face to face with the realities of the local performance only half a dozen days before curtain time. One musician makes a daily trek from Logansport in far away De Sota Parish for the nightly playing with "Guys and Dolls." Under these circumstances, we are happy to hear the orchestra is not only "sticking it out" for the full run of the show, but improving.

CAMPAIGNS

Crossett, Arkansas, wrapped up a membership drive for the Ashley County Community Concerts series in a two-day effort last week. With such drives usually lasting a week — or longer — the officers and workers in the association deserve all the praise of a job well done.

Over Louisiana Tech way comes word that the United States Marine Band, the Goldovsky Grand Opera Theatre with Mozart's "Don Giovanni," the Houston Symphony Orchestra and several more top attractions have already been booked for the 1960-61 season. The membership drive by mail will already be underway when you read this, according to Chairman L. V. E. Irvine of the Louisiana Tech Concerts Association.

The Party At Cranton Analysis

THE PARTY AT CRANTON. By John W. Aldridge. McKay. $3.50.

With Dorothy Murchison the lecturer as guest, and the college folks at Cranton as hosts, the party begins, for us readers, with "a gigantic howl." It ends in the scummy river with Negro songs coming from the shanties and Waithe the narrator left mystified on the bank as his two companions walk off out of sight into the mist.

Speaking for one reader, I'm a little mystified, too. A succession of men and women files past — Anthony Marsh, Shelby, Arthur Buchanan's wife, a drama critic named Rachel, a young man interrupter, Miriam and Lester who hate - love each other, Alice and Sylvia. Surrounded by all these, and also by a bevy of drinking, giggling and admiring faculty wives, there is Buchanan at the hub of the party, the story, and Aldridge's thought. And what is he? To his wife, he is a failure in a couple of departments; Shelby was and is his wife's rival; Dorothy names it — also with a screech — and isn't believed, and then ultimately is.

Those novelists with whom Aldridge was uncomfortably severe in his widely read books of criticism, in particular "After the Lost Generation," will get a wry satisfaction out of the labor he took to write "The Party" and the labor they took, unhappily, to read it. This is not to deny the author great credit for an astute probing of an odd-ball writer - teacher. But this is the reasoned, logical prose of writing of a novelist; an analysis instead of a story.

American Operas

Up-And-Down Reception

NEW YORK (AP) — "Yes, Gwendolyn, there really is an American opera," The State Journal, Lansing, Mich., exulted after seeing recent performances by the touring New York City Opera with its repertory of four home grown works.

That was the staunch opinion, too, of Julius Rudel, and on the basis of it he managed to get these, among others, performed here with Ford Foundation help; and with Ford again rallying generously to his support, took them on the road to 20 cities. City opera director Rudel's opinion hasn't changed a bit in spite of an uneven picture of the tour's accomplishments.

"Audiences were almost belligerently favorable," he declared.

He regretted to report three tough handicaps:

"We had to combat the fact that the operas were not known. Then we were up against the fact that they are American, and Americans haven't the habit of thinking fellow Americans can write opera. Finally, many potential patrons must have said to themselves, if we're going to see opera, why go to anything but the master works, why spend money on operas that are confessedly not the world's best?"

FAVORABLE

"Even so," he went on, and offered a thick envelope of clippings and correspondence to prove it, "though audiences could be small, and critics critical, we had some most favorable reactions.

"The total press score was nine critics against, 16 undecided, 48 in favor."

The Bushnell Hall management in Hartford, Conn., summed up: "Financial situation disappointing" but "a real cultural and educational service to the community."

At Indiana University, the story was "scanty audience in iron suspense." In Boston despite the "bleak sight of row upon row of empty seats" in Symphony Hall, Jules Wolffers of the Boston Herald declared Carlisle Floyd's "Susannah" was a work that "comes close to greatness."

Out in Chicago the same work was lambasted. Don Henahan of the Chicago Daily News reported that it "proves no work of art can be pieced together out of odds and ends." Roger Dettmer of the Chicago American declared bitingly that there was nothing wrong with "Susannah" except that it needed a libretto, music and a stage manager. Claudia Cassidy of the Chicago Tribune was unfriendly.

POINT OF TOUR

Washington was the only other city, Rudel recalled, where the press was hostile. Paul Hume of the Washington Post read the libretto ahead of time and decided nothing could save it unless the music did, Rudel said; then heard the music and decided it saved nothing. Hume liked Douglas Moore's "The Ballad of Baby Doe" but asked why any management could "confine any operatic venture to just American operas."

That was, of course, the point of the tour: To present American operas to American opera - goers. These works won high critical approval in New York, so what would the public in other cities think? In Chicago despite the criticism, the attendance was nearly 90 per cent capacity for three shows. In Philadelphia and Baltimore it was not encouraging; in university towns it was good.

"The ground was broken," said Rudel affirmatively.

"Surely we could have done better with 'Aida,' " he went on. "But we didn't have to tour to learn that. On the other hand, second - best foreign operas might not have drawn any better than these four native works. Robert C. Marsh of the Chicago Sun-Times pointed out that audiences would have been just as small, and could have been a good deal less enthusiastic, if they had been asked to buy tickets to 'Oberto,' or 'Le Villi,' or 'Die Feen,' which are, respectively, the first works of Verdi, Puccini and Wagner.

"And there was another good word for us out of Chicago, where Robert Pollak of the Hyde Park Herald wrote that the company got an undeserved flailing."

"Baby Doe" and "Susannah" won Music Critics Circle annual awards here; and like Weisgall's "Six Characters in Search of an Author" and Weill's "Street Scene," the four touring numbers, they aroused the almost unanimous praise of the New York press. They will continue to as long as Rudel keeps them in his repertory here.

"MARCHES FROM THE OPERA." Reinhard Linz conducting The London Philharmonic Orchestra. Somerset P-10600 (LP). The melodies of the marches in this album have a retentive quality that insures their popularity with audiences of every degree of musical training. The London Philharmonic Orchestra has selected an exceptionally well - balanced program of the more familiar marches and gives a most spirited performance under the baton of Reinhard Linz, guest conductor from the Hamburg State Opera. Selections include marches from "Aida", "Faust," "Tannhauser," "Magic Flute," "Die Meistersinger," "The Prophet," "Fidelio" and "The Marriage of Figaro."

Stravinsky: "Song of The Nightingale" and "Pulcinella Suite." Ernest Ansermet conducting the L'Orchestre De La Suisse Romande. London CS 6138 (stereo). The symphonic poem "Song of the Nightingale" is based on sections of the music from the second and third acts of Stravinsky's opera "Le Rossignol." The work was written in 1917 and was first presented in Geneva on December 6, 1919 by Ernest Ansermet a performance which Stravinsky described as "careful and highly finished." None the less can be said about this recorded performance. "Pulcinella Suite," one of the most popular of Stravinsky's lighter works is taken from the hour-long ballet of that name which he wrote in 1919-20.

Guide To Good Reading

This week there are a number of new titles of fiction available at the Ouachita Parish Public Library. "Something of an Achievement" by Gwyn Griffin has it's setting in a Northeast African British crown colony. There are moving moments as well as sharp drama in this commentary on a failing, fading colonialism and the disappointed, limited and frustrated figures who try to ensure it's survival. Donald Barr Chidsey has given us another historical romance which he calls "Reluctant Cavalier." It has it's setting in the Elizabethan World and brings in many important historical figures. An outstanding book is "The Leopard" by Giuseppe Di Lampedusa. It is a story of the decline of the Sicilian aristocracy. It is beautifully written and is forceful without being blunt, rare without being vague and delicate but never fragile.

"The Bride Stealer" by Frank O'Rourke has it's setting in the area around Taos New Mexico. It has a folk lore quality and many moments of malicious humor. Francoise Sagan has another book called "Aimex - vous Brahms." Those who liked her earlier ones may want to read this. A new western, which will find a ready audience is "The Long Trail Back" by Todhunter Ballard. Certain to be popular with women is "Nightshade" by Helen Topping Miller. Miss Miller is certainly not a great writer, but she understands human nature and her books are always interesting. Paul Horgan's knowledge and deep understanding of the time and locale give dimension to his new book "A Distant Trumpet." It is a cynical account of American - Indian affairs during the infant days of the Southwest territory. John O'Hara is one of the greatest modern novelists. His latest book is called "Ourselves to Know" and is very different from his former titles. In this book we have a mystery to solve, not a mystery of action, but a mystery of character. He has done it very well and it will make exciting reading. "Billy Liar" is the title of a very unusual book by Keith Waterhouse. "Two Weeks in Another Town" is the title of Irwin Shaw's latest novel. It is concerned with an American stationed in Paris and his two weeks vacation in Rome. We meet a most unusual selection of characters and the book will interest many readers.

The field of non-fiction has a number of new titles from which the reader may choose. "How to Get What You're Worth" is the title of a book by O. J. McClure and it contains a great deal of valuable advice for those in the business world. One of the most beautiful books which the library has received in a long time is "The Stones of Florence" by Mary McCarthy. It is a beautiful and valuable book of description about Florence and the library is happy to have it as an addition to our memorial collection. "Earth My Friend" is the title of Peter Townsend's autobiography and it could hardly have come out at a more opportune time. it does not take up his entire life, but is an account of his recent voyage around the world. Another interesting travel book is "Return to Japan" by Elizabeth Vining. Mrs Vining, who was the tutor of the Crown Prince of Japan, immediately after the close of World War II, returned to Japan for his wedding. This is an account of what she saw and did and is written with her usual charm and flair. Archibald Rutledge has written several lovely books of the South Carolina Plantation country. The latest one is "The World Around Hampton." It is beautifully illustrated and will be read by many readers.

"America's Wonderlands published by the National Geographic Society is a beautiful book dealing with our National Park system. It is a lovely book for reading and for looking at the pictures. Those who like to read about personal adventures of World War II will enjoy "Wake of the Wahoo" by Forest J. Sterling. It is an enlisted man's account of the events which made the Wahoo famous and is written with excitement and humor. Earl Parker Hanson has written an account of Puerto Rico, which he calls "Puerto Rico, Land of Wonders." It presents an excellent contemporary description of this territory and is a distinct addition to our knowledge of this island.

The third item, now regarded as a "minor" effort, is a mystery thriller now named "Trap For A Lonely Man." It is now a hit in Paris, but will not be seen here until the audience verdict is given on "I Give It Six Months" and "Camelot."

A Long Novel But Appears To Be Good One

McGINNIS SPEAKS. By Frank Rooney. Harcourt, Brace, $5.

Several McGinnises speak in this good long novel: John the father who has lost his wife and regards his grief as one excuse for drink; his elder son Jack, 7, whom we first see being dragged off to school — it's better to educate boys than have them hanging around the house under foot; and above all George, best and most persistent speaker of the clan.

George speaks eloquently, passionately, in great intemperate gushes of words which play brilliantly around church and religion, which get him in and out of love, and in and out of other delights and troubles, to.

From the start George is an ornery youngster with a propensity to be himself. He is not interested in his brothers aptitude for success. He doesn't knuckle under to bullying playmates. He picks up the habit of expressing himself, first in music and later in poetry.

Broadway

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Someone was very smart in the case of "Bye Bye Birdie," the new musical hit at the Martin Beck Theater. It may have been Michael Stewart, who wrote the libretto, or Gower Champion, the director. Probably a combination of the two.

Anyway, the point is that although it will be known as the show that joshes rock 'n' roll, which is truly the basic idea, there is much more to it than that, and a good thing, too.

For rock 'n' roll, like a number of other subjects — radio, TV, movies, to mention a few — comes fully equipped with its own built-in ridicule, satire, burlesque or whatever you want to call it. It's tough to gild the lily. Also rock 'n' roll, like the songs of the genre, is just about a one-note affair.

Had "Bye Bye Birdie" harped on this one note, it could have turned out to be a bore. But along with the frail gimmick of getting a singing idol off to the Army amid a last flurry of publicity that backfires, there is a companion story line meshing romance and tenacious mother love that, if not especially new is so freshly written and acted as to lift the whole show to a plane of hilarity we don't often get these years.

"Bye Bye Birdie" is, in fact, the funniest show in town by a considerable margin, and so far as I'm concerned it is the best musical of a season that has had several quite acceptable ones.

With all due respect to Stewart, a new writer who seems to have a lot on the comedy ball, to songwriters Charles Strouse (music) and Lee Adams (lyrics) and to the thoroughly wonderful cast, the first bow of gratitude must go to director Champion. This is the man, who with wife Marge, has formed one of the country's greatest dancing acts for a dozen years. His skill as a choreographer has been used in creating the dances for three Broadway revues and one musical comedy.

But this is the first musical comedy he has served both as over-all director and choreographer, and he has turned out the slickest, most attractive and most imaginative staging job seen around here in a long time.

The acting honors have to be distributed among Kay Medford as a silver cord type of mother who is devastatingly funny; Chita Rivera as a love-starved secretary; Dick Van Dyke as a music publisher - manager harassed by problems of mother, romance and a singing idol; Paul Lynde as a father distracted by teenage antics; Dick Gautier as the Elvis Presley of the moment; Susan Watson as a worshiping teenager, and Michael J. Pollard as her jealous swain.

There isn't room to point out how and why they are so wonderful, but they are exactly that.

The Strouse-Adams score is a lively, often melodious and frequently comic affair that serves well at every turn. Champion's choreography often is novel, and he has devised one "ballet" for Miss Rivera that is a comic masterpiece. The extravagant and attractive sets by Robert Randolph and costumes by Miles White add their own humorous comment to the proceedings.

Aside from the pure entertainment provided by this production of Edward Padula and L. Slade Brown, it is welcome because it showcases several excellent new creative talents and because it proves that the completely hilarious musical is not yet dead, as some people have been thinking in recent years.

RUNNING THE SCALES

With JOHN CALE

With National Music Week approaching, it appeared musical activity in the Monroe-West Monroe district was chalking up principal labors before and after as well as during the week of recognition. So with all the "weeks" observing everything from apples to yams, music apparently toots its own horn 52 of them out of the year.

SYMPHONIC CLIMAX

Thursday evening marked the final concert of the season for the Twin City Symphony Orchestra with a program of solid orchestral fare at Brown Hall Auditorium on the Northeast Campus. The occasion noted the end of the seventh season the group has held subscription drives and Director Harry Lemert has just reason to be proud of the performance.

True, the orchestra of approximately 60 players was more a tri-state than a Twin City group with one player coming from as great a distance as Marshall, Texas. But there is no substitute for performance where a product like music is being put out for public support.

The local symphony has not attracted large audiences since its initial season. And with the response growing weaker, so did the music.

Thursday night's concert showed what the revival spirit of visiting "evangelists" can do. With better than half the musicians brought in from the Shreveport Symphony, the readings of Wagner, Bizet, Faure, Copland and Offenbach came through with life and clarity. From the first full climax in the Prelude to Act I of "Lohengrin" which opened the program, it was obvious the performers meant business. With some fine solo woodwind work in "Pelleas and Melisande" by Faure, the final number made up of familiar Offenbach themes was taken at a pace which last year's orchestra could not have touched.

We understand next year's orchestra will combine forces with the Northeast State Concert series. If this is the case, and the group holds only one or two concerts with plenty of outside support, we'll venture the prediction that the audiences will increase. For students, any composition worth playing can afford a good performance. But for paying public customers. . .well, it seems to work better to push for quality.

LITTLE THEATRE

At this writing, "Guys and Dolls" is still drawing full houses at Selman Field Playhouse. We had a few words from the orchestra after last week's review and certainly they deserve a hearing.

The score calls for 28 instruments and various conditions reduced the number to 6. These were brought face to face with the realities of the local performance only half a dozen days before curtain time. One musician makes a daily trek from Logansport in far away De Sota Parish for the nightly playing with "Guys and Dolls." Under these circumstances, we are happy to hear the orchestra is not only "sticking it out" for the full run of the show, but improving.

CAMPAIGNS

Crossett, Arkansas, wrapped up a membership drive for the Ashley County Community Concerts series in a two-day effort last week. With such drives usually lasting a week — or longer — the officers and workers in the association deserve all the praise of a job well done.

Over Louisiana Tech way comes word that the United States Marine Band, the Goldovsky Grand Opera Theatre with Mozart's "Don Giovonni," the Houston Symphony Orchestra and several more top attractions have already been booked for the 1960-61 season. The membership drive by mail will already be underway when you read this, according to Chairman L. V. E. Irvine of the Louisiana Tech Concerts Association.

The Party At Cranton Analysis

THE PARTY AT CRANTON. By John W. Aldridge. McKay. $3.50.

With Dorothy Murchison the lecturer as guest, and the college folks at Cranton as hosts, the party begins, for us readers, with "a gigantic howl." It ends in the scummy river with Negro songs coming from the shanties and Waithe the narrator left mystified on the bank as his two companions walk off out of sight into the mist.

Speaking for one reader, I'm a little mystified, too. A succession of men and women files past — Anthony Marsh, Shelby, Arthur Buchanan's wife, a drama critic named Rachel, a young man interrupter, Miriam and Lester who hate - love each other, Alice and Sylvia. Surrounded by all these, and also by a bevy of drinking, giggling and admiring faculty wives, there is Buchanan at the hub of the party, the story, and Aldridge's thought. And what is he? To his wife, he is a failure in a couple of departments; Shelby was and is his wife's rival; Dorothy names it — also with a screech — and isn't believed, and then ultimately is.

Those novelists with whom Aldridge was uncomfortably severe in his widely read books of criticism, in particular "After the Lost Generation," will get a wry satisfaction out of the labor he took to write "The Party" and the labor they took, unhappily, to read it. This is not to deny the author great credit for an astute probing of an odd-ball writer - teacher. But this is the reasoned, logical prose of writing of a novelist; an analysis instead of a story.

Black Locust Blooming Now

By MILDRED SWIFT

The black locust is blooming, now. It is quite spectacular and blooms for about two weeks. The tree grows about fifteen feet tall and has a ten foot spread. The pea-shaped flowers are egg-shell white and very fragrant. The flowers extend along the entire length of the branches.

Many people think the flowers resemble white wisteria. The tree grows with little care, thriving in most any soil; is hardy to cold, therefore requires no mulching. It is not bothered by diseases or insects. Black locust will bloom without any fertilization. There is a bitter along with the sweet — the tree self-seeds from seeds and seedlings come up all over the place. The tree is also quite greedy, and "saps" food from other plants.

MAY GARDENING

A bed of bearded iris has the same colors that we see in the rainbow. It seems the cold winter helped these plants because they're really beautiful now. Just after they finish blooming, they can be transplanted, if too thick. Iris multiply rapidly so after about three years the rhyzomes become interlocked and plants don't bloom as they should.

First spade up your bed, working bone meal in the soil, allowing a handful for each plant. Divide the iris, pulling the rooted plants from the large mother rhizome. Discard this fleshy rhizome as it will not bloom again. If the plants are over eight or ten inches high, trim the tops. This is to keep them from falling over after planting. Bearded iris must be planted very shallow or they will not bloom.

Iris will stand a light mulch, but heavy mulches will cause rhizome rot. Keep dead bloom stalks cut.

The native Louisiana iris are really beautiful now. Those growing in the shallow edges of Bayou DeSiard reflect the blooms in the water. The yellow is not a true native but the small brown Fulva, the tall browns, blues and purples are truly native. These plants require so little attention. They'll grow in water or dry soil. They like an acid soil. As these iris cease blooming, cut the bloom stalks unless you're saving seed. These, as in many plants, seem to sap some of the vitality from the plant itself.

MORE JOBS

Chrysanthemums can be set in May. These must have some sun.

If you have not pruned your spring flowering shrubs such as spirea and flowering almond, do so at once. Cut out the oldest wood, deep down in the plant.

When the bridal wreath stops blooming prune it the same way. Have you ever seen any curve as beautiful as that in this old fashioned bridal wreath? Each limb drapes over and is a thing of beauty. This is another plant that gives us so much for so little attention.

Put out begonia, geranium, hibiscus, plumbago, sedum plants, caladium bulbs, cleome plants and purple salvia (sage).

Keep beds mulched. Divide violets into single clumps and reset in fertile spot. Lots of humus is what they like. Cotton seed meal will help to make them happy.

Prune climbing roses that bloom only in the spring. Prune after blooming. Cut out oldest wood. Take snippers and cut these long pruned limbs into short lengths. They'll fall to the ground. This saves tearing out the long limbs and pulling the unpruned portion off its support.

Keep tips pinched out of poinsettias to make them branch so you will have more blooms next fall.

Stake tall blooming plants such as tithonia (Mexican sun flower) and cosmos. If you fail to do this, just as the plants begin to bloom well, along comes a wind or heavy rain and over the plants fall. There's nothing that makes a messier looking bed than overturned plants. Also, often roots come completely out of the ground and the plants die.

I guess that's enough garden jobs to keep you busy until next Sunday.

FASHIONS

A brief roundup of the latest fashion news shows that hats go high and wide in design. The timid little hats which nestled closely behind a lot of hair are being put aside in favor of the smart new high hats.

Going from head to foot, shoes are picking up plenty of excitement this spring. The plain shoe has been replaced by beautifully trimmed and draped pumps that are light looking and soft as butter in feeling.

The biggest shoe news of course is the return of the more oval toe and the open work shoe. Heels are slim, varying from medium to very high.

Fabrics of many textures will make handbags. The favorite will be course textured neutrals, some of them bound or trimmed in leather.

Spring coats are appearing in colors as fresh looking as spring grass. They're light and their colors are lighter. The effect is young and gay.

CLOTHES CARE

Individual bags that pull up with a drawstring for each shoe will be well worth the price if you buy them — or the little time they take for you to make. They'll do a good job of protecting the shoe against dust.

This spring the stores are featuring many attractive coordinated closet accessories in decorative colors. Besides protecting your clothes they'll look neat and pretty when you open the closet door.

When not in use, veils should be kept carefully rolled in paper, or if on hats, covered with tissue in a box. Most veils can be partially restored by pressing between folds of wax paper with a warm, not hot, iron.

WHAT'S NEW

New rugs are taking on shape. They are also blossoming with fringe. A collection of shapes to decorate floors include circles, ovals, rounded triangles. There are eight or more shapes and a choice of 30 colors.

What won't they think of next? One answer is a nylon tricot petticoat with satin lastex seat panel. This stretches up and down when you sit, then returns to normal when you stand, thereby protecting your skirts against bagging.

WASHING PILLOWS

Many people are using dacron filled pillows. Hand washing is recommended since dacron might be twisted or torn by the agitation of the washing machine. First, immerse the pillow in warm, soft water with soap or detergent added. Using a non-sudsing detergent makes rinsing easier. Create a flow of water through the pillow by compressing it repeatedly, avoid twisting and wringing.

Rinse thoroughly in warm, soft water and press or squeeze the pillow to remove excess water. The pillow can be dried in the air or put through the spin cycle of an automatic washing machine and dried in a tumbler - type dryer.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Your Open House programs for next week are: Monday, Jackie Mitchell will make a popette blouse; Tuesday, Clifton Dry will prune crepe myrtles; Wesnesday, flower arrangements; Thursday, Martha Frazier will show us lovely and useful gifts for Mother's Day; Friday, Marketing with Mildred.

See you next Sunday.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Morning Glory Planting Time

By MARY JARDINE

Spirea should be pruned right after flowering (May or June). Thin out the old wood for fine flowering next season.

Morning Glory seeds should be soaked overnight in warm water before planting. Seeds can be nicked with a file before planting. When pruning forsythia do not cut the ends of the twigs. It is best to thin out the old branches as close to the ground as possible. Wisteria can be grown in the temperate areas with great success in most rich soil. Especially effective on old trees. If wisteria does not bloom it needs careful pruning to correct this condition. Prune long, straggling canes and all dead wood. Root pruning sometimes helps. Spray roses once every two weeks during the growing season in late afternoon or on cloudy days. Roses need a great deal of food and cow manure is the best of all foods for them. It can be worked into the surface of the soil in the Spring, Summer, and Autumn. A soil soaker is the best thing to use for watering roses. Plan a regular program of watering for the entire season. Rather than trying to keep weeds down by cultivating mulch the area around the bushes with peat moss or pine straw.

CUT ROSES

Roses should be cut in the early morning or late evening. When cutting roses leave two leaves of the stem on the plant. New shoots and new flowers will come from these. Take a container or pail of water to the rose garden when cutting roses. Plunge them into the water immediately for best results. To insure longer life of the cut roses, clip the end of each stem under water. Use a large pail for this process. Some people put their cut roses in a pail of hot water for an hour or more.

BERNICE CLUB

A beautiful flower show was staged in the Garden Center by the Bernice Garden Club of Bernice, La.

Mrs. Taft Burns chose a green, square pottery container for her triangle design using Easter lilies and light pink carnations with branches of eucalyptus. Suitable for the living room table. Mrs. Dan Gresham created a Hogarth curve in a black footed container on a black base. The graceful curved branches of the Eucalyptus formed the curved line. This was filled in with yellow Dutch iris and iris foliage. A design of beauty suitable to adorn a buffet table.

The arrangement for the May Day luncheon was made by Mrs. C. C. Colvin. A blue pottery hat-shaped ceramic container held the pretty asymmetrical triangle design. Blue Dutch iris, States, Star - of - Bethlehem, fern and iris foliage were used to make this arrangement. Horticulture specimens were furnished by the following — A large collection of patented roses by Mrs. J. E. Reeves. A collection of bearded iris by Mrs. G. E. Lindsey, Sr. Tulip Popular (Liriodendron Tulipifera) a deciduous tree of the magnolia family, by Mr. Martin Porter. Passion - Vine (Passiflora) by Mrs. Garden Colvin; Watsonia by Mrs. W. C. Reeves.

The American Hemerocallis Society holds its fourteenth Annual Convention in Florida May 9, 10, 11, 12, 1960. Headquarters Silver Springs (Ocala), Florida. THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

Mallow Plants Tough Species

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

One of the families of plants that seems to like hot weather is the Mallow Family. The perennial hibiscuses and mallows of many kinds are showy — sometimes guady — plants. Some of them like to grow at the water's edge, and many of them can take drought and a great deal of heat. Almost all the species in this great tough group of plants, however, like the summer and flower profusely. They can always be counted upon for a big show in the garden.

In our long growing season from March till November almost all of the poppy-mallows, rose mallows, musk mallows and nearly everything else listed in seed catalogues as some kind of mallow will flower before autumn if the seeds are planted in April or May. Seeds of all this family will usually come up almost 100 per cent, and the seedlings are easty to raise.

The annual hollyhocks are really mallows, too, if you did not know. These and several other annuals in this group will bloom very quickly from seed. The Indian Spring annual hollyhocks were given the All-America Silver Medal some years ago. They are extremely beautiful annuals and useful to provide a quick crop of hollyhocks for those who do not have the regular kinds that require two years to bloom.

Most of these members of the Mallow Family that we are discussing here provide rose or pink or white flowers in the summer garden. The poppy mallow (callirhoe) is an old-fashioned trailing annual about eight inches high. It will grow on hot, dry places and bloom furiously in hot weather. The flowers are cup-shaped and crimson. The prairie mallow is a perennial from our Great Plains. In catalogues, you will find it under Sidalcea, and it grows about eighteen inches tall and has small mallow-like pink flowers.

If you want something tall for the back of borders, the "Improved tree mallow" (Lavatera trimestris) will grow quickly from seed and be in bloom this summer. Two other big plants for background are Hibiscus moscheutos, with huge flowers ten inches across, and the plant listed in catalogues (usually under Hibiscus) as Sunset Hibiscus, Golden Bowl. This one is yellow.

Car Industry Has Large 'Spy' Ring

DETROIT (UPI)—The auto industry operates one of the largest espionage setups in the world outside of official government circles.

Right now almost any auto company could tell you—but won't—what its competitors have on the drawing boards for 1962.

All of the auto companies are making advertising plans and adjustments in their own products to offset the innovations their competitors plan for 1961, secrets which will not be revealed to the public until next fall.

For example, last fall Ford came out with an advertisement showing how an arrow weighted in the rear went astray while an arrow weighted in the front went directly to the target.

The advertisement, which took several months of preparation, appeared just before Chevrolet introduced its new Corvair, with the engine in the rear.

Ford knew far in advance of the public introduction of the Corvair that it would have the engine in the rear and planned its advertising campaign accordingly.

If competing companies know about another company's product and advance information will hurt the other company's sales, why doesn't the highly-competitive auto industry reveal all it knows about the opposition?

One answer is fear of retaliation. Another is that it would be like advertising their competitors' product once it is introduced. And a third is that they may have some misinformation.

This happened to Ford three years ago.

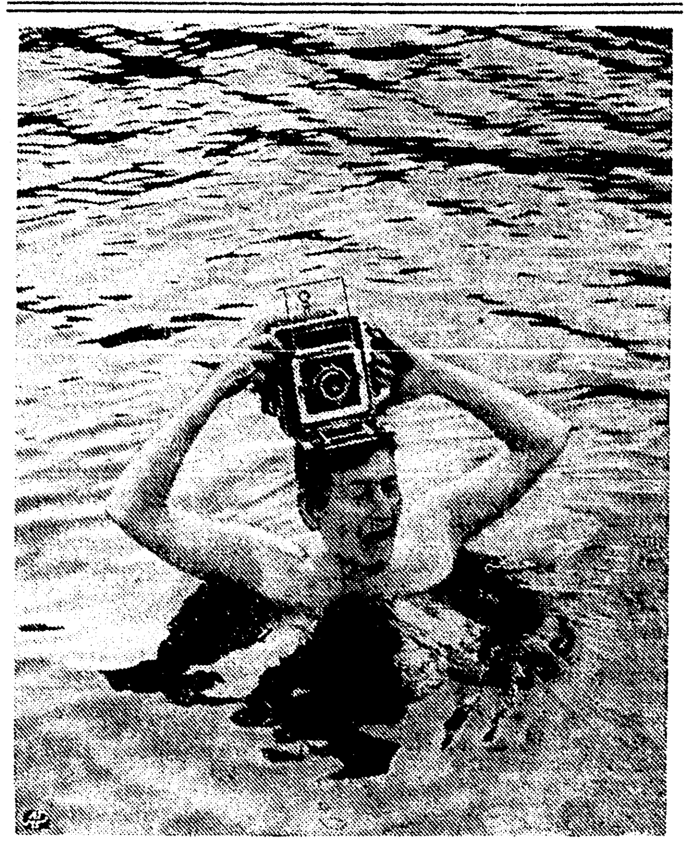
At a press preview of the 1957 Fords, that company suddenly decided to show its retractable hardtop convertible to reporters. The very next day, Chevrolet announced its new fuel injection system at a press conference.

Neither development was a complete surprise. Ford had had the retractable on the planning boards for years and everybody saw fuel injection on experimental engines before it was introduced.

But Ford hurried its decision to show the retractable because of some stray piece of misinformation that Chevrolet was planning to unveil something really startling the day after the Ford introduction.

The industry's spies—many of them former FBI agents who joined the auto industry for higher pay—seldom miss, however.

Camera News



IN DEEP WATER: When shopping for a camera, don't go beyond your depth, warns our columnist. Get the best one you can afford and always keep it handy.

(Editor's note: With summer at hand, the seasonal spurt in photography begins. For the benefit of beginners, we will deal with the fundamentals of photography in the next weeks. Today's topic is "Choosing a Camera.")

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

A photographic novice, faced with the staggering number of cameras available today, is bewildered as he asks, "Which is the camera for me?"

Let's make it clear at the outset that no camera is perfect for everybody at all times. The choice becomes easier if the camera buyer is able to, 1. Decide what type of picture taking is his main interest, and, 2. Deal with a reliable camera store which has an understanding salesman with the patience to explain things.

Usually, a prospective photographer makes his first major decision by picking either motion pictures or stills. If it's movies, he must be prepared to buy not only a camera but a projector, a screen and a splicer or editor. The initial outlay for even the most inexpensive outfit is around $80, but is more likely to be double that for generally accepted features in camera and projector.

In movies, the overwhelming trend favors the economy and wide choice of equipment in the 8mm field, with only serious film makers and professionals favoring the four - times - larger film area of 16 mm.

In the still picture field, the beginning photographer must decide: color slides or black-and-white?

If the choice is color slides, then he need focus his attention on only one type of camera, a 35mm, and forget all the others. The 35mm price range is $30-$400, with the more expensive cameras of course having added refinements and precision.

Color slide results can be admired with hand viewers but are best seen when projected. The most economical projectors, in which each slide is worked manually, cost about $30. Add automation and remote control and the price rises to around $150.

While 35 mm cameras are associated principally with color slides, they can be used with other films to produce black-and-white prints. From that viewpoint, therefore, they are not only compact but versatile.

However, for general purposes, if a beginner wants to make a normal picture record of his family and its activities, he should stick to roll film cameras larger than the 35mm size. The 120-620 roll film size which gives a negative 2¼x2¼ inches has been found most acceptable.

Would - be photographers not only have to think about what type of pictures they are likely to make but must also decide how much thinking they want to do or how many conveniences and refinements they wish to buy.

To avoid thinking and trouble they may spend as little as $5 for a box camera or around $35 to have the box camera equipped with an automatic electric eye. With this, you point the camera, press the button and invisible gremlins make sure that your exposure is correct.

As the price rises from $5, there are other box cameras with added features like an exposure counter and double - exposure preventer and even a built-in exposure meter. But all box cameras are essentially fixed focus, have few controls and a moderately slow lens.

When people want more than a box camera, they pay for better and faster lenses, more accurate focusing, greater choice of shutter speeds and lens openings and the conveniences and controls which operate them. Cameras with these improvements start at around $35 and range up to about $75. Then these are refined still more, are combined and coupled skillfully and automation is added to make the better cameras which range to around $125. Then precision becomes the watchword and as the prices climb upward, they reflect craftsmanship and reputation.

In general, it's safe to say that a prospective photographer should estimate how much he can spend and then buy the best camera he can afford. When he learns to handle it properly, the investment will be paid off in picture dividends.

Demonstration Clubs Honored

By AUDREY DAWSON

Members of the 24 Home Demonstration Clubs of Ouachita Parish are joining women from 50 states and Puerto Rico in celebrating National Home Demonstration Week May 1-7. The theme of the week is, "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World." This theme is most fitting for this occasion because the family is the basic unit of society. A better world in the future, therefore depends on better living in the home and other developments that help to build better citizens.

Through their clubs, homemakers not only learn about better methods of homemaking but also learn citizenship by playing an active role in community life. Club members will pay tribute to the Home Demonstration organization through club gatherings, window displays, radio broadcasts, workshops, news releases and family get togethers.

DRESS CONTEST

As a part of the celebration of National Home Demonstration Week club women in Ouachita will hold the annal dress contest at the agricultural building in West Monroe, Saturday, May 7, at 9:00 a.m.

The dresses are due in the office not later than 4:30 Thursday afternoon, May 5. Home Demonstration Club women be sure that your club is represented in the dress revue.

GARDENING

There are many jobs at this time of the year. You can separate violets clumps into single stems after blooming. They like rich well drained soil, plenty of water and sunshine; spray or dust roses weekly to control aphids and blackspot. One of the older materials, Black Leaf 40, or nicotine sulphate is one of the best to use for control of aphids. Malathion and Lindane are two of the newer materials that are effective in the control of aphids.

Chemicals which are effective in controlling Blackspot are Bordeaux mixture, Fermate, Dithane, and Tribasic copper sulphate.

AGENT'S SCHEDULE

Yours truly will meet the 24 Home Demonstration Clubs this month and give the homemakers a demonstration on cleaning upholstery and carpets. The schedule for the meetings are: May 3-9:30 a.m., Better Homemaker at Mrs. J. C. Coon; 1:30 p.m., Okaloosa at Mrs. C. K. IRON

The infant of an anemia mother frequently shares the mother's iron deficiency. The more severe the anemia, the more this is reflected in the infant at birth. To protect infants from iron deficiency anemia later on, mothers-to-be are cautioned to eat foods rich in iron — liver, enriched and whole grain bread and cereals, red meats, egg yolks and green vegetables.

A THOUGHT — Great opportunities come to those who make the most of the small ones.

Women Enjoy Status

NEW YORK (UPI) — American woman enjoy a period of highest status as contributing members of society between the ages of 20 and 50 years.

A new report from the United States Senate Subcommittee on Problems of the Aged and Aging shows that during these years of child-bearing and child-rearing, "the average woman feels that she is accomplishing—and looks her best."

The report is based on an analysis of expert testimony given during recent subcommittee hearings.

What happens at the half-century mark is this: Children become independent and leave home. But that's not all. Loss of a spouse frequently occurs at this crucial time. And the shrinking of family circle frequently is accompanied by a dip in income.

As a result, increasing loneliness and poverty quickly tarnish the so-called "golden years."

The report shows that many of the older women are in "dire financial straits." Half of the elderly women with income received less than $741 in 1957.

The income in many cases is short of the cost of living. An elderly woman living in rented quarters in an average urban area needs about $1,200 a year for a modest but adequate level of living, the subcommittee reported.

In New York City an elderly woman living alone needs $1,600 a year because of higher living costs.

But an elderly woman living in the household of one of her children needs money, too. She needs between $850 and $900 a year.

The subcommittee report shows that aged widows are the most seriously "impoverished" sector of the aged population.

Several factors contribute to the dilemma of the widows. For example — company pensions usually end with the death of the husband; widows receive three-fourths of husband's full social security payments upon their spouse's death.

THE HOME SHIFT

Black Locust Blooming Now

By MILDRED SWIFT

The black locust is blooming now. It is quite spectacular and blooms for about two weeks. The tree grows about fifteen feet tall and has a ten foot spread. The pea-shaped flowers are egg-shell white and very fragrant. The flowers extend along the entire length of the branches.

Many people think the flowers resemble white wisteria. The tree grows with little care, thriving in most any soil; is hardy to cold, therefore requires no mulching. It is not bothered by diseases or insects. Black locust will bloom without any fertilization. There is a bitter along with the sweet — the tree self-seeds from seeds and seedlings come up all over the place. The tree is also quite greedy, and "saps" food from other plants.

MAY GARDENING

A bed of bearded iris has the same colors that we see in the rainbow. It seems the cold winter helped these plants because they're really beautiful now. Just after they finish blooming, they can be transplanted, if too thick. Iris multiply rapidly so after about three years the rhyzomes become interlocked and plants don't bloom as they should.

First spade up your bed, working bone meal in the soil, allowing a handful for each plant. Divide the iris, pulling the rooted plants from the large mother rhizome. Discard this fleshy rhizome as it will not bloom again. If the plants are over eight or ten inches high, trim the tops. This is to keep them from falling over after planting. Bearded iris must be planted very shallow or they will not bloom.

Iris will stand a light mulch, but heavy mulches will cause rhizome rot. Keep dead bloom stalks cut.

The native Louisiana iris are really beautiful now. Those growing in the shallow edges of Bayou DeSiard reflect the blooms in the water. The yellow is not a true native but the small brown Fulva, the tall browns, blues and purples are truly native. These plants require so little attention. They'll grow in water or dry soil. They like an acid soil. As these iris cease blooming, cut the bloom stalks unless you're saving seed. These, as in many plants, seem to sap some of the vitality from the plant itself.

MORE JOBS

Chrysanthemums can be set in May. These must have some sun.

If you have not pruned your spring flowering shrubs such as spirea and flowering almond, do so at once. Cut out the oldest wood, deep down in the plant.

When the bridal wreath stops blooming prune it the same way. Have you ever seen any curve as beautiful as that in this old fashioned bridal wreath? Each limb drapes over and is a thing of beauty. This is another plant that gives us so much for so little attention.

Put out begonia, geranium, hibiscus, plumbago, sedum plants, caladium bulbs, cleome plants and purple salvia (sage).

Keep beds mulched. Divide violets into single clumps and reset in fertile spot. Lots of humus is what they like. Cotton seed meal will help to make them happy.

Prune climbing roses that bloom only in the spring. Prune after blooming. Cut out oldest wood. Take snippers and cut these long pruned limbs into short lengths. They'll fall to the ground. This saves tearing out the long limbs and pulling the unpruned portion off its support.

Keep tips pinched out of poinsettias to make them branch so you will have more blooms next fall.

Stake tall blooming plants such as tithonia (Mexican sun flower) and cosmos. If you fail to do this, just as the plants begin to bloom well, along comes a wind or heavy rain and over the plants fall. There's nothing that makes a messier looking bed than overturned plants. Also, often roots come completely out of the ground and the plants die.

I guess that's enough garden jobs to keep you busy until next Sunday.

FASHIONS

A brief roundup of the latest fashion news shows that hats go high and wide in design. The timid little hats which nestled closely behind a lot of hair are being put aside in favor of the smart new high hats.

Going from head to foot, shoes are picking up plenty of excitement this spring. The plain shoe has been replaced by beautifully trimmed and draped pumps that are light looking and soft as butter in feeling.

The biggest shoe news of course is the return of the more oval toe and the open work shoe. Heels are slim, varying from medium to very high.

Fabrics of many textures will make handbags. The favorite will be course textured neutrals, some of them bound or trimmed in leather.

Spring coats are appearing in colors as fresh looking as spring grass. They're light, and their colors are lighter. The effect is young and gay.

CLOTHES CARE

Individual bags that pull up with a drawstring for each shoe will be well worth the price if you buy them — or the little time they take for you to make. They'll do a good job of protecting the shoe against dust.

This spring the stores are featuring many attractive coordinated closet accessories in decorative colors. Besides protecting your clothes they'll look neat and pretty when you open the closet door.

When not in use, veils should be kept carefully rolled in paper, or if on hats, covered with tissue in a box. Most veils can be partially restored by pressing between folds of wax paper with a warm, not hot, iron.

WHAT'S NEW

New rugs are taking on shape. They are also blossoming with fringe. A collection of shapes to decorate floors include circles, ovals, rounded triangles. There are eight or more shapes and a choice of 50 colors.

What won't they think of next? One answer is a nylon tricot petticoat with satin lastex seat panel. This stretches up and down when you sit, then returns to normal when you stand, thereby protecting your skirts against bagging.

WASHING PILLOWS

Many people are using dacron filled pillows. Hand washing is recommended since dacron might be twisted or torn by the agitation of the washing machine. First, immerse the pillow in warm, soft water with soap or detergent added. Using a non-sudsing detergent makes rinsing easier. Create a flow of water through the pillow by compressing it repeatedly, avoid twisting and wringing.

Rinse thoroughly in warm, soft water and press or squeeze the pillow to remove excess water. The pillow can be dried in the air or put through the spin cycle of an automatic washing machine and dried in a tumbler - type dryer.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Morning Glory Planting Time

By MARY JARDINE

Spirea should be pruned right after flowering (May or June). Thin out the old wood for fine flowering next season.

Morning Glory seeds should be soaked overnight in warm water before planting. Seeds can be nicked with a file before planting. When pruning forsythia do not cut the ends of the twigs. It is best to thin out the old branches as close to the ground as possible. Wisteria can be grown in the temperate areas with great success in most rich soil. Especially effective on old trees. If wisteria does not bloom it needs careful pruning to correct this condition. Prune long, straggling canes and all dead wood. Root pruning sometimes helps. Spray roses once every two weeks during the growing season in late afternoon or on cloudy days. Roses need a great deal of food and cow manure is the best of all foods for them. It can be worked into the surface of the soil in the Spring, Summer, and Autumn. A soil soaker is the best thing to use for watering roses. Plan a regular program of watering for the entire season. Rather than trying to keep weeds down by cultivating mulch the area around the bushes with peat moss or pine straw.

CUT ROSES

Roses should be cut in the early morning or late evening. When cutting roses leave two leaves of the stem on the plant. New shoots and new flowers will come from these. Take a container or pail of water to the rose garden when cutting roses. Plunge them into the water immediately for best results. To insure longer life of the cut roses, clip the end of each stem under water. Use a large pail for this process. Some people put their cut roses in a pail of hot water for an hour or more.

BERNICE CLUB

A beautiful flower show was staged in the Garden Center by the Bernice Garden Club of Bernice, La.

Mrs. Taft Burns chose a green, square pottery container for her triangle design using Easter lilies and light pink carnations with branches of eucalyptus. Suitable for the living room table. Mrs. Dan Gresham created a Hogarth curve in a black footed container on a black base. The graceful curved branches of the Eucalyptus formed the curved line. This was filled in with yellow Dutch iris and iris foliage. A design of beauty suitable to adorn a buffet table.

The arrangement for the May Day luncheon was made by Mrs. C. C. Colvin. A blue pottery hat-shaped ceramic container held the pretty asymmetrical triangle design. Blue Dutch iris, States, Star - of - Bethlehem, fern and iris foliage were used to make this arrangement. Horticulture specimens were furnished by the following — A large collection of patented roses by Mrs. J. E. Reeves. A collection of bearded iris by Mrs. G. E. Lindsey, Sr. Tulip Popular (Liriodendron Tulipifera) a deciduous tree of the magnolia family, by Mr. Martin Porter. Passion - Vine (Passiflora) by Mrs. Garden Colvin; Watsonia by Mrs. W. C. Reeves.

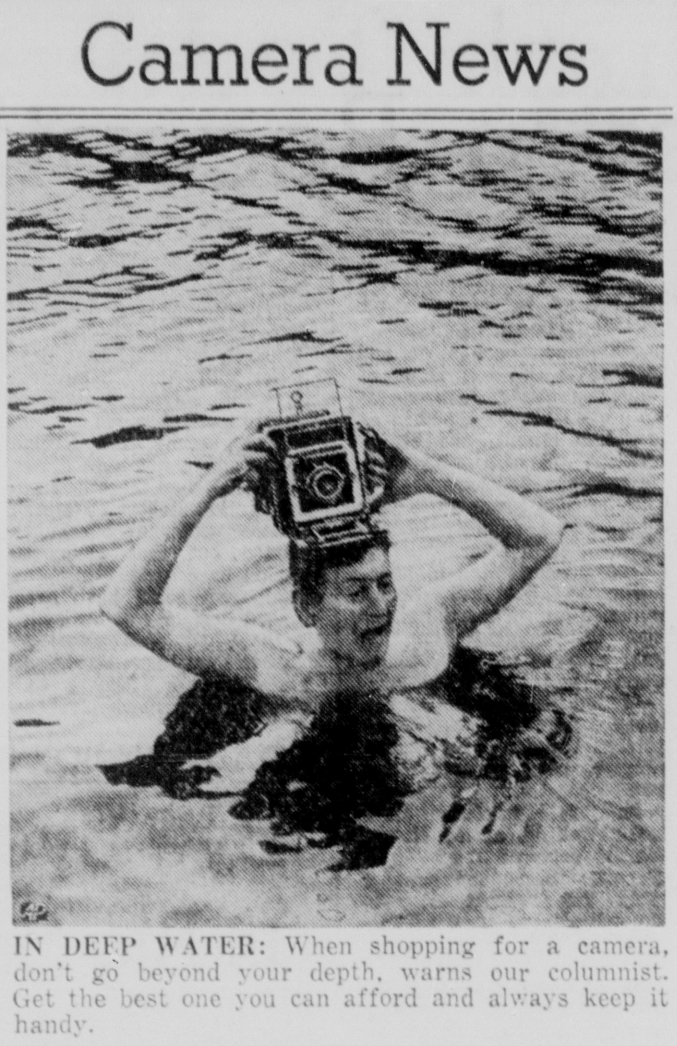
Camera News



IN DEEP WATER: When shopping for a camera, don't go beyond your depth, warns our columnist. Get the best one you can afford and always keep it handy.

(Editor's note: With summer at hand, the seasonal spurt in photography begins. For the benefit of beginners, we will deal with the fundamentals of photography in the next weeks. Today's topic is "Choosing a Camera.")

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

A photographic novice, faced with the staggering number of cameras available today, is bewildered as he asks, "Which is the camera for me?"

Let's make it clear at the outset that no camera is perfect for everybody at all times. The choice becomes easier if the camera buyer is able to, 1. Decide what type of picture taking is his main interest, and, 2. Deal with a reliable camera store which has an understanding salesman with the patience to explain things.

Usually, a prospective photographer makes his first major decision by picking either motion pictures or stills. If it's movies, he must be prepared to buy not only a camera but a projector, a screen and a splicer or editor. The initial outlay for even the most inexpensive outfit is around $80, but is more likely to be double that for generally accepted features in camera and projector.

In movies, the overwhelming trend favors the economy and wide choice of equipment in the 8mm field, with only serious film makers and professionals favoring the four - times - larger film area of 16 mm.

In the still picture field, the beginning photographer must decide: color slides or black-and-white?

If the choice is color slides, then he need focus his attention on only one type of camera, a 35mm, and forget all the others. The 35mm price range is $30-$400, with the more expensive cameras of course having added refinements and precision.

Color slide results can be admired with hand viewers but are best seen when projected. The most economical projectors, in which each slide is worked manually, cost about $30. Add automation and remote control and the price rises to around $150.

While 35 mm cameras are associated principally with color slides, they can be used with other films to produce black-and-white prints. From that viewpoint, therefore, they are not only compact but versatile.

However, for general purposes, if a beginner wants to make a normal picture record of his family and its activities, he should stick to roll film cameras larger than the 35mm size. The 120-620 roll film size which gives a negative 2¼x2¼ inches has been found most acceptable.

Would - be photographers not only have to think about what type of pictures they are likely to make but must also decide how much thinking they want to do or how many conveniences and refinements they wish to buy.

To avoid thinking and trouble they may spend as little as $5 for a box camera or around $35 to have the box camera equipped with an automatic electric eye. With this, you point the camera, press the button and invisible gremlins make sure that your exposure is correct.

As the price rises from $5, there are other box cameras with added features like an exposure counter and double - exposure preventer and even a built-in exposure meter. But all box cameras are essentially fixed focus, have few controls and a moderately slow lens.

When people want more than a box camera, they pay for better and faster lenses, more accurate focusing, greater choice of shutter speeds and lens openings and the conveniences and controls which operate them. Cameras with these improvements start at around $35 and range up to about $75. Then these are refined still more, are combined and coupled skillfully and automation is added to make the better cameras which range to around $125. Then precision becomes the watchword and as the prices climb upward, they reflect craftsmanship and reputation.

In general, it's safe to say that a prospective photographer should estimate how much he can spend and then buy the best camera he can afford. When he learns to handle it properly, the investment will be paid off in picture dividends.

Mallow Plants Tough Species

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

One of the families of plants that seems to like hot weather is the Mallow Family. The perennial hibiscuses and mallows of many kinds are showy — sometimes guady — plants. Some of them like to grow at the water's edge, and many of them can take drought and a great deal of heat. Almost all the species in this great tough group of plants, however, like the summer and flower profusely. They can always be counted upon for a big show in the garden.

In our long growing season from March till November almost all of the poppy-mallows, rose mallows, musk mallows and nearly everything else listed in seed catalogues as some kind of mallow will flower before autumn if the seeds are planted in April or May. Seeds of all this family will usually come up almost 100 per cent, and the seedlings are easty to raise.

The annual hollyhocks are really mallows, too, if you did not know. These and several other annuals in this group will bloom very quickly from seed. The Indian Spring annual hollyhocks were given the All-America Silver Medal some years ago. They are extremely beautiful annuals and useful to provide a quick crop of hollyhocks for those who do not have the regular kinds that require two years to bloom.

Most of these members of the Mallow Family that we are discussing here provide rose or pink or white flowers in the summer garden. The poppy mallow (callirhoe) is an old-fashioned trailing annual about eight inches high. It will grow on hot, dry places and bloom furiously in hot weather. The flowers are cup-shaped and crimson. The prairie mallow is a perennial from our Great Plains. In catalogues, you will find it under Sidalcea, and it grows about eighteen inches tall and has small mallow-like pink flowers.

If you want something tall for the back of borders, the "Improved tree mallow" (Lavatera trimestris) will grow quickly from seed and be in bloom this summer. Two other big plants for background are Hibiscus moscheutos, with huge flowers ten inches across, and the plant listed in catalogues (usually under Hibiscus) as Sunset Hibiscus, Golden Bowl. This one is yellow.

Car Industry Has Large 'Spy' Ring

DETROIT (UPI)—The auto industry operates one of the largest espionage setups in the world outside of official government circles.

Right now almost any auto company could tell you—but won't—what its competitors have on the drawing boards for 1962.

All of the auto companies are making advertising plans and adjustments in their own products to offset the innovations their competitors plan for 1961, secrets which will not be revealed to the public until next fall.

For example, last fall Ford came out with an advertisement showing how an arrow weighted in the rear went astray while an arrow weighted in the front went directly to the target.

The advertisement, which took several months of preparation, appeared just before Chevrolet introduced its new Corvair, with the engine in the rear.

Ford knew far in advance of the public introduction of the Corvair that it would have the engine in the rear and planned its advertising campaign accordingly.

If competing companies know about another company's product and advance information will hurt the other company's sales, why doesn't the highly-competitive auto industry reveal all it knows about the opposition?

One answer is fear of retaliation. Another is that it would be like advertising their competitors' product once it is introduced. And a third is that they may have some misinformation.

This happened to Ford three years ago.

At a press preview of the 1957 Fords, that company suddenly decided to show its retractable hardtop convertible to reporters. The very next day, Chevrolet announced its new fuel injection system at a press conference.

Neither development was a complete surprise. Ford had had the retractable on the planning boards for years and everybody saw fuel injection on experimental engines before it was introduced.

But Ford hurried its decision to show the retractable because of some stray piece of misinformation that Chevrolet was planning to unveil something really startling the day after the Ford introduction.

The industry's spies—many of them former FBI agents who joined the auto industry for higher pay—seldom miss, however.

Demonstration Clubs Honored

By AUDREY DAWSON

Members of the 24 Home Demonstration Clubs of Ouachita Parish are joining women from 50 states and Puerto Rico in celebrating National Home Demonstration Week May 1-7. The theme of the week is, "Today's Home Builds Tomorrow's World." This theme is most fitting for this occasion because the family is the basic unit of society. A better world in the future, therefore depends on better living in the home and other developments that help to build better citizens.

Through their clubs, homemakers not only learn about better methods of homemaking but also learn citizenship by playing an active role in community life. Club members will pay tribute to the Home Demonstration organization through club gatherings, window displays, radio broadcasts, workshops, news releases and family get togethers.

DRESS CONTEST

As a part of the celebration of National Home Demonstration Week club women in Ouachita will hold the annal dress contest at the agricultural building in West Monroe, Saturday, May 7, at 9:00 a.m.

The dresses are due in the office not later than 4:30 Thursday afternoon, May 5. Home Demonstration Club women be sure that your club is represented in the dress revue.

GARDENING

There are many jobs at this time of the year. You can separate violets clumps into single stems after blooming. They like rich well drained soil, plenty of water and sunshine; spray or dust roses weekly to control aphids and blackspot. One of the older materials, Black Leaf 40, or nicotine sulphate is one of the best to use for control of aphids. Malathion and Lindane are two of the newer materials that are effective in the control of aphids.

Chemicals which are effective in controlling Blackspot are Bordeaux mixture, Fermate, Dithane, and Tribasic copper sulphate.

AGENT'S SCHEDULE

Yours truly will meet the 24 Home Demonstration Clubs this month and give the homemakers a demonstration on cleaning upholstery and carpets. The schedule for the meetings are: May 3-9:30 a.m., Better Homemaker at Mrs. J. C. Coon; 1:30 p.m., Okaloosa at Mrs. C. K. Brooks; May 4, 9:30 Cadeville at Mrs. Harold Roberts; 12:30, Colony at Forsythe Park - May 5, 9:30 Progressive at Mrs. Rowe Harrell; 2:00 p.m. Watson at Mrs. Nettie Jones - May 6, 2:00 Woodlawn at Mrs. John W. IRON

The infant [illegible] anemia mother frequently shares the mother's iron deficiency. The more severe the anemia, the more this is reflected in the infant at birth. To protect infants from iron deficiency anemia later on, mothers-to-be are cautioned to eat foods rich in iron — liver, enriched and whole grain bread and cereals, red meats, egg yolks and green vegetables.

A THOUGHT — Great opportunities come to those who make the most of the small ones.

Women Enjoy Status

NEW YORK (UPI)—American woman enjoy a period of highest status as contributing members of society between the ages of 20 and 50 years.

A new report from the United States Senate Subcommittee on Problems of the Aged and Aging shows that during these years of child-bearing and child-rearing, "the average woman feels that she is accomplishing—and looks her best."

The report is based on an analysis of expert testimony given during recent subcommittee hearings.

What happens at the half-century mark is this: Children become independent and leave home. But that's not all. Loss of a spouse frequently occurs at this crucial time. And the shrinking of family circle frequently is accompanied by a dip in income.

As a result, increasing loneliness and poverty quickly tarnish the so-called "golden years."

The report shows that many of the older women are in "dire financial straits." Half of the elderly women with income received less than $741 in 1957.

The income in many cases is short of the cost of living. An elderly woman living in rented quarters in an average urban area needs about $1,200 a year for a modest but adequate level of living, the subcommittee reported.

In New York City an elderly woman living alone needs $1,600 a year because of higher living costs.

But an elderly woman living in the household of one of her children needs money, too. She needs between $850 and $900 a year.

The subcommittee report shows that aged widows are the most seriously "impoverished" sector of the aged population.

Several factors contribute to the dilemma of the widows. For example — company pensions usually end with the death of the husband; widows receive three-fourths of husband's full social security payments upon their spouse's death.

U.S. Health Standards Are Viewed

NEW YORK (UPI)—U.S. health care standards during the next decade will depend in large measure upon increasing the number of qualified nurses by raising the economic standards of the nursing profession.

Some 7,000 delegates to the five-day American Nursing Assn., (ANA) convention beginning Sunday in Miami Beach will discuss the wages problem and other key issues in an effort to achieve coherent and effective national policies.

This question of raising the wages of nurses is a unique problem in collective bargaining which the ANA hopes to demonstrate as vital to the public interest.

Persuasion, the public's good will and public relations are the only bargaining approaches or avenues open to the organization within the existing framework of the Taft-Hartley law and state and local regulations governing any wage negotiations.

Mrs. Judith Whitaker, executive secretary of the ANA, explained here that a more competitive labor market and the practical and hardheaded economic concern of possible future members of the nursing profession are necessitating this revision of existing economic standards.

"Today, in hospitals alone, 11 per cent of all R.N. positions budgeted for are unfilled, and we anticipate a steadily increasing demand for more nurses," she said.

The problem is further complicated, Mrs. Whitaker said, because of the shortage of qualified teachers and the lack of adequate funds for traineeships necessary to prepare these persons for teaching and administrative posts.

"Today's nurs s need more education than ever before," she said. "The advance of medical an nursing techniques requires much more specialized knowledge.

Presbyterians Hear About Church Giving

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Southern Presbyterians at their general assembly were informed Friday church giving in 1959 climbed to $88,330,000, an all-time high.

The figure was contained in a report issued by Dr. James A. Millard Jr., of Atlanta, stated clerk of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S.

The 1959 total was approximately six million dollars more than 1958's previous high of $82,603,791.

Ad interim and standing committees met Friday on various church policy matters as the 100th General Assembly went into its second day.

Presbyterians Set Statewide Women's School

Dates for the annual Louisiana training school for women of the Presbyterian Church throughout the state were set for May 9-13 at Silliman College in Clinton, it was announced yesterday.

The weekend conference was slated for May 14 and 15, according to Mrs. Carl Conrad, New Orleans, synodical president.

Platform speaker for the school will be Dr. William M. Logan, pastor of the University Presbyterian Church, Austin, Texas. Dr. John Melton, Baton Rouge, will lead in a study of the Book of Philippians.

Registration for the statewide school will be held from 2-5 p.m. Monday, May 9. Dormitory rooms will be available Friday for the weekend conference.

Monroe Pastor, Wife, To Attend Churchwide Meet

Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Blair, Central Assembly of God Church will leave here today to attend the International Sunday School Convention for Assemblies of God Churches to be held this week in Minneapolis, Minn.

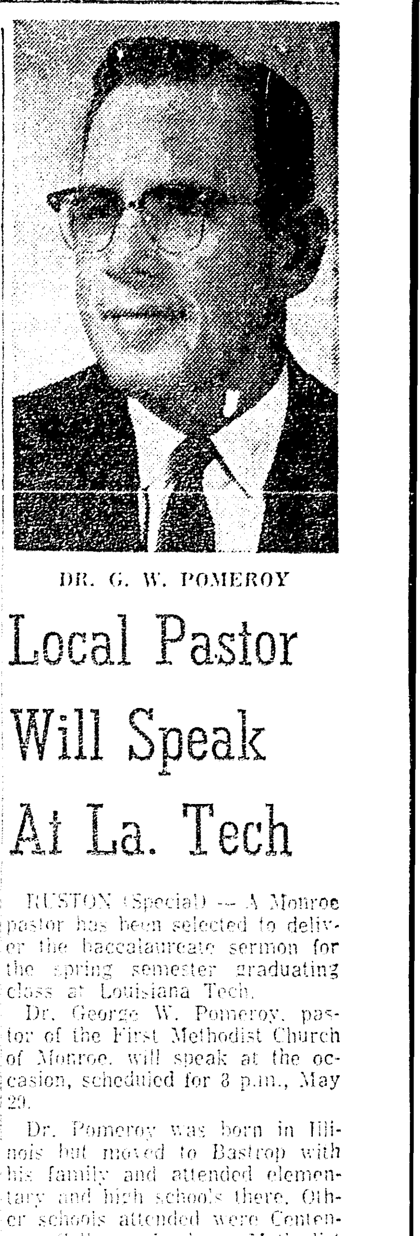
At the convention, Miss Billie Davis, internationally known religious writer, will be the feature speaker. Her biography appeared in Readers Digest in a recent issue.

JOKE COMES TRUE

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. (AP) — A set of phony orders, drafted as a gag, convinced a Navy man assigned to the Military Air Transport Service that he was being reassigned to Antarctica.

Before he learned it was a joke, Chief Journalist Leo G. Loftus spent a week assembling cold weather gear.

Then his real orders arrived—assigning him to the Navy's Antarctic task force.



DR. G. W. POMEROY

Local Pastor Will Speak At La. Tech

RUSTON (Special) — A Monroe pastor has been selected to deliver the baccalaureate sermon for the spring semester graduating class at Louisiana Tech.

Dr. George W. Pomeroy, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Monroe, will speak at the occasion, scheduled for 8 p.m., May 29.

Dr. Pomeroy was born in Illinois but moved to Bastrop with his family and attended elementary and high schools there. Other schools attended were Centenary College, Southern Methodist University, and the University of Chicago. He received his B. D. degree from Yale University.

Since joining the Louisiana Conference of his church in 1929, Dr. Pomeroy has served in New Orleans, Delhi, Oakdale, DeRidder, Crowley, Bogalusa, Minden, Ruston and Monroe.

He attended the seventh Ecumenical Conference of the Methodist Church in Springfield, Massachusetts in 1952. He also served as chairman of the board of trustees and building committee for the church's camp on Caney Lake near Minden.

Dr. Pomeroy is married to the former Lillie Mae McQuaid of Baton Rouge. They reside with their daughter, Pamela, at 1303 Speed avenue in Monroe.

Today Is Feast Of St. Joseph For Catholics

Today, May Day, will be observed in honor of St. Joseph, the Worker, in the Catholic Church, according to the Rev. Michael Hannon of St. Joseph's Church, Monroe.

In Catholic churches throughout the free world, prayers will be offered for those under the Communist rule. The special day was begun in 1955, by the late Pope Pius XII, for all Christians to "dedicate their work" to St. Joseph.

The day serves as a reminder to Catholics to place duty above personal desire, consider work an honor, and develop God-given gifts through labor, Father Hannon said.

At 9:45 a.m., parishioners will attend a May crowning at the church on Benton Street.

Why You Should Choose a
Hammond Organ
for Your Church

When you are ready to choose an organ, remember that a Hammond Organ offers your church the best value.

Over 40,000 churches have chosen a Hammond Organ: because only a Hammond Organ has:

- A far greater range of true church tones than any other organ.
- "Living" cathedral-like tones for any enclosure.
- No tuning expense—only a Hammond can't get out of tune.
- Easy to play.
- Rich percussion effects of chimes, bells, celeste, marimba, and others.

U.S. Health Standards Are Viewed

NEW YORK (UPI)—U.S. health care standards during the next decade will depend in large measure upon increasing the number of qualified nurses by raising the economic standards of the nursing profession.

Some 7,000 delegates to the five-day American Nursing Assn., (ANA) convention beginning Sunday in Miami Beach will discuss the wages problem and other key issues in an effort to achieve coherent and effective national policies.

This question of raising the wages of nurses is a unique problem in collective bargaining which the ANA hopes to demonstrate as vital to the public interest.

Persuasion, the public's good will and public relations are the only bargaining approaches or avenues open to the organization within the existing framework of the Taft-Hartley law and state and local regulations governing any wage negotiations.

Mrs. Judith Whitaker, executive secretary of the ANA, explained here that a more competitive labor market and the practical and hardheaded economic concern of possible future members of the nursing profession are necessitating this revision of existing economic standards.

"Today, in hospitals alone, 11 per cent of all R.N. positions budgeted for are unfilled, and we anticipate a steadily increasing demand for more nurses," she said.

The problem is further complicated, Mrs. Whitaker said, because of the shortage of qualified teachers and the lack of adequate funds for traineeships necessary to prepare these persons for teaching and administrative posts.

"Today's nurses need more education than ever before," she said. "The advance of medical and nursing techniques requires much more specialized knowledge.

Presbyterians Hear About Church Giving

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Southern Presbyterians at their general assembly were informed Friday church giving in 1959 climbed to $88,339,900, an all-time high.

The figure was contained in a report issued by Dr. James A. Millard Jr., of Atlanta, stated clerk of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S.

The 1959 total was approximately six million dollars more than 1958's previous high of $82,603,791.

Ad interim and standing committees met Friday on various church policy matters as the 100th General Assembly went into its second day.

Presbyterians Set Statewide Women's School

Dates for the annual Louisiana training school for women of the Presbyterian Church throughout the state were set for May 9-13 at Silliman College in Clinton, it was announced yesterday.

The weekend conference was slated for May 14 and 15, according to Mrs. Carl Conrad, New Orleans, synodical president.

Platform speaker for the school will be Dr. William M. Logan, pastor of the University Presbyterian Church, Austin, Texas. Dr. John Melton, Baton Rouge, will lead in a study of the Book of Philippians.

Registration for the statewide school will be held from 2-5 p.m. Monday, May 9. Dormitory rooms will be available Friday for the weekend conference.

Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Blair, Central Assembly of God Church will leave here today to attend the International Sunday School Convention for Assemblies of God Churches to be held this week in Minneapolis, Minn.

The convention will include around 12,000 delegates from churches in America, Europe, Asia, and the Pacific Islands, Rev. Blair said.

Rev. and Mrs. Blair will return to Monroe for services next week.

At the convention, Miss Billie Davis, internationally known religious writer, will be the feature speaker. Her biography appeared in Readers Digest in a recent issue.

JOKE COMES TRUE

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. (AP) — A set of phony orders, drafted as a gag, convinced a Navy man assigned to the Military Air Transport Service that he was being reassigned to Antarctica.

Before he learned it was a joke, Chief Journalist Leo G. Loftus spent a week assembling cold weather gear.

Then his real orders arrived—assigning him to the Navy's Antarctic task force.

DR. G. W. POMEROY

Local Pastor Will Speak At La. Tech

RUSTON (Special) — A Monroe pastor has been selected to deliver the baccalaureate sermon for the spring semester graduating class at Louisiana Tech.

Dr. George W. Pomeroy, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Monroe, will speak at the occasion, scheduled for 8 p.m., May 29.

Dr. Pomeroy was born in Illinois but moved to Bastrop with his family and attended elementary and high schools there. Other schools attended were Centenary College, Southern Methodist University, and the University of Chicago. He received his B. D. degree from Yale University.

Since joining the Louisiana Conference of his church in 1929, Dr. Pomeroy has served in New Orleans, Delhi, Oakdale, DeRidder, Crowley, Bogalusa, Minden, Ruston and Monroe.

He attended the seventh Ecumenical Conference of the Methodist Church in Springfield, Massachusetts in 1952. He also served as chairman of the board of trustees and building committee for the church's camp on Caney Lake near Minden.

Dr. Pomeroy is married to the former Lillie Mae McQuaid of Baton Rouge. They reside with their daughter, Pamela, at 1303 Speed avenue in Monroe.

Today Is Feast Of St. Joseph For Catholics

Today, May Day, will be observed in honor of St. Joseph, the Worker, in the Catholic Church, according to the Rev. Michael Hannon of St. Joseph's Church, Monroe.

In Catholic churches throughout the free world, prayers will be offered for those under the Communist rule. The special day was begun in 1955, by the late Pope Pius XII, for all Christians to "dedicate their work" to St. Joseph.

The day serves as a reminder to Catholics to place duty above personal desire, consider work an honor, and develop God-given gifts through labor, Father Hannon said.

At 9:45 a.m., parishioners will attend a May crowning at the church on Benton Street.

Why You Should Choose a
Hammond Organ
for Your Church

When you are ready to choose an organ, remember that a Hammond Organ offers your church the best value.

Over 40,000 churches have chosen a Hammond Organ: because only a Hammond Organ has:

- A far greater range of true church tones than any other organ.
- "Living" cathedral-like tones for any enclosure.
- No tuning expense—only a Hammond can't get out of tune.
- Easy to play.
- Rich percussion effects of chimes, bells, celeste, marimba, and others.

Styrons Run 3-4; Indians Divide Pair

Don 3rd Behind Davis, Southern

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Four meet records, including a 63 foot 11½ inch shotput by Bill Neider in a grudge match, were fashioned Saturday in the 51st Drake Relays.

Neider vanquished Olympic champion and world record holder Parry O'Brien in an AAU shot event which grabbed the spotlight before 14,000 fans, who shivered in a windy, 45-degree temperature in Drake Stadium.

The winning toss, however, was nearly a foot and a half under Nieder's 65-7 heave in the Texas Relays earlier this spring.

Dallas Long, who also has exceeded O'Brien's listed mark, wasn't participating in the duel here.

Nieder, former Kansan now an Army lieutenant, topped O'Brien by over 10 inches in a three-man showdown previewing the U.S. prospects in the Olympic shotput at Rome this summer.

O'Brien's best was 63-1¼ on his first of six turns, a shade under his listed world mark of 63-4. Another shotput giant, Dave Davis, 280-pound Californian, finished third with [illegible].

The other meet records came [illegible] a 3:12.2 clocking by Con[illegible] and Michigan in the college mile relay, and the first Drake running of the 5,000-meter event, won by former Minnesota star Buddy Edelen in 14:38.7.

Kansas and Illinois each won two relays events, while East Texas State of Commerce, Tex., copped three baton titles in the college division.

However, Kansas also came up with a repeating champion in the [illegible] as Bill Alley won with [illegible].

The Drake mark in the special AAU shot put event was 63-4¼, set by O'Brien in 1954.

O'Brien, who holds the current world mark of 63-4, had been called the "Los Angeles dodger" by Nieder prior to this grudge meeting. O'Brien had charged that Nieder, who tossed the shot 65 feet 7 inches at the Texas Relays earlier this spring, couldn't win the big meets.

Lt. Nieder, who had two scratches in his six turns Saturday also had tosses of 62-8½, 63-10, and 63-3. O'Brien, after his opening 63-1¼, tossed 61-6½, 60-7, 61-11, 61-6¾, and scratched his final turn.

Only Dallas Long was missing in Saturday's preview of what Uncle Sam can expect in the summer Olympic Games at Rome.

A special AAU 440 dash was won by Glen Davis, former Ohio State star and the world's quarter-mile record holder, in :47.4. Davis won by 4 yards over Texan Eddie Southern, 1959 NCAA champion but his time was well behind his own Drake mark of :46.5 and his world mark of :45.7.

While attention focused on the big AAU shot put showdown, Oklahoma's Mike Lindsay retained his shot put title in the univeristy division with 56-10½, eight inches behind his 1959 Drake record.

Minnesota's Dave Odegard scissored to a fine :13.9 victory in the 120 high hurdles, just one-tenth of a second slower than the Drake mark. This was well below the Olympic qualifying standard of :14.4. Leading midway in the race, Ralph Boston of Tennessee A&I, broke strike by knocking over the seventh hurdle and had to quit. Odegard won by a stride over Ray Cunningham of Texas.

Illinois captured the university distance medley in 5:59.5, almost 10 seconds behind the meet record, as Ken Brown staved off Abilene Christian's Tom O'Neal on the anchor mile to win by 4 yards.

The 100-yard dash produced a hot battle between Kansas' Charlie Tidwell, 1959 NCAA champion, and Baylor's Ray Knaub. The race was won by Tidwell in :09.5, a tenth of a second over the Drake mark. Tidwell, leading most of the way, was almost caught by Knaub at the tape.

The defending high jump champion, W. L. Thornton of Texas Tech, was unseated by Charles Lewis of Grambling (La.) College with a so-so winning effort of 6-3½. Thornton shared in a four-way for second at 6-3½.

East Texas State won its second relay of the meet and matched its own Drake record in the college quarter mile relay.

The Test Texas quarter of John West, James Baird, Fred Schaefer and Sidney Garton, was time in :41.1, also its record last year. East Texas State also captured the college half-mile relay with 1:25.9 and Friday won the college sprint medley in 3:23.7.

Hurdles Cancelled

DES MOINES, Iowa (Special) — Speedy Northeast Louisiana's Don and Dave Styron finished third and fourth in a special AAU 440-yard dash at the Drake Relays Saturday.

Don was clocked in 48 seconds flat for third and Dave ran the distance in 48.2 for fourth in the star-studded attraction.

Dave had taken an early lead in the race but was unable to hold off such great runners as world record holder Glen Davis, formerly of Ohio State, and Eddie Southern, AAU and NCAA 440 champion formerly of Texas.

Davis won the race in :47.4. Southern was clocked in 47.9 for second beating out Don Styron by half a step.

The other entrants were Dave Mills of Purdue, who finished fifth, and Orlando Hazley, former Oklahoma State runner who was last in the six-man invitational field.

A planned 220-yard low hurdles race in which Don Styron was to have competed was cancelled when no opponents could be found for the Northeast star, who bettered the world record with a 21.9 clocking several weeks ago.

Neville To Play St. John's Club In Monday Tilt

Neville's district 2-AA champions will play St. John's at Shreveport Monday afternoon in a first-round state playoff game, Neville Coach Charley Brown said yesterday.

The game will be played at 3 o'clock in Betty Virginia Park. The two teams are scheduled to be in Monroe Thursday for a possible doubleheader beginning at 1:30. The playoff series is slated for two out of three games.

St. John's won 10 games, lost five and played two ties with Springhill. The Shreveport team defeated Springhill in a playoff for the district 1-AA title, 7-2.

Neville won four games and lost two during the regular season.

Brown said Neville's scheduled game with Ouachita, slated for Monday, had been cancelled because of the playoff date.

Fraser Ousted By MacKay In Dallas Meet

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Barry McKay of Dayton, Ohio, weathered a tricky wind and a strong game by top-seeded Neale Fraser Saturday to eliminate the Australian star from the Dallas Country Club Tennis Tournament.

The victory moved the big Ohioan into Sunday's final against Bernard (Tut) Bartzen of Dallas.

MacKay, seeded third here despite a straight set victory over Fraser in last week's River Oaks finals at Houston, won this time, 2-6, 7-5, 6-1.

Bartzen, No. 2 seed, had less trouble with young Karl Buchholz Jr. of St. Louis, playing smoothly for a 6-3, 7-5 victory.

The second-seeded doubles team of MacKay and Bartzen advanced to the finals against top-seeded Fraser and fellow Australian Roy Emerson. MacKay and Bartzen turned back Buchholz and Chuck McKinley of St. Louis, 2-6 7-5, 6-3.

Fraser and Emerson also experienced early troubles but finished strong to down Bill Wright and Tommy Howorth of Southern Methodist, 6-8, 6-2, 6-2.

Quartet Stars As Lobos Win At Colorado

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—New Mexico's speedy quartet of Jim Stewart, Jim Whitefield, Dick Howard and Adolph Plummer swept to victories in the 440, 880 and mile relays and the Lobos won the 36th Colorado Relays Saturday.

New Mexico's triumph snapped a five-year winning streak by Colorado, which finished second. Team scores, based on relay events only, were New Mexico 18, Colorado 12, Air Force 11, Kansas State 9, Colorado State University 8, Southern Methodist 7 and Denver 1.

Kansas State won the 2-mile relay, Air Force the 1-mile team race and Southern Methodist the distance medley.

SMU set the only relay record with a time of 10 minutes 27.2 seconds for the distance medley. The old mark was 10:30.8 by Colorado last year.

San Francisco Defeats Los Angeles, 6-3

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Explosive Willie McCovey unloaded two homers Saturday night and drove in three runs as the San Francisco Giants defeated Los Angeles 6-3 before 85,065.

Billy O'Dell, Stu Miller and Billy Loes combined to stop the world champions on five hits as the Giants kept Los Angeles ace Don Drysdale from turning in his fifth straight complete game. He now is 3-2.

The victory was richly relished revenge for the Giants, who committed three straight errors in blowing a 10-2 decision Friday night.

McCovey, who contributed a run-scoring throwing error to Friday's debacle, ran his league-leading RBI total to 21 with his two homers. He sliced his sixth homer of the season over the left field screen with the bases empty in the second and drove the ball over the right field fence in the fifth with Willie Mays aboard.

Mays, on with a double, has hit safely at least once in all of San Francisco's 15 games this year. He also got a single.

McCovey barely missed getting a third homer in the ninth when Wally Moon hauled down his 360-foot drive near the fence in left center.

Ed Bressoud and Jim Marshall also homered for the Giants, Bessoud with one man on and Marshall with the bases empty.

Catcher Joe Pignatano, starting for the first time this season, produced the first Los Angeles run with a homer off O'Dell in the fifth. Don Demeter drove in the other two with a homer off Miller in the ninth.

O'Dell, now 1-2, had to retire after five innings because of a sore finger on his pitching hand.

Miller, who has repeatedly baffled the Dodgers with his assortment of junk, surrendered only two hits in the four innings he worked.

Drysdale gave up five of the San Francisco runs and four of the five Giant homers in the five innings he worked.

The victory kept the Giants a game and half back of league-leading Pittsburgh and dropped the Dodgers 3½ games off the pace.

Yanks Interested In Sharing Park

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees said Saturday they would be interested in sharing Yankee Stadium with a National League team on a permanent basis but ruled out any part-time occupancy.

The Yanks revealed they had been approached by an unidentified National League team during the winter about playing some National League games at the Stadium. They said they were not interested. It was reported Cincinnati was the interested team.

"There are no definite negotiations at this time for moving a National Lague team to Yankee Stadium," said a Yankee official who was quoted by Bob Fishel, Yank publicity man, in Baltimore. "We were approached during the winter but the Yankees said they were not interested. The Yankees thought that would not be practical. However, we would listen to and discuss the possibility of a move to Yankee Stadium on a permanent basis."

The New York World-Telegram and Sun said Saturday a National League team is trying to work out a deal to play some of its 1960 games at the Stadium. Cincinnati, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh were mentioned as possibilities.

Gabe Paul, Cincinnati general manager, said the Reds would play all of their 1960 games in Cincinnati. He made no other comment on the report that transfer negotiations were under way except to add, "We have a schedule of games which indicate where our home games will be played and we will follow the schedule."

A spokesman for the Phillies said "this is the first I've heard of such a suggestion, at least so far as we're concerned. And it doesn't sound right to me."

Joe Brown, Pittsburgh general manager, said there was no foundation to any report that the Pirates might play in the Stadium.

In Cincinnati, Warren Giles, National League president, said no such idea of transferring games to New York ever had been suggested to him. He said it would require unanimous approval of all the clubs in the league and "no such approval ever has been asked."

There is precedent for playing games in another city. Before the Dodgers moved to Los Angeles, they did play several "home" games in Jersey City.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said he had heard nothing of any plan to move games in the Stadium and added, "It seems to me like kind of a pipe dream." Frick pointed out that such a move would require the approval of both leagues and the commissioner.

"I would have to give it a whale of a lot of thought before I could approve it, if I were asked," he said.

Bally Ache Triumphs In Stone Purse

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Bally Ache limbered his swift legs on the Kentucky Derby racing strip Saturday with a three-length victory over rival Venetian Way in the Stepping Stone Purse.

In the $10,000 added Oaks Prep, which shared top billing on Churchill Downs' opening day program, Rash Statement romped home ahead of seven other 3-year-old fillies.

L. D. Fruchtman's Bally Ache, with Bob Ussery in the saddle, went the 7-furlong Stepping Stone course in 1:22 3-5 over a good track—three-fifths of a second off the track record.

Llangollen Farm's Divine Comedy, who broke on top, finished third.

There was no show betting and Bally Ache returned $3.40 and $2.20 in the $5,000 added event. Sunny Blue Farm's Venetian Way paid $2.20.

Bill Hartack put Venetian Way under the whip as they turned into the stretch but Bally Ache finished going away after leading almost from the start.

Both horses carried 122 pounds, 4 less than Derby weight, over the course which was three eighths of a mile shorter than the Derby route.

Eagle Admiral, regarded as another challenger to Tompion and Bally Ache in next Saturday's Run for the Roses, was scratched. In fourth place was W.S. Miller's Stephen and last was Victor Sheridan's filly, Sandy Flower.

In the Oaks Prep Louis Haggin's favored Tingle finished second in a photo with Marikay. Rash Statement paid $17.20, $6.40 and $4.20. Tingle paid $3.60 and $3.00 and Marikay returned $6.20.

460-FOOT HOME RUN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Milwaukee's slugging Joe Adcock is the first right-handed batter to hit a home run over the scoreboard in right center in Connie Mack Stadium. The clout went about 460 feet and well above the 65-foot high wall. It came against Curt Simmons in Philadelphia's home opener before a capacity crowd of 32,038.

Left-handed hitters who have belted balls over that spot are Phil catcher Carl Sawatski and Braves' lef fielder Wes Covington.

O'Connor's Shot Wins First Game

By BOB ANDERSON
World Sports Editor

Northeast and Northwestern, a pair of brilliant-and-bad Gulf States Conference baseball clubs, divided a doubleheader here Saturday, Northeast's Indians taking the first game in an extra inning on John O'Connor's home run, 3-1, and the Demons snapping a nine-game losing streak to salvage the nightcap, 7-2.

Soft-throwing Jerry Rouse and hard - hitting O'Connor combined to hang the opening loss on Northwestern, Rouse effectively scattering seven hits while O'Connor got two of Northeast's three safeties off Bobby Welch to drive in all three runs.

Northwestern combed two Indian hurlers for 10 hits in the second game as righthander Danny Ivey picked up his fifth mound victory against three losses. Shortstop Nick D'Amico drove in three runs for the Demons, center fielder Ralph Conrad went 3-4 while collecting two hits.

The games, last to be played on the Northeast diamond, left Northeast with a 4-5 conference mark and an 8-11 record. Northwestern is now 6-4 in the GSC and 10-11 overall.

Work is scheduled to begin this week on a cafeteria to occupy the present Northeast diamond site. Northeast will play its remaining home games at another field, probably Legion Stadium.

The split enabled Northwestern to take over second place in the Gulf States race behind Louisiana Tech, which won two from Southeastern yesterday. Tech is 8-2 in the league, Northwestern 6-4, Southeastern 3-4, Northeast 4-5, SLI 2-6 and McNeese 2-6.

The first game was one of the best played of the year here. Rouse allowed seven hits to three for Welch but slick fielding pulled him out of several jams. Indian shortstop Phil Petras was outstanding afield, starting the tilt's only double play, and third sacker Ronnie Sims turned in the gem of the day with a leaping grab of Knotts' line drive in the fifth.

The second game was not so sharp. A total of seven errors were committed, four by Northeast and three by Northwestern.

Northeast took a 1-0 lead in the first frame of the first game when Mickey Yerger walked, stole second and came home on O'Connor's single up the middle.

Hard - luck Welch didn't allow the Indians another hit until the sixth when Petras doubled with two gone. Northwestern, meanwhile, tied up the contest with a run in the fourth when Welch's sacrifice fly scored O'Brien Smith, who had singled, gone to second on Rouse's throwing error and to third on a fielder's choice.

After Petras had doubled in the sixth, Welch retired George Bryan on a tap back to the mound to end the frame. He gave up a walk in the seventh but no more.

Northwestern threatened in the sixth when Ralph Conrad led off with a double. Smith, who singled twice, was walked intentionally and the move paid off when, after Houston Cade had fanned for the first out, D'Amico hit into a double play, Petras to McGowen to Bryan, to end the frame. The Demons got two more on in the seventh on a single and walk but Rouse got catcher Mickey Mills to bounce to third to end it.

Welch retired Yerger on a grounder to first to open the Northeast half of the eighth. But Kincaid walked and gained second when catcher Mickey Mills threw wide in a pickoff attempt.

Speedy Ralph Ward came in to run for Kincaid but he didn't get a chance to use his speed. O'Connor allowed him to trot home when he blasted a 2-2 Welch pitch over the right field fence to win the game.

O'Connor's homer was the fourth of the year for the all-GSC backstop. He went 4-7 for the day to boost his average to .353. Northeast's other leading hitter, Phil Petras, went 2-6 to maintain a sizzling .400 pace average.

Northeast got off to a 1-0 advantage in the second inning of the nightcap. O'Connor led off the frame with a swinging bunt single and stole second. Petras flied out but Bryan drew a walk. Levy Redden flied out for the second out before Ronnie Sims hit a bouncer to second. Knotts threw to second in trying for a double play but umpire Jackie Neal rulled shortstop D'Amico was not in possession of the ball when he kicked the bag. Bryan was safe but took off for third on D'Amico's throw to first in a try for Sims. Bryan was caught in a rundown between second and third but O'Connor scored during the play.

Northwestern tied it up in the third. George Fisher walked, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored on Ivey's single. The Demons chased Lockwood in the fourth. Conrad singled with one down, Smith walked and both runners advanced on a wild pitch.

Fisher [illegible] to second for the second out but D'Amico smashed a single to score both runners and went on to second on Lou Kincaid's bobble of his hit in left. Collins relieved Lockwood but Sims' booted one at third to score D'Amico with the third run of the frame, biggest one - inning total of the year for Cracker Brown's club.

The Demons racked Collins for three more in the sixth. Singles by Conrad, D'Amico and Knotts and a pair of walks produced the runs.

Northeast revived to rally in the seventh. McGowen got aboard on a fielder's choice with two out. Yerger drove him to third with a single and Julian Vienne's throwing error plated the tally.

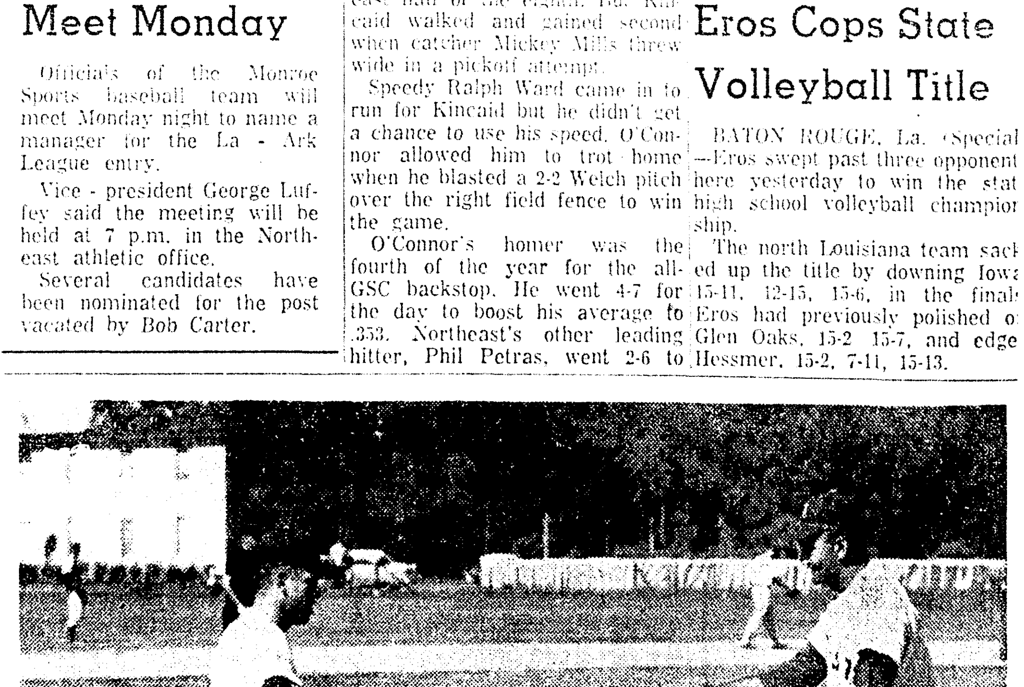
Eros Cops State Volleyball Title

BATON ROUGE, La. (Special) —Eros swept past three opponents here yesterday to win the state high school volleyball championship.

The north Louisiana team sacked up the title by downing Iowa 15-11, 12-15, 15-6, in the finals. Eros had previously polished off Glen Oaks, 15-2 15-7, and edged Hessmer, 15-2, 7-11, 15-13.



NORTHEAST CATCHER John O'Connor (left) heads for home and a handshake from Coach George Luffey after walloping a game-winning home run over the right field fence in the 8th against Northwestern here yesterday. The blow gave the Indians a 3-1 nod over the Demons in the first game of a doubleheader. Northwestern won the second tilt, 7-2. (Staff photo by Bill Coleman)

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Four meet records, including a 63 foot 11½ inch shotput by Bill Neider in a graduge match, were fashioned Saturday in the 1st Drake Relays.

Neider vanquished Olympic champion and world record-holder Parry O'Brien in an AAU shot event which grabbed the spotlight before 14,000 fans, who shivered in windy, 45-degree temperature in Drake Stadium.

The winning toss, however, was nearly a foot and a half under Nieder's 65-7 heave in the Texas Relays earlier this spring.

Dallas Long, who also has exceeded O'Brien's listed mark, wasn't participating in the duel here.

Nieder, former Kansan now an Army lieutenant, topped O'Brien by over 10 inches in a three-man showdown previewing the U.S. prospects in the Olympic shotput at Rome this summer.

O'Brien's best was 63-1¼ on his first of six turns, a shade under his listed world mark of 63-4. Another shotput giant Dave Davis, 260-pound Californian, finished third with 61-9¼.

The other meet records came in the pole vault with a 15 foot ½ inch leap by J.D. Martin of Oklahoma; a 3:12.2 clocking by Central Michigan in the college mile relay; and the first Drake running of the 5,000-meter event, won by former Minnesota star Buddy Edelen in 14:35.7.

Kansas and Illinois each won two relays events, while East Texas State of Commerce, Tex., copped three baton titles in the college division.

However, Kansas also came up with a repeating champion in the javelin as Bill Alley won with 238-5.

The Drake mark in the special AAU shot put event was 59-9¾, set by O'Brien in 1954.

O'Brien, who holds the current world mark of 63-4, had been called the "Los Angeles dodger" by Nieder prior to this grudge meeting. O'Brien had charged that Nieder, who tossed the shot 65 feet 7 inches at the Texas Relays earlier this spring, couldn't win the big meets.

Lt. Nieder, who had two scratches in his six turns Saturday also had tosses of 62-8½, 63-10, and 63-8. O'Brien, after his opening 63-1¼, tossed 61-6½, 60-7, 61-11, 61-6¾, and scratched his final turn.

Only Dallas Long was missing in Saturday's preview of what Uncle Sam can expect in the summer Olympic Games at Rome.

A special AAU 440 dash was won by Glen Davis, former Ohio State star and the world's quarter-mile record holder, in :47.4. Davis won by 4 yards over Texan Eddie Southern, 1959 NCAA champion but his time was well behind his own Drake mark of :46.5 and his world mark of :45.7.

While attention focused on the big AAU shot put showdown, Oklahoma's Mike Lindsay retained his shot put title in the univeristy division with 56-10½, eight inches behind his 1959 Drake record.

Minnesota's Dave Odegard scissored to a fine :13.9 victory in the 120 high hurdles, just one-tenth of a second slower than the Drake mark. This was well below the Olympic qualifying standard of :14.4. Leading midway in the race, Ralph Boston of Tennessee A&I, broke strike by knocking over the seventh hurdle and had to quit. Odegard won by a stride over Ray Cunningham of Texas.

Illinois captured the university distance medley in 5:59.5, almost 10 seconds behind the meet record, as Ken Brown staved off Abilene Christian's Tom O'Neal on the anchor mile to win by 4 yards.

The 100-yard dash produced a hot battle between Kansas' Charlie Tidwell, 1959 NCAA champion, and Baylor's Ray Knaub. The race was won by Tidwell in :09.5, a tenth of a second over the Drake mark. Tidwell, leading most of the way, was almost caught by Knaub at the tape.

The defending high jump champion, W. L. Thornton of Texas Tech, was unseated by Charles Lewis of Grambling (La.) College with a so-so winning effort of 6-5½. Thornton shared in a four-way for second at 6-3½.

East Texas State won its second relay of the meet and matched its own Drake record in the college quarter mile relay.

The Test Texas quarter of John West, James Baird, Fred Schaefer and Sidney Garton, was time in :41.1, also its record last year. East Texas State also captured the college half-mile relay with 1:25.9 and Friday won the college sprint medley in 3:23.7.

Hurdles Cancelled

DES MOINES, Iowa (Special) — Speedy Northeast Louisiana State twins Don and Dave Styron finished third and fourth in a special AAU 440-yard dash at the Drake Relays Saturday.

Don was clocked in 48 seconds flat for third and Dave ran the distance in 48.2 for fourth in the star-studded attraction.

Dave had taken an early lead in the race but was unable to hold off such great runners as world record holder Glen Davis, formerly of Ohio State, and Eddie Southern, AAU and NCAA 440 champion formerly of Texas.

Davis won the race in :47.4 Southern was clocked in 47.9 for second, beating out Don Styron by half a step.

The twins outran Dave Mills of Purdue, who finished fifth, and Orlando Hazley, former Oklahoma State runner who was last in the six-man invitational field.

A planned 220-yard low hurdles race in which Don Styron was to have competed was cancelled when no opponents could be found for the Northeast star, who bettered the world record with a 21.9 clocking several weeks ago.

Neville To Play St. John's Club In Monday Tilt

Neville's district 2-AA champions will play St. John's at Shreveport Monday afternoon in a first-round state playoff game, Neville Coach Charley Brown said yesterday.

The game will be played at 3 o'clock in Betty Virginia Park. The two teams are scheduled to be in Monroe Thursday for a possible doubleheader beginning at 1:30. The playoff series is slated for two out of three games.

St. John's won 10 games, lost five and played two ties with Springhill. The Shreveport team defeated Springhill in a playoff for the district 1-AA title, 7-2.

Neville won four games and lost two during the regular season.

Brown said Neville's scheduled game with Ouachita, slated for Monday, had been cancelled because of the playoff date.

Fraser Ousted By MacKay In Dallas Meet

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Barry McKay of Dayton, Ohio, weathered a tricky wind and a strong serve by top-seeded Neale Fraser Saturday to eliminate the Australian star from the Dallas Country Club Tennis Tournament.

The victory moved the big Ohioan into Sunday's final against Bernard (Tut) Bartzen of Dallas.

MacKay, seeded third here despite a straight set victory over Fraser in last week's River Oaks finals at Houston, won this time, 2-6, 7-5 6-1.

Bartzen, No. 2 seed, had less trouble with young Earl Buchholz Jr. of St. Louis, playing smoothly for a 6-3, 7-5 victory.

The second-seeded doubles team of MacKay and Bartzen advanced to the finals against top-seeded Fraser and fellow Australian Roy Emerson. MacKay and Bartzen turned back Buchholz and Chuck McKinley of St. Louis, 2-6 7-5, 6-3.

Fraser and Emerson also experienced early troubles but finished strong to down Bill Wright and Tommy Howorth of Southern Methodist, 6-8, 6-2, 6-2.

Quartet Stars As Lobos Win At Colorado

BOUDLER, Colo. (AP)—New Mexico's speedy quartet of Jim Stewart, Jim Whitefield, Dick Howard and Adolph Plummer swept to victories in the 440, 880 and mile relays and the Lobos won the 36th Colorado Relays Saturday.

New Mexico's triumph snapped a five-year winning streak by Colorado, which finished second. Team scores, based on relay events only, were New Mexico 18, Colorado 12, Air Force 11, Kansas State 9, Colorado State University 8, Southern Methodist 7 and Denver 1.

Kansas State won the 2-mile relay, Air Force the 1-mile team race and Southern Methodist the distance medley.

SMU set the only relay record with a time of 10 minutes 27.2 seconds for the distance medley. The old mark was 10:30.8 by Colorado last year.

San Francisco Defeats Los Angeles, 6-3

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Explosive Willie McCovey unloaded two homers Saturday night and drove in three runs as the San Francisco Giants defeated Los Angeles 6-3 before 85,065.

Billy O'Dell, Stu Miller and Billy Loes combined to stop the world champions on five hits as the Giants kept Los Angeles ace Don Drysdale from turning in his fifth straight complete game. He now is 3-2.

The victory was richly relished revenge for the Giants, who committed three straight errors in blowing a 10-2 decision Friday night.

McCovey, who contributed a two-run throwing error to Friday's debacle, ran his league-leading RBI total to 21 with his two homers. He sliced his sixth homer of the season over the left field screen with the bases empty in the second and drove the ball over the right field fence in the fifth with Willie Mays aboard.

Mays, on with a double, has hit safely at least once in all of San Francisco's 15 games this year. He also got a single.

McCovey barely missed getting a third homer in the ninth when Wally Moon hauled down his 360-foot drive near the fence in left center.

Ed Bressoud and Jim Marshall also homered for the Giants, Bessoud with one man on and Marshall with the bases empty.

Catcher Joe Pignatano, starting for the first time this season, produced the first Los Angeles run with a homer off O'Dell in the fifth. Don Demeter drove in the other two with a homer off Miller in the ninth.

O'Dell, now 1-2, had to retire after five innings because of a sore finger on his pitching hand.

Miller, who has repeatedly baffled the Dodgers with his assortment of junk, surrendered only two hits in the four innings he worked.

Drysdale gave up five of the San Francisco runs and four of the five Giant homers in the five innings he worked.

The victory kept the Giants a game and half back of league-leading Pittsburgh and dropped the Dodgers 3½ games off the pace.

Yanks Interested In Sharing Park

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees said Saturday they would be interested in sharing Yankee Stadium with a National League team on a permanent basis but ruled out any part-time occupancy.

The Yanks revealed they had been approached by an unidentifed National League team during the winter about playing some National League games at the Stadium. They said they were not interested. It was reported Cincinnati was the interested team.

"There are no definite negotiations at this time for moving a National Lague team to Yankee Stadium," said a Yankee official who was quoted by Bob Fishel, Yank publicity man, in Baltimore. "We were approached during the winter but the Yankees said they were not interested. The Yankees thought that would not be practical. However, we would listen to and discuss the possibility of a move to Yankee Stadium on a permanent basis."

The New York World-Telegram and Sun said Saturday a National League team is trying to work out a deal to play some of its 1960 games at the Stadium. Cincinnati, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh were mentioned as possibilities.

Gabe Paul, Cincinnati general manager, said the Reds would play all of their 1960 games in Cincinnati. He made no other comment on the report that transfer negotiations were under way except to add, "We have a schedule of games which indicate where our home games will be played and we will follow the schedule."

A spokesman for the Phillies said "this is the first I've heard of such a suggestion, at least so far as we're concerned. And it oesn't sound right to me."

Joe Brown, Pittsburgh general manager, said there was no foundation to any report that the Pirates might play in the Stadium.

In Cincinnati, Warren Giles, National League president, said no such idea of transferring games to New York ever had been suggested to him. He said it would require unanimous approval of all the clubs in the league and "no such approval ever has been asked."

There is precedent for playing games in another city. Before the Dodgers moved to Los Angeles, they did play several "home" games in Jersey City.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said he had heard nothing of any plan to move games in the Stadium and added, "It seems to me like kind of a pipe dream." Frick pointed out that such a move would require the approval of both leagues and the commissioner.

"I would have to give it a whale of a lot of thought before I could approve it, if I were asked," he said.

Bally Ache Triumphs In Stone Purse

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Bally Ache limbered his swift legs on the Kentucky Derby racing strip Saturday with a three-length victory over rival Venetian Way in the Stepping Stone Purse.

In the $10,000 added Oaks Prep, which shared top billing on Churchill Downs' opening day program, Rash Statement romped home ahead of seven other 3-year-old fillies.

L. D. Fruchtman's Bally Ache, with Bob Ussery in the saddle, went the 7-furlong Stepping Stone course in 1:22 3-5 over a good track—three-fifths of a second off the track record.

Llangollen Farm's Divine Comedy, who broke on top, finished third.

There was no show betting and Bally Ache returned $3.40 and $2.20 in the $5,000 added event. Sunny Blue Farm's Venetian Way paid $2.20.

Bill Hartack put Venetian Way under the whip as they turned into the stretch but Bally Ache finished going away after leading almost from the start.

Both horses carried 122 pounds, 4 less than Derby weight, over the course which was three eighths of a mile shorter than the Derby route.

Eagle Admiral, regarded as another challenger to Tompion and Bally Ache in next Saturday's Run for the Roses, was scratched. In fourth place was W.S. Miller's Stephen and last was Victor Sheridan's filly, Sandy Flower.

In the Oaks Prep Louis Haggin's favored Tingle finished second in a photo with Marikay. Rash Statement paid $17.20, $6.40 and $4.20. Tingle paid $3.60 and $3.00 and Marikay returned $6.20.

460-FOOT HOME RUN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Milwaukee's slugging Joe Adcock is the first right-handed batter to hit a home run over the scoreboard in right center in Connie Mack Stadium. The clout went about 460 feet and well above the 65-foot high wall. It came against Curt Simmons in Philadelphia's home opener before a capacity crowd of 32,038.

Left-handed hitters who have belted balls over that spot are Phil catcher Carl Sawatski and Braves' lef fielder Wes Covington.

O'Connor's Shot Wins First Game

By BOB ANDERSON
World Sports Editor

Northeast and Northwestern, a pair of brilliant-and-bad Gulf States Conference baseball clubs, divided a doubleheader here Saturday, Northeast's Indians taking the first game in an extra inning on John O'Connor's home run, 3-1, and the Demons snapping a nine-game losing streak to salvage the nightcap, 7-2.

Soft-throwing Jerry Rouse and hard - hitting O'Connor combined to hang the opening loss on Northwestern, Rouse effectively scattering seven hits while O'Connor got two of Northeast's three safeties off Bobby Welch to drive in all three runs.

Northwestern combed two Indian hurlers for 10 hits in the second game as righthander Danny Ivey picked up his fifth mound victory against three losses. Shortstop Nick D'Amico drove in three runs for the Demons, center fielder Ralph Conrad went 3-4 while collecting two hits.

The games, last to be played on the Northeast diamond, left Northeast with a 4-5 conference mark and an 8-11 record. Northwestern is now 6-4 in the GSC and 10-11 overall.

Work is scheduled to begin this week on a cafeteria to occupy the present Northeast diamond site. Northeast will play its remaining home games at another field, probably Legion Stadium.

The split enabled Northwestern to take over second place in the Gulf States race behind Louisiana Tech, which won two from Southeastern yesterday. Tech is 8-2 in the league, Northwestern 6-4, Southeastern 5-4, Northeast 4-5, SLI 2-6 and McNeese 2-6.

The first game was one of the best played of the year here. Rouse allowed seven hits to three for Welch but slick fielding pulled him out of several jams. Indian shortstop Phil Petras was outstanding afield, starting the tilt's only double play, and third sacker Ronnie Sims turned in the gem of the day with a leaping grab of Knotts' line drive in the fifth.

The second game was not so sharp. A total of seven errors were committed, four by Northeast and three by Northwestern.

Northeast took a 1-0 lead in the first frame of the first game when Mickey Yerger walked, stole second and came home on O'Connor's single up the middle.

Hard - luck Welch didn't allow the Indians another hit until the sixth when Petras doubled with two gone. Northwestern, meanwhile, tied up the contest with a run in the fourth when Welch's sacrifice fly scored O'Brien Smith, who had singled, gone to second on Rouse's throwing error and to third on a fielder's choice.

After Petras had doubled in the sixth, Welch retired George Bryan on a tap back to the mound to end the frame. He gave up a walk in the seventh but no more.

Northwestern threatened in the sixth when Ralph Conrad led off with a double. Smith, who singled twice, was walked intentionally and the move paid off when, after Houston Cade had fanned for the first out, 'D'Amico hit into a double play, Petras to McGowen to Bryan, to end the frame. The Demons got two more on in the seventh on a single and walk but Rouse got catcher Mickey Mills to bounce to third to end it.

Welch retired Yerger on a grounder to first to open the Northeast half of the eighth. But Kincaid walked and gained second when catcher Mickey Mills threw wide in a pickoff attempt.

Speedy Ralph Ward came in to run for Kincaid but he didn't get a chance to use his speed. O'Connor allowed him to trot home when he blasted a 2-2 Welch pitch over the right field fence to win the game.

O'Connor's homer was the fourth of the year for the all-GSC backstop. He went 4-7 for the day to boost his average to .353. Northeast's other leading hitter, Phil Petras, went 2-6 to maintain a sizzling .400 pace average.

Northeast got off to a 1-0 advantage in the second inning of the nightcap. O'Connor led off the frame with a swinging bunt single and stole second. Petras flied out but Bryan drew a walk. Levy Redden flied out for the second out before Ronnie Sims hit a bouncer to second. Knotts threw to second in trying for a double play but umpire Jackie Neal rulled shortstop D'Amico was not in possession of the ball when he kicked the bag. Bryan was safe but took off for third on D'Amico's throw to first in a try for Sims. Bryan was caught in a rundown between second and third but O'Connor scored during the play.

Northwestern tied it up in the third. George Fisher walked, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored on Ivey's single. The Demons chased Lockwood in the fourth. Conrad singled with one down, Smith walked and both runners advanced on a wild pitch.

Fisher flied to second for the second out but D'Amico smashed a single to score both runners and went on to second on Louis Kincaid's bobble of his hit in left. Collins relieved Lockwood but Sims' booted one at third to score D'Amico with the third run of the frame, biggest one - inning total of the year for Cracker Brown's club.

The Demons racked Collins for three more in the sixth. Singles by Conrad, D'Amico and Knotts and a pair of walks produced the runs.

Northeast revived to rally the seventh. McGowen got aboard on a fielder's choice with two out, Yerger drove him to third with a single and Julian Vienne's throwing error plated the tally.

Eros Cops State Volleyball Title

BATON ROUGE, La. (Special) —Eros swept past three opponents here yesterday to win the state high school volleyball championship.

The north Louisiana team sacked up the title by downing Iowa, 15-11, 12-15, 15-6, in the finals. Eros had previously polished off Glen Oaks, 15-2 15-7, and edged Hessmer, 15-2, 7-11, 15-13.

PAUL MARTIN LOOKS 'EM OVER

A Ouachita Era Ends

For the first time in a decade there will be no Crowe in the lineup of Ouachita Parish High athletic teams next fall. The last of the Dick, Tom, and Harry series is entering his final month of high school work.

When Northeast Louisiana State's athletic director, Jack Rowan, announced the past week that Harry "Rabbit" Crowe has accepted a Northeast basketball scholarship, it brought to mind that he is the last of the contributions of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Crowe to Ouachita's athletic fortunes.

Probably no trio of brothers has given so much to the Lions since Gus, Charlie, and Shelby Calhoun were Ouachita standouts around 30 years ago. The main difference is that the Calhouns crowded their Ouachita tenure into two or three years, while the Crowe boys covered a longer unbroken period.

Departure from high school hasn't ended the athletic careers of Dickie and Tommy Crowe and isn't supposed to interrupt Harry's, since the latter is just changing uniforms next September.

Only this week Dickie, the eldest of the Crowe's who'll be 22 years old come August, opened the season at second base for Green Bay, Wis., a farm club of the Los Angeles Dodgers. Dickie poled three-for-five in the Sunday opener, and hit two-for-three Monday. He had a fine year at Kokomo, Ind., last season, his first really full campaign in pro baseball.

Dickie, an all-state quarterback at Ouachita in 1956, also was a fine baseball and basketball players. He was given an athletic scholarship to Oklahoma State, but exchanged that for a bonus when he signed a Dodger contract. His entry into pro ball in 1958 was spoiled by an injury that forced him to lay out most of the season.

Tommy Crowe was also in the news this week. He caught a no-hit no-run game for his air force base at Blytheville, Ark. Monday. Tommy, who'll be 20 in September, was a center on the Ouachita football team, baseball catcher, and played basketball. He, too, went to Northeast. But his tenure there was brief. He left in two weeks to enlist in the air force. Among his most cherished trophies is that as "most valuable player" for his Monroe American Legion Junior baseball club.

So now it's Harry's turn to make his splash outside the prep circle. Like his brothers, he was a three-sport star for the Lions. The five-foot-eleven youngster, who'll be 18 next month, has been Ouachita's leading basketball scorer for two seasons and led the district in '58-59 when he was all-district. He was a selection to five all-tournament teams in Ouachita cage play.

The end of the Crowe era at Ouachita may apply to one other. M. W. Crowe, dad of the athletes, has been a guiding figure of the Ouachita Lion Boosters Club he helped originate as the Ouachita Dads' Club. He was the first president of the club now led by Milton "Pinky" Butler. After all these years, we think Mr. Crowe is going to feel rather lost at a Ouachita contest that no longer includes one of his boys.

Resume Grid Work

The West Monroe Rebels are back in the business of spring football training, preparing for a junior-senior game now scheduled for Thursday night, May 12. Coach Cecil Pirkey started football drills once before but got in little work and called off the whole thing, including the earlier date for the junior-senior scrap, because of bad weather.

More On Fitness

"Fitness for the Future is Everyone's Business" is a slogan being used in connection with National Youth Fitness Week beginning today and running through Saturday. Most high schools, as pointed out last week, will be doing something to call attention to fitness during health and physical education classes.

In connection with the fitness program, we note an appeal by Moose Krause, athletic director at University of Notre Dame, for more emphasis in all sports at the junior high, high school, and college levels.

"We need more football and baseball," Krause is quoted, and further, "Do you know that a recent survey on physical fitness comparing 20,000 American and Japanese youths between the ages of 15 and 19 showed the Japanese were stronger. . . . It's the same story in European countries."

The fine fitness of the youth of other nations is a major reason for the growing interest of the United States in the physical development of its own boys and girls. Thus, this emphasis during a special week of activity.

PASCUAL BEATEN

Red Sox Rally To Top Nats, 2-1

BOSTON (AP)—Boston rallied to beat Washington ace Camilio Pascual 2-1 Saturday on eight-inning singles by Vic Wertz and Bobby Thomson—the Red Sox self-styled "Kiddie Korps."

Pascual had allowed only three singles and struck out 10 when he wobbled in the eighth by walking Pete Runnels and Gene Stephens.

Wertz, 35, blooped a single into short center to spoil the shutout bid and tie the score. Then Thomson, 36, lined a hit to left for the winning run.

Wertz, Thomson and 41-year-old Ted Williams jokingly refer to themselves as the "youngsters" on the squad.

Starter Tom Sturdivant whose only slip in a four-hit seven inning stint was home run pitch to former Sox player Billy Consolo, combined with Mike Fornieles and Ted Bowsfield for the victory.

Thouth the Senators managed only four hits altogether, they got three walks from Fornieles in the ninth. A double play erased one of them. Two were on and two out when Bowsfield got Hal Naragon on a game-ending grounder.

Consolo, a .223 lifetime hitter in the majors who entered the game with a lusty .439 mark for this season, tagged a fast ball off Sturdivant's on a 1-1 delivery in the fifth. The drive high into the left field screen appeared to be sufficient for Pascual until the late stages.

An oddity of the game was that Washington did not have an outfield putout.

The contest was marred by an injury to Senators' catcher Earl Battey. He was hit in the left side of the head by a pitch, was carried off on a stretcher and taken to a hospital for observation.

8TH STRAIGHT WIN

Pirates Erupt For 10 In 2nd To Trounce Redlegs, 12-7

CINCINNATI (AP) — The National League-leading Pittsburgh Pirates erupted for 10 runs in the second inning but still had to call on two relief pitchers to preserve a 12-7 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. It was Pittsburgh's eighth straight triumph.

Bill Mazeroski led the Pirate attack with a home run, a double and two singles. Mazeroski, Roberto Clemente and Dick Stuart each drove in three Pirate runs.

Clemente along with Cincinnati's Roy McMillan and Ed Bailey were other home run hitters. Although his mates staked him to a fat 10-1 lead in the first inning and a half, Bennie Daniels, the Pirates' starting pitcher, finally had to be lifted after five innings and Paul Geil and then Elroy Face finally staved off the Reds.

Six Cincinnati pitchers paraded to the mound with starter Cal McLish failing to last out the second inning.

In that wild second inning the Pirates had the home run by Clemente which scored three runs, two doubles and five singles. They also were helped along by Roy McMillan's error which made the last eight runs unearned, two walks and a balk.

Mazeroski and Hal Smith each had a single and a double in the inning.

A double by Dick Groat and a single by Dick Stuart gave the Pirates another run off Claude Osteen in the third and Mazeroski's home run off the same hurler gave them another in the fourth.

Meanwhile the Reds had vicked up single runs in the first and second and they began giving Daniels a rough time in the fourth. McMillan's home run was followed by singles by Elio Chacon, pinch hitter Lee Walls and Eddie Kasko for a pair of runs in the fourth.

Bailey's home run came after a walk to Tony Gonzalez in the fifth and Daniels was lifted after that inning.

Face came to Giel's rescue in the eighth after he had walked McMillan and Chacon and had a 2-0 count on pinch hitter Jerry Lynch. Lynch doubled home one run and Face then shut the door.

HOUSTON GOLF

Palmer Rallies For 3-Way Tie

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Arnold Palmer rallied on the back nine Saturday to catch Bill Collins and Jack Fleck for a three-way tie at the halfway mark of the $35,000 Classic Golf Tournament.

The Masters champion was three strokes off the pace after the first 10 holes of the second round but came through with three birdies for a 66-71—137. Collins, the 1959 New Orleans Open winner, finished a few minutes later with an identical score.

Fleck, the 1955 National Open champion from Los Angeles, had posted his 68-69—137 two hours earlier.

Billy Maxwell, Oceanside, Calif. moved onto the final green needing only a birdie to join the deadlock but three-putted from 20 feet for a 67-72—139.

Palmer scrambled with four bogies and five birdies for his 37-34—71 on the 7,122-yard par 72 Memorial Park course. Collins went out in 34 and came in with a 37.

Fleck started with an eagle 3 on the 538-yard, par 5 first hole and added two birdies against only one bogey for a 33-36.

All three missed birdie putts on the final green.

"I thought there was no way for mine to stay out of the cup but it took a jump," said Palmer, the muscular Ligonier, Pa., pro.

"That rain just made the greens tough with so much tramping," he said.

Collins was disgusted with his pair of over-par holes. He topped his second shot on the 12th hole and three-putted from 15 feet on the 13th.

"I was just careless," he said. "I left them short all day."

Fleck got his eagle by chipping in from 70 feet.

"It was a long one, I'll tell you that," he said. "I had a lot of luck again even though the greens were awfully slow."

A heavy rain washed out Friday's play after about half the field of 139 had finished the 18 holes.

Only 14 players broke par on the soggy course, compared to 33 for Thursday's opening round.

Grouped at 140 were Julius Boros, Mid Pines, N.C., Freddie Haas, New Orleans, and Doug Ford, Crystal River, Fla.

The 69s by Fleck and Frank Beley Canton, Ohio, were the low rounds for the day. Beley's 69 included nine birdies and left him in a tie with Dave Hill, Detroit, Mich., and Paul Harney, Worcester, Mass., at 141.

Yanks Smash Birds, 16-0, Take Over League Lead

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP) — The New York Yankees boomed into the undisputed American League lead Saturday with a long range hitting outburst that smothered the Baltimore Orioles 16-0 and allowed unbeaten Jim Coates to post his third victory.

Roger Maris and Bill Skowron smacked back-to-back homers in the first inning for a five-run lead but right - handed Coates bore down all the way.

The Orioles scraped eight singles off him, three by Al Pilarcik, but could push only one runner to third and another to second as their five-game winning streak snapped with a bang. The victory ended New York's three-game losing streak.

Coates fanned three and walked the same number as the Yankees for the second time this week gave him a fat lead against the Orioles. Last Sunday, they scored eight runs in the first inning for Coates.

This time it was almost as good as Maris, who returned Friday night after a three-day layoff, knocked his third homer over the center field fence with two on base and Skowron followed with his fourth in the right field bleachers.

Maris also socked a pair of doubles, driving in a total of four runs. Second baseman Bobby Richardson poled his first homer in the eight, in addition to a single and double.

Coates collected a two-bagger for himself and turned it into a second-inning run on a wild pitch and error.

The other Yankee bombs in their 16-hit barrage was a double by Tony Kubek and triple by Mickey Mantle.

Milt Pappas was the first of a half dozen suffering Oriole pitchers and took his first setback after one victory.

Any remaining semblance of a contest ended in the sixth. The Yankees duplicated their five runs of the first and poured on four more in the seventh.

It was the worst licking the Orioles have taken since rejoining the American League in 1954.

The Yankees moved out of a first place tie with Detroit and Chicago who were rained out of their scheduled game Saturday afternoon.

PAUL MARTIN LOOKS 'EM OVER

A Ouachita Era Ends

For the first time in a decade there will be no Crowe in the lineup of Ouachita Parish High athletic teams next fall. The last of the Dick, Tom, and Harry series is entering his final month of high school work.

When Northeast Louisiana State's athletic director, Jack Rowan, announced the past week that Harry "Rabbit" Crowe has accepted a Northeast basketball scholarship, it brought to mind that he is the last of the contributions of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Crowe to Ouachita's athletic fortunes.

Probably no trio of brothers has given so much to the Lions since Gus, Charlie, and Shelby Calhoun were Ouachita standouts around 30 years ago. The main difference is that the Calhouns crowded their Ouachita tenure into two or three years, while the Crowe boys covered a longer unbroken period.

Departure from high school hasn't ended the athletic careers of Dickie and Tommy Crowe and isn't supposed to interrupt Harry's, since the latter is just changing uniforms next September.

Only this week Dickie, the eldest of the Crowe's who'll be 22 years old come August, opened the season at second base for Green Bay, Wis., a farm club of the Los Angeles Dodgers. Dickie poled three-for-five in the Sunday opener, and hit two-for-three Monday. He had a fine year at Kokomo, Ind., last season, his first really full campaign in pro baseball.

Dickie, an all-state quarterback at Ouachita in 1956, also was a fine baseball and basketball players. He was given an athletic scholarship to Oklahoma State, but exchanged that for a bonus when he signed a Dodger contract. His entry into pro ball in 1958 was spoiled by an injury that forced him to lay out most of the season.

Tommy Crowe was also in the news this week. He caught a no-hit no-run game for his air force base at Blytheville, Ark. Monday. Tommy, who'll be 20 in September, was a center on the Ouachita football team, baseball catcher, and played basketball. He, too, went to Northeast. But his tenure there was brief. He left in two weeks to enlist in the air force. Among his most cherished trophies is that as "most valuable player" for his Monroe American Legion Junior baseball club.

So now it's Harry's turn to make his splash outside the prep circle. Like his brothers, he was a three-sport star for the Lions. The five-foot-eleven youngster, who'll be 18 next month, has been Ouachita's leading basketball scorer for two seasons and led the district in '58-59 when he was all-district. He was a selection to five all-tournament teams in Ouachita cage play.

The end of the Crowe era at Ouachita may apply to one other. M. W. Crowe, dad of the athletes, has been a guiding figure of the Ouachita Lion Boosters Club he helped originate as the Ouachita Dads' Club. He was the first president of the club now led by Milton "Pinky" Butler. After all these years, we think Mr. Crowe is going to feel rather lost at a Ouachita contest that no longer includes one of his boys.

Resume Grid Work

The West Monroe Rebels are back in the business of spring football training, preparing for a junior-senior game now scheduled for Thursday night, May 12. Coach Cecil Pirkey started football drills once before but got in little work and called off the whole thing, including the earlier date for the junior-senior scrap, because of bad weather.

More On Fitness

"Fitness for the Future is Everyone's Business" is a slogan being used in connection with National Youth Fitness Week beginning today and running through Saturday. Most high schools, as pointed out last week, will be doing something to call attention to fitness during health and physical education classes.

In connection with the fitness program, we note an appeal by Moose Krause, athletic director at University of Notre Dame, for more emphasis in all sports at the junior high, high school, and college levels.

"We need more football and baseball," Krause is quoted, and further, "Do you know that a recent survey on physical fitness comparing 20,000 American and Japanese youths between the ages of 15 and 19 showed the Japanese were stronger. . . . It's the same story in European countries."

The fine fitness of the youth of other nations is a major reason for the growing interest of the United States in the physical development of its own boys and girls. Thus, this emphasis during a special week of activity.

PASCUAL BEATEN

Red Sox Rally To Top Nats, 2-1

BOSTON (AP)—Boston rallied to beat Washington ace Camilio Pascual 2-1 Saturday on eight-inning singles by Vic Wertz and Bobby Thomson—the Red Sox self-styled "Kiddie Korps."

Pascual had allowed only three singles and struck out 10 when he wobbled in the eighth by walking Pete Runnels and Gene Stephens.

Wertz, 35, blooped a single into short center to spoil the shutout bid and tie the score. Then Thomson, 36, lined a hit to left for the winning run.

Wertz, Thomson and 41-year-old Ted Williams jokingly refer to themselves as the "youngsters" on the squad.

Starter Tom Sturdivant whose only slip in a four-hit seven inning stint was home run pitch to former Sox player Billy Consolo, combined with Mike Fornieles and Ted Bowsfield for the victory.

Thouth the Senators managed only four hits altogether, they got three walks from Fornieles in the ninth. A double play erased one of them. Two were on and two out when Bowsfield got Hal Naragon on a game-ending grounder.

Consolo, a .223 lifetime hitter in the majors who entered the game with a lusty .439 mark for this season, tagged a fast ball off Sturdivant's on a 1-1 delivery in the fifth. The drive high into the left field screen appeared to be sufficient for Pascual until the late stages.

An oddity of the game was that Washington did not have an outfield putout.

The contest was marred by an injury to Senators' catcher Earl Battey. He was hit in the left side of the head by a pitch, was carried off on a stretcher and taken to a hospital for observation.

8TH STRAIGHT WIN

Pirates Erupt For 10 In 2nd To Trounce Redlegs, 12-7

CINCINNATI (AP) — The National League-leading Pittsburgh Pirates erupted for 10 runs in the second inning but still had to call on two relief pitchers to preserve a 12-7 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. It was Pittsburgh's eighth straight triumph.

Bill Mazeroski led the Pirate attack with a home run, a double and two singles. Mazeroski, Robert to Clemente and Dick Stuart each drove in three Pirate runs.

Clemente along with Cincinnati's Roy McMillan and Ed Bailey were other home run hitters. Although his mates staked him to a fat 10-1 lead in the first inning and a half, Bennie Daniels, the Pirates' starting pitcher, finally had to be lifted after five innings and Paul Geil and then Elroy Face finally staved off the Reds.

Six Cincinnati pitchers paraded to the mound with starter Cal McLish failing to last out the second inning.

In that wild second inning the Pirates had the home run by Clemente which scored three runs, two doubles and five singles. They also were helped along by Roy McMillan's error which made the last eight runs unearned, two walks and a balk.

Mazeroski and Hal Smith each had a single and a double in the inning.

A double by Dick Groat and a single by Dick Stuart gave the Pirates another run off Claude Osteen in the third and Mazeroski's home run off the same hurler gave them another in the fourth.

Meanwhile the Reds had vicked up single runs in the first and second and they began giving Daniels a rough time in the fourth. McMillan's home run was followed by singles by Elio Chacon, pinch hitter Lee Walls and Eddie Kasko for a pair of runs in the fourth.

Bailey's home run came after a walk to Tony Gonzalez in the fifth and Daniels was lifted after that inning.

Face came to Giel's rescue in the eighth after he had walked McMillan and Chacon and had a 2-0 count on pinch hitter Jerry Lynch. Lynch doubled home one run and Face then shut the door.

HOUSTON GOLF

Palmer Rallies For 3-Way Tie

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Arnold Palmer rallied on the back nine Saturday to catch Bill Collins and Jack Fleck for a three-way tie at the halfway mark of the $35,000 Classic Golf Tournament.

The Masters champion was three strokes off the pace after the first 10 holes of the second round but came through with three birdies for a 66-71—137. Collins, the 1959 New Orleans Open winner, finished a few minutes later with an identical score.

Fleck, the 1955 National Open champion from Los Angeles, had posted his 68-69—137 two hours earlier.

Billy Maxwell, Oceanside, Calif. moved onto the final green needing only a birdie to join the deadlock but three-putted from 20 feet for a 67-72—139.

Palmer scrambled with four bogies and five birdies for his 37-34—71 on the 7,122-yard par 72 Memorial Park course. Collins went out in 34 and came in with a 37.

Fleck started with an eagle 3 on the 558-yard, par 5 first hole and added two birdies against only one bogey for a 33-36.

All three missed birdie putts on the final green.

"I thought there was no way for mine to stay out of the cup but it took a jump," said Palmer, the muscular Ligonier, Pa., pro.

"That rain just made the greens tough with so much tramping," he said.

Collins was disgusted with his pair of over-par holes. He topped his second shot on the 12th hole and three-putted from 15 feet on the 13th.

"I was just careless," he said. "I left them short all day."

Fleck got his eagle by chipping in from 70 feet.

"It was a long one, I'll tell you that," he said. "I had a lot of luck again even though the greens were awfully slow."

A heavy rain washed out Friday's play after about half the field of 139 had finished the 18 holes.

Only 14 players broke par on the soggy course, compared to 33 for Thursday's opening round.

Grouped at 140 were Julius Boros, Mid Pines, N.C., Freddie Haas, New Orleans, and Doug Ford, Crystal River, Fla.

The 69s by Fleck and Frank Beley Canton, Ohio, were the low rounds for the day. Beley's 69 included nine birdies and left him in a tie with Dave Hill, Detroit, Mich., and Paul Harney, Worcester, Mass., at 141.

Tech Maintains Conference Lead

RUSTON, La. (Special) — Louisiana Tech kept the Gulf States Conference baseball lead by sweeping both ends of a doubleheader here Saturday from Southeastern. The Techmen took the first game 2-1 and won the second 9-8.

The two victories give the Bulldogs an 8-2 GSC record and a 15-2 mark for the season. Southeastern now stands 3-4 in league competition and 10-8 in all games.

In the first game SLC scored its lone run in the fourth when Sheldon Fernender opened with a double and scored on a single by Ronnie Fairchild.

Tech tied it at 1-1 in the sixth when the Bulldogs loaded the bases on a walk, a single by pinch hitter J. W. Mercer and an error. Charley Garris then singled in a run.

In the bottom half of the seventh Bulldog [illegible] B. K. Miller came through with a clutch home run after two were out to break up the seven inning game.

In the second tilt Tech broke up a close 3-3 battle with six big runs in the fourth inning.

SLC had scored one in the first on singles by Billy Ladner and Roy Brandhurst. Tech added one in the second on a double by Garris, a passed ball and a balk.

Each team pushed over two in the third. Back to back home runs by Southeastern's Fernender and Ladner were the big blows for the Lions. Two straight singles by Tech's Jack Moreland and Garris brought home two for the Bulldogs.

In the big fourth frame Tech batted around, getting six hits to push across six runs. Two SLC errors helped. Doubles by Mercer, Moreland and Joe Zaffater accounted for three runs while singles by Garris and pinch hitter Sonny Parker knocked in three more.

Garris was Tech's leading hitter for the afternoon, getting 2-2 in the first game and 3-4 in the second. Fernender and Brandhurst led the Lions with three hits apiece.

Parker was the winning hurler in the first game. He gave up one earned run on seven hits and struck out 8. Mercer captured the second game victory. He was touched for three earned runs and five hits and fanned five.

Rivera, Tony Jiminez In No-Limit Bout

Time will be of the essence when Red Rivera and Tony Jiminez pair up [illegible] Monday night at B&B Arena.

The two grapplers grunted and groaned to a draw last week in their first attempt to answer the age-old question of "who's best?" The hour time limit caught them last Monday, but there'll be no time limit Monday and the two boys may struggle on far into the night.

It'll take two falls to win the bout, which draws main event billing on a three-match program.

Red, a clean-cut fellow who makes an attempt to follow the straight - and - narrow, claims he had had Tony licked last week but just didn't have enough time to finish him off.

"One hour's not enough," says the Red. "If you rematch us, I'll show you who the better man is," he told promoter August Baumgartner.

The return of one of the most villainous villains who ever snarled in the local arena, Black Jack Dillon, will highlight the night's semifinal. Dillon, a fat man with none of that breed's genial characteristics, appeared on Monroe shows quite often a couple of years ago.

Dillon will team with Prince Omar against Adrian Baellangeon and Ken Cooper in an hour relay scrap. This one is slated for two falls to win.

Baellangeon and Black Jack open the show with a 15-minute, one-fall engagement.

Held Leads Indians Past Athletics, 2-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Woodie Held hit a two-run homer in the eighth, pushing th eCleveland Indians to a 2-1 triumph Saturday over Kansas City.

It was Helds fifth of the season and his fifth against the A's. He hit a pair in Kansas City last Sunday and two more Friday night.

The Indians were blanked by Southpaw Bud Daley until Held connected, after Harvey Kuenn walked. The slugging shortstop, who singled earlier, made two of the five hits off Daley.

The A's' only run was a homer by Bill Tuttle, leading off in the first inning. He hit the second pitch served by Barry Latman, who then walked the next three batters.

Latman retired three in a row without allowing another run and then hurled shutout ball through the next six innings. He gave up six hits.

RUSSIAN RECORD TOPPLES

Thomas Sets World High Jump Mark In Penn Relays

By ED CORRIGAN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John Thomas, the towering Boston University sophomore, soared through the gloom and mist of Franklin Field Saturday to a world high jump record—7 feet, 1½ inches—in the Penn Relays.

A record crowd of 42,138 saw Thomas go over on his first try. There was daylight between his graceful body and the crossbar.

Thus the questionable world record of 7-1 set in 1957 by Russia's Yuri Stepanov was toppled. Stepanov made his record with the aid of the controversial elevator shoe. His mark was accepted, but the shoe, which had a raised sole, later was banned.

Other highlights of the giantic carnival:

1. Ray Norton, formerly of San Jose State, equalled the world record of the 220-yard dash around a turn with a clocking of :20.6.

2. Michigan, which came with high hopes of becoming the third team in the history of the relays to win four events, had to settle for two.

3. Yale, which hadn't won a major test since 1942, came out with two victories.

But in the end it was Thomas who stole the show. The 19-year-old youngster already had cleared 7-2½ indoors, but the International Amateur Athletic Federation recognizes only outdoor records.

This was only his second outdoor competition as a collegian. Last week, he equalled Charlie Dumas' American outdoor record of 7-½, which has been on the books since the 1956 Olympic tryouts.

Thomas' record was made from the same takeoff that was used for the Russia-U.S. meet last summer. Stepanov didn't show up then, but two other Russian 7-footers cleared just 6-9.

"It's good to have the record back in the United States," he said.

Thomas, who was laid up for seven months last year after mangling his foot in an elevator accident, tried for 7-2½ three times but missed.

Michigan, which made a shambles of the Ohio Relays, had high hopes of sweeping this one, too. The Wolverines won the only final on the first day, the distance medley.

They made a fight of it, and finished second three times and third once, but won just one more of the remaining seven top relays.

The final tally sheet showed Michigan with two, San Jose State with two, Yale with two and Villanova and Winston-Salem, N.C., Teachers with one each.

Michigan won the 4-mile relay in 17:27.3 with anchor man Ergas Leps playing "dead" until the final turn when he jumped NYU's Hank Levin and won by 20 yards.

San Jose State played the villain in Michigan's plans in both the 440 and 880-yard relay. San Jose grabbed the quarter-mile in 41 seconds when Willie Williams outlasted Tom Robinson in a torrid battle of anchormen.

San Jose also outlegged Don Canham's Wolverines in the half-mile, which they covered in 1:24.5, equalling the meet record. Robinson came from last place on the anchor leg but again Williams beat him home.

The Yale draught finally came to an end emphatically.

The Elis finished way out front in the 2-mile in 7:27.4. By the time, anchor man Tom Carroll took the stick, he had things all to himself.

In the sprint medley, Carroll bulled between Lee Martin of Morgan State and Art Evans of Manhattan in the last 15 yards. In the process, Martin dropped the stick and his team was disqualified.

Villanova won the mile in 3:12.2, and Winston Salem captured the shuttle hurdles in :59.3 for the third year in a row.

A whole fistful of athletes bettered the Olympic standards in their events. Thomas and Norton, of course, led the pack. John Ellis of the New York A.C., who won the Olympic development discus with 180 feet 9 inches, was far over the required 173-10½. So was second-place Jay Sylvester of the U. S. Army, who had 179-9.

Likewise, the first two finishers in the shot put, Ken Bantum of the New York Pioneer Club, and Sylvester, were over the qualifying mark of 55-9¼. Bantum's winning toss was 58-4¾ while Sylvester did 58¼.

WINNFIELD, La. (Special) — Winnfield will meet Redemptorist of Baton Rouge at 3:30 p.m. in Baton Rouge Tuesday in the second round of the state Class A baseball playoffs.

Winnfield coach Frank Mobley said he would probably start righthander Keith Wright who is 2-1 for the season. The Tigers have a 7-3 season record.

Rivera, Tony Jiminez In No-Limit Bout

Time will be of no essence when Rod Rivera and Tony Jiminez try to settle their various grievances Monday night at B&B Arena.

The two grapplers grunted and groaned to a draw last week in their first attempt to answer the age-old question of "who's best?" The hour time limit caught them last Monday but there'll be no time limit Monday and the big boys may struggle on far into the night.

It'll take two falls to win the bout, which draws main event billing on a three-match program.

Rod, a clean-cut fellow who makes an attempt to follow the straight - and - narrow, claims he had bad boy Tony licked last week but just didn't have enough time to finish him off.

"One hour's not enough," says hot Rod. "If you rematch us, I'll show you who the better man is," he told promoter August Baumgartner.

The return of one of the most villainous villains who ever snarled in the local arena, Black Jack Dillon, will highlight the night's semifinal. Dillon, a fat man with none of that breed's genial characteristics, appeared on Monroe shows quite often a couple of years ago.

Dillon will team with Prince Omar against Adrian Baellangeon and Ken Cooper in an hour relay scrap. This one is slated for two falls to win.

Baellangeon and Black Jack open the show with a 15-minute, one-fall engagement.

Held Leads Indians Past Athletics, 2-1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Woodie Hled hit a two-run homer in the eighth, pushing th eCleveland Indians to a 2-1 triumph Saturday over Kansas City.

It was Helds fifth of the season and his fifth against the A's. He hit a pair in Kansas City last Sunday and two more Friday night.

The Indians were blanked by Southpaw Bud Daley until Held connected, after Harvey Kuenn walked. The slugging shortstop, who singled earlier, made two of the five hits off Daley.

The A's' only run was a homer by Bill Tuttle, leading off in the first inning. He hit the second pitch served by Barry Latman, who then walked the next three batters.

Latman retired three in a row without allowing another run and then hurled shutout ball through the next six innings. He gave up six hits.

RUSSIAN RECORD TOPPLES

Thomas Sets World High Jump Mark In Penn Relays

By ED CORRIGAN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John Thomas, the towering Boston University sophomore, soared through the gloom and mist of Franklin Field Saturday to a world high jump record—7 feet, 1½ inches—in the Penn Relays.

A record crowd of 42,138 saw Thomas go over on his first try. There was daylight between his graceful body and the crossbar.

Thus the questionable world record of 7-1 set in 1957 by Russia's Yuri Stepanov was toppled. Stepanov made his record with the aid of the controversial elevator shoe. His mark was accepted, but the shoe, which had a raised sole, later was banned.

Other highlights of the giantic carnival:

1. Ray Norton, formerly of San Jose State, equalled the world record of the 220-yard dash around a turn with a clocking of :20.6.

2. Michigan, which came with high hopes of becoming the third team in the history of the relays to win four events, had to settle for two.

3. Yale, which hadn't won a major test since 1942, came out with two victories.

But in the end it was Thomas who stole the show. The 19-year-old youngster already had cleared 7-2½ indoors, but the International Amateur Athletic Federation recognizes only outdoor records.

This was only his second outdoor competition as a collegian. Last week, he equalled Charlie Dumas' American outdoor record of 7-½, which has been on the books since the 1956 Olympic tryouts.

Thomas' record was made from the same takeoff that was used for the Russia-U.S. meet last summer. Stepanov didn't show up then, but two other Russian 7-footers cleared just 6-9.

"It's good to have the record back in the United States," he said.

Thomas, who was laid up for seven months last year after mangling his foot in an elevator accident, tried for 7-2½ three times but missed.

Michigan, which made a shambles of the Ohio Relays, had high hopes of sweeping this one, too. The Wolverines won the only final on the first day, the distance medley.

They made a fight of it, and finished second three times and third once, but won just one more of the remaining seven top relays.

The final tally sheet showed Michigan with two, San Jose State with two, Yale with two and Villanova and Winston-Salem, N.C., Teachers with one each.

Michigan won the 4-mile relay in 17:27.3 with anchor man Ergas Leps playing "dead" until the final turn when he jumped NYU's Hank Levin and won by 20 yards.

San Jose State played the villain in Michigan's plans in both the 440 and 880-yard relay. San Jose grabbed the quarter-mile in 41 seconds when Willie Williams outlasted Tom Robinson in a torrid battle of anchormen.

San Jose also outlegged Don Canham's Wolverines in the half-mile, which they covered in 1:24.5, equalling the meet record. Robinson came from last place on the anchor leg but again Williams beat him home.

The Yale draught finally came to an end emphatically.

The Elis finished way out front in the 2-mile in 7:27.4. By the time, anchor man Tom Carroll took the stick, he had things all to himself.

In the sprint medley, Carroll bulled between Lee Martin of Morgan State and Art Evans of Manhattan in the last 15 yards. In the process, Martin dropped the stick and his team was disqualified.

Villanova won the mile in 3:12.2, and Winston Salem captured the shuttle hurdles in :59.3 for the third year in a row.

A whole fistful of athletes bettered the Olympic standards in their events. Thomas and Norton, of course, led the pack. John Ellis of the New York A.C., who won the Olympic development discus with 180 feet 9 inches, was far over the required 173-10½. So was second-place Jay Sylvester of the U. S. Army, who had 179-9.

Likewise, the first two finishers in the shot put, Ken Bantum of the New York Pioneer Club, and Sylvester, were over the qualifying mark of 55-9¼. Bantum's winning toss was 58-4¾ while Sylvester did 58¼.

RUSTON WINS

Moses Tops Four Jaycees Records

Speedster Freddie Moses of Robert E. Lee led a wholesale assault on the record book here Saturday afternoon, setting four new standards in the second annual Jaycees Junior High track and field meet.

Ruston grabbed team honors, posting 65 points to Lee's second place total of 53½. Defending champion West Monroe, which edged Lee by less than two points in 1959, placed third with 51½. Ouachita was fourth with 50½, Jefferson fifth with 9, Phillips of Ruston sixth with 7, Bastrop seventh with 3½ and Logtown eighth with 2.

Only four of the 15 existing records survived as the eight-team field turned in a fistful of classy times and distances.

Moses, selected as the meet's most outstanding athlete, captured all three dashes and leaped 18 feet 10 inches to win the broad jump, posting records in each event. He sped over the 100-yard dash in 10.5 seconds, won the 220 in 23.5 and captured the 50-yard dash in 5.7.

Moses' time in the century and distance in the broad jump battered the best school marks in the Twin City Relays here last week.

Ruston compiled six first places and established records in three of them — the 440 and the 880 relays and the high jump. Mike Edmunds won the jump at five feet even.

Richard Swift and Echols tied for first place in the pole vault at 8 feet 9 inches. Melvin Shows took the low hurdles in 15.4 and the mile relay foursome sprinted home in 4:09.2.

West Monroe rang up a couple of winners in the shot put and the javelin, with both going for new records. Lawrence Robinson heaved the steel ball 49 feet 9 inches and Chuck Crawford tossed the spear 135 feet 9 inches.

Other old records were eclipsed in the 440 - yard dash and the discus. Marvin Laing of Bastrop streaked home in the 440 with a 56.4 clocking while Ouachita's Larry Lolley won the discus with a performance of 128 feet 4½ inches.

Becton gave Jefferson its lone first place by stepping off the half - mile in 2:23.9.

Wagner Sparks Cards Over Cubs

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Leon Wagner provided the punch with two home runs and Lindy McDaniel produced another scoreless relief job for the streaking St. Louis Cardinals Saturday night in a 5-4 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

The Redbirds made it seven out of eight in their home stand, moving over .500 at 7-6 for the first time in two seasons.

Wagner, the muscular left fielder obtained from San Francisco in a trade for Don Blasingame, hammered two solo home runs and a run-scoring single lifting his average to .342.

His second homer and fourth of the season was a drive over the pavilion roof in right in the eighth inning and pinned the defeat on Cub relief ace Don Elston.

Bill White and Carl Sawatski also slammed solo homers for the Redbirds, now leading the majors in team homers with 23.

McDaniel blanked the Cubs through the last three innings to get his first victory. The 24-year-old Oklahoman has allowed just three hits in 11 2-3 innings this season and hadn't been scored on in seven relief appearances.

Cub starter Bob Anderson was forced to leave the game after six innings because of a pulled muscle in his pitching arm.

Ernie Banks again was the big man for the last-place Cubs. His two-run single sparked a three-run fifth inning which drove out Card starter Wilmer Mizell and gave the Cubs a 4-2 lead. Dick Gernert's single drove in the other run. Mizell wild-pitched the first Cub run home in the first.

Homers by White, his third, to the right field pavilion seats in the fifth and by Sawatki, his second, to the right field roof in the sixth brought the Cards even.

GRAY LAG 'CAP

Dancer Triumphs In Blanket Finish

NEW YORK (AP) — Sword Dancer returned to the scene of his greatest triumph Saturday and showed the form that earned him the 1959 Horse of the Year honors by winning the $70,000 Gray Lag Handicap in a blanket three-horse finish at Aqueduct.

With Eddie Arcaro giving a masterful ride for his fourth winner of the cloudy afternoon, Sword Dancer came outside of three horses at the head of the stretch and just managed to hold off First Landing by a neck at the wire.

Third in the blistering finish, which had a crowd of 46,639 roaring, was W. A. Hanger's Whitley. He was beaten only a nose for second money. It was two more lengths back to Talent Show, who broke the mile track record in winning the Excelsior Handicap two weeks ago with a 3:34 4-5 clocking.

Sword Dancer, who carried top weight of 126 pounds, is owned by the Brookmeade Stable of Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane. First Landing, the 1958 2-year-old champion of C. T. Chenery, carried 124. Whitley had 116, three less than Talent Show.

This was a horse race reminiscent of the battle last fall when Arcaro won the rich Woodward Stakes aboard Sword Dancer, beating Hillsdale and Round Table in a race that clinched horse of the year honors for the spunky chestnut son of Sunglow-Highland Fling.

Sword Dancer's time for the 1¼ miles on a fast track was 1:49 3-5. he paid $7.30, $4.20 and $3.70. First Landing, the 8-5 favorite, returned $3 and $2.60. Whitley, who started at 23-1, paid $7.50.

Arcaro, who may not have a Kentucky Derby mount next Saturday for the first time since 1943, probably decided to celebrate a week early. He had won the third race aboard Informant ($4.), the fifth with Hidden Intent ($6.40) and the sixth with Whitechapel ($3.20) before scoring in the Grey Lag.

Sword Dancer, a bust in Florida during the winter, was 10th in a 11-horse field after the first half-mile as Manassa Mauler set a sizzling early pace. First Landing was second from the start.

Going to the far turn, Manassa Mauler still showed the way with First Landing second. Crasher and Polylad. Sword Dancer then began his move on the outside.

At the top of the home stretch, with about a quarter of a mile to go, Manassa Mauler was on the rail but shortening his strides. First Landing, Whitley and Sword Dancer ranged alongside of him in that order.

Sword Dancer took the lead with about one-eighth mile to go. Then First Landing, with Willie Shoemaker driving furiously, appeared to be gaining. However, he never was quite able to catch the flying Brookmeade ace.

Back of the first four horses came in order, Manassa Mauler, Polylad, Crasher, King o'Turf, Amber Morn, Nimmer and Restless Wind.

Arcaro, in winning his first Grey Lag, said: "It was a hard race and he ran more like his old self. I had a little trouble and had to go outside on the stretch turn. But otherwise I had no difficulties."

Sword Dancer earned $44,800 to boost his all-time bank roll to $651,985.

Smith Cops North-South Golf Crown

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI) — Charlie Smith of Gastonia, N.C., captured his first major golf crown Saturday with a 5 and 3 victory over Peter Green of Franklin, Mich., in the final of the north and south amateur tournament.

Smith, who maintained a steady pace on the front 18-holes of the 36-hole final round, started the second round 4-up after his 19-year-old opponent had sand trap troubles.

The long hitting new champion said he played his best golf during the final round on the No. 2 championship course at the Pinehurst Country Club.

"I had never been qualified in a big tournament until this one," he said after receiving a silver service which went with the crown. Green, the No. 3 man on the University of North Carolina golf team, received a silver cup as runner-up.

Green, five down with five holes left after the 13th, won the 14th with a par. But the younger golfer missed a four-foot putt on the 15th to lose the hole and the match.

RUSTON WINS

Moses Tops Four Jaycees Records

Speedster Freddie Moses of Robert E. Lee led a wholesale assault on the record book here Saturday afternoon, setting four new standards in the second annual Jaycees Junior High track and field meet.

Ruston grabbed team honors, posting 65 points to Lee's second place total of 53½. Defending champion West Monroe, which edged Lee by less than two points in 1959, placed third with 51½. Ouachita was fourth with 50½, Jefferson fifth with 9, Phillips of Ruston sixth with 7, Bastrop seventh with 3½ and Logtown eighth with 2.

Only four of the 15 existing records survived as the eight-team field turned in a fistful of classy times and distances.

Moses, selected as the meet's most outstanding athlete, captured all three dashes and leaped 18 feet 10 inches to win the broad jump, posting records in each event. He sped over the 100-yard dash in 10.5 seconds, won the 220 in 23.5 and captured the 50-yard dash in 5.7.

Moses' time in the century and distance in the broad jump battered the best school marks in the Twin City Relays here last week.

Ruston compiled six first places and established records in three of them — the 440 and the 880 relays and the high jump. Mike Edmunds won the jump at five feet even.

Richard Swift and Echols tied for first place in the pole vault at 8 feet 9 inches. Melvin Shows took the low hurdles in 15.4 and the mile relay foursome sprinted home in 4:09.2.

West Monroe rang up a couple of winners in the shot put and the javelin, with both going for new records. Lawrence Robinson heaved the steel ball 49 feet 9 inches and Chuck Crawford tossed the spear 135 feet 9 inches.

Other old records were eclipsed in the 440 - yard dash and the discus. Marvin Laing of Bastrop streaked home in the 440 with a 56.4 clocking while Ouachita's Larry Lolley won the discus with a performance of 128 feet 4½ inches.

Becton gave Jefferson its lone first place by stepping off the half - mile in 2:23.9.

GRAY LAG 'CAP

Dancer Triumphs In Blanket Finish

NEW YORK (AP) — Sword Dancer returned to the scene of his greatest triumph Saturday and showed the form that earned him the 1959 Horse of the Year honors by winning the $70,000 Gray Lag Handicap in a blanket three-horse finish at Aqueduct.

With Eddie Arcaro giving a masterful ride for his fourth winner of the cloudy afternoon, Sword Dancer came outside of three horses at the head of the stretch and just managed to hold off First Landing by a neck at the wire.

Third in the blistering finish, which had a crowd of 46,639 roaring, was W. A. Hanger's Whitley. He was beaten only a nose for second money. It was two more lengths back to Talent Show, who broke the mile track record in winning the Excelsior Handicap two weeks ago with a 3:34 4-5 clocking.

Sword Dancer, who carried top weight of 126 pounds, is owned by the Brookmeade Stable of Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloane. First Landing, the 1958 2-year-old champion of C. T. Chenery, carried 124. Whitley had 116, three less than Talent Show.

This was a horse race reminiscent of the battle last fall when Arcaro won the rich Woodward Stakes aboard Sword Dancer, beating Hillsdale and Round Table in a race that clinched horse of the year honors for the spunky chestnut son of Sunglow-Highland Fling.

Sword Dancer's time for the 1⅛ miles on a fast track was 1:49 3-5, he paid $7.30, $4.20 and $3.70. First Landing, the 8-5 favorite, returned $3 and $2.60. Whitley, who started at 23-1, paid $7.50.

Arcaro, who may not have a Kentucky Derby mount next Saturday for the first time since 1943, probably decided to celebrate a week early. He had won the third race aboard Informant ($4.), the fifth with Hidden Intent ($6.40) and the sixth with Whitechapel ($3.20) before scoring in the Grey Lag.

Sword Dancer, a bust in Florida during the winter, was 10th in a 11-horse field after the first half-mile as Manassa Mauler set a sizzling early pace. First Landing was second from the start.

Going to the far turn, Manassa Mauler still showed the way with First Landing second, Crasher and Polylad. Sword Dancer then began his move on the outside.

At the top of the home stretch, with about a quarter of a mile to go, Manassa Mauler was on the rail but shortening his strides. First Landing, Whitley and Sword Dancer ranged alongside of him in that order.

Sword Dancer took the lead with about one-eighth mile to go. Then First Landing, with Willie Shoemaker driving furiously, appeared to be gaining. However, he never was quite able to catch the flying Brookmeade ace.

Back of the first four horses came in order, Manassa Mauler, Polylad, Crasher, King o'Turf, Amber Morn, Nimmer and Restless Wind.

Arcaro, in winning his first Grey Lag, said: "It was a hard race and he ran more like his old self. I had a little trouble and had to go outside on the stretch turn. But otherwise I had no difficulties."

Sword Dancer earned $44,800 to boost his all-time bank roll to $651,985.

Smith Cops North-South Golf Crown

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI) — Charlie Smith of Gastonia, N.C., captured his first major golf crown Saturday with a 5 and 3 victory over Peter Green of Franklin, Mich., in the final of the north and south amateur tournament.

Smith, who maintained a steady pace on the front 18-holes of the 36-hole final round, started the second round 4-up after his 19-year-old opponent had sand trap troubles.

The long hitting new champion said he played his best golf during the final round on the No. 2 championship course at the Pinehurst Country Club.

"I had never been qualified in a big tournament until this one," he said after receiving a silver service which went with the crown. Green, the No. 3 man on the University of North Carolina golf team, received a silver cup as runner-up.

Green, five down with five holes left after the 13th, won the 14th with a par. But the younger golfer missed a four-foot putt on the 15th to lose the hole and the match.

ROYAL WEDDING

Pageantry Will Climax Romance

LONDON (AP) — A blaze of pageantry on Friday will climax the storybook romance of Britain's lovely Princess Margaret.

On that day amid the magnificent pomp this monarchial democracy stages in utmost splendor, she will wed her commoner sweetheart, Antony Armstrong-Jones.

Under the majestic trappings, it's the simple story of boy-meets-girl and the wishes of countless thousands for their happiness.

There's nothing simple about the setting, though.

The pretty princess will ride in a glass coach beneath an archway of 20,000 roses. Massed trumpets will sound. Drums will roll and royalty, the famous and the unknown will watch.

The settings are historic Westminster Abbey, Buckingham Palace, the streets of storied London, and the honeymoon yacht sailing down the Thames to the West Indies.

The magic moment for the royal wedding comes at three minutes past 11 o'clock Friday morning. (British summer time is 73 hours ahead of Eastern Standard Time.)

At that minute the carriage procession carrying the bride's oldest sister, Queen Elizabeth II, Queen Ingrid of Denmark and members of the British royal family will leave Buckingham Palace.

They will roll down the beautifully decorated mall — a wide stretch of tree-lined roadway from the palace to Trafalgar Square—turn through the Horse Guards Arch, head down Whitehall past the government buildings, rumble under Big Ben and draw up before Westminster Abbey at 11:15.

A mile away at the same time, the glass carriage — the smoothest riding of all the royal rigs—will carry Margaret and her brother-in-law, Prince Philip, from Clarence House.

At 11:25 the princess and Philip will roll up before the abbey's great west door.

Meanwhile, the bridegroom and his best man, Dr. Roger Gillatt, will drive to the deanery beside the abbey and slip into the abbey through a side door near the Poet's Corner.

Inside the great edifice, the archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, will take over.

A simple but rarely seen religious ritual will bind the couple together—the blessing of the hands and the wedding rings. his ceremony is not used in most Church of England marriages, but Princess Margaret and Armstrong-Jones asked for it. Friends say the [illegible] church rite was selected by Margaret because she desires to stress the importance of the marriage vows — including her promise to obey.

The princess will say to the bridegroom:

"I, Margaret Rose, take thee Antony Charles Robert to my wedded husband, to have and to hold from this day forward, for better for worse, for richer and poorer, in sickness and in health, to love, cherish and to obey, till death do us part, according to God's holy ordinance: and thereto I give thee my troth."

By 12:40 p.m. the bride, groom and the wedding party should be back at Buckingham Palace for what is technically called the wedding breakfast.

The crowds outside will shout and cheer and, if history repeats, the principals of another royal marriage will appear on the balcony.

Then early Friday afternoon Margaret and her husband will ride from the palace to the muddy Thames. A royal barge will take them to the royal yacht Britania and with 20 naval officers and 237 sailors, the honeymoonres will sail at 5:15 to the English Channel, across the Atlantic to the warm breezes of the West Indies.

Hoover Quotes Ex-Convict On Prison Terms

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover Saturday quoted an ex-convict as saying that light sentences for serious crimes tend to encourage lawbreaking.

Writing in the May issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin, Hoover noted President Eisenhower again has designated May 1 as Law Day "to emphasize to Americans the perils posed by lawlessness."

Hoover asked when the country may expect to see an end to a constantly rising crime rate.

"I recently received a letter from an ex-convict in a Western state which partially answers this question," he continued. "The correspondent has an arrest record dating back to April, 1938, for larceny of an automobile, forgery, burglary, desertion from the armed forces and directing a salvage-stolen-car operation.

"Admittedly no philosopher, this former criminal wrote indignantly of the light sentences given to vicious criminals in some courts.

"Referring to persons of criminal inclinations, he wrote, 'The only thing that keeps most people honest is the fear of getting caught and the punishment.' Again, with simplicity but with the ring of truth, 'Most everyone would borrow money if they did not have to pay it back—the same is true of breaking the law.'

"But perhaps the most thought-provoking comment from this man who has seen crime from the other side of the fence is this: 'I will say again, I respect good police officers. . . It isn't their fault that the judges don't fit the sentence to the crime and person.'"

FEDERAL JUDGE Louis E. Goodman rejected an appeal in San Francisco to save convict-author Caryl Chessman from execution Monday. Grounds for the rejection were not learned immediately. (AP Wirephoto)

State Workers' Week Exceeds Standard Hours

The standard workweek of many of Louisiana's classified state employees is in excess of the normal 40 hour workweek, according to W. W. McDougall, director of the Louisiana Department of Civil Service.

A recent survey by the Department shows that although a minimum of 40 hours per week is required for all full time state employees, many agencies find it necessary to have longer workweeks due to the lack of funds for employment of sufficient personnel to render the required services to the public in a lesser period of time.

"The heads of all agencies have the authority to determine the workweek of employees and are anxious to standardize the workweek so the employees can be treated equally and equitably," McDougal stated. "The unequal workweek is even more unfortunate in those instances 'where compensatory or overtime pay cannot be allowed for the extended workweeks," he concluded.

A new formula paint which will kill or repel insects is now in the development stage.

State Workers' Week Exceeds Standard Hours

The standard workweek of many of Louisiana's classified state employees is in excess of the normal 40 hour workweek, according to W. W. McDougall, director of the Louisiana Department of Civil Service.

A recent survey by the Department shows that although a minimum of 40 hours per week is required for all full time state employees, many agencies find it necessary to have longer workweeks due to the lack of funds for employment of sufficient personnel to render the required services to the public in a lesser period of time.

"The heads of all agencies have the authority to determine the workweek of employees and are anxious to standardize the workweek so the employees can be treated equally and equitably," McDougal stated. "The unequal workweek is even more unfortunate in those instances where compensatory or overtime pay cannot be allowed for the extended workweeks," he concluded.

A new formula paint which will kill or repel insects is now in the development stage.

Apply a coat of regular floor wax to rubbers, boots and galoshes before storing them for the summer. Simply dip a paper towel in wax and glaze over outer surfaces briskly.

The wax retards drying and cracking of the rubber and will help retain the appearance of these overshoes. Tuck a paper towel in each toe to help them keep their shape.

Apply a coat of regular floor wax to rubbers, boots and galoshes before storing them for the summer. Simply dip a paper towel in wax and glaze over outer surfaces briskly.

The wax retards drying and cracking of the rubber and will help retain the appearance of these overshoes. Tuck a paper towel in each toe to help them keep their shape.

Kiper-Barfield Vows Heard In Wisner Church

The First Baptist Church in Wisner was the setting last Thursday evening for the wedding of Miss Mary Barfield and Ernest Kiper. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Barfield, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Asa Kiper, all of Wisner. The Rev. Carlton Vance performed the double - ring ceremony.

The church was transformed for the occasion into a flower garden of white iris intermingled with dogwood and bridal wreath arranged in tall baskets placed on either side of the altar. Forming a background were six tall candelabra holding white tapers entertwined with English ivy.

Ascending the aisle on the arm of her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of white imported Chantilly lace over white satin, featuring elbow length sleeves, round neckline, and fitted bodice. A white satin bow with streamers to the hemline enhanced the back of the gown. Her veil of illusion was crowned with a tiara of seed pearls and imported hand made Belgian lace. She carried a white purple-throated orchid upon a small white Bible.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Joan Worley of Baton Rouge, who served as maid-of-honor. She wore a white nylon organza embroidered in blue ballerina length dress accented by a crushed taffeta cummerbund. She wore a matching small hat with white accessories.

Mr. Kiper served his son as best man. Ushers were Joe Blair, Donald Ross, Kenneth Thornhill, and David McLemore.

For her daughter's wedding and the reception which followed in the church parlors, Mrs. Barfield chose a beige linen sheath featuring embroidered flowers at the neck line accented with seed pearls and matching jacket and hat. A corsage of pink carnations completed the ensemble. Mrs. Kiper wore a pink linen sheath with round neck line trimmed with tiny pearls. She wore beige accessories and a halo of pink carnations in her hair.

The bride's table at the reception was covered with a pink linen cloth upon which was the tiered wedding cake. It was decorated with roses and topped with wedding bells and was the work of the groom's aunt, Mrs. Rufus Knight of Sicily Island.

Miss Su Ann Kiper, sister of the groom, served the wedding cake, and Mrs. James R. Watson, sister of the groom, served at the punch bowl. She was assisted by Misses Robin Hammons and Jeanette Oglesby.

Candlelight Needs Extra Make-Up Touch

If you are planning to dine by candlelight, don't make the mistake of thinking your beauty will be at its best in an atmosphere of low lights without more than the usual attention to your makeup.

Because candlelight can be color-draining to any face, wear your usual shade of foundation make - up but be sure to delicately blend cheek rouge over a larger area than you normally would so that your complexion color will retain a warm glow. Your lipstick should be a clear, clear red or a sparkling iridescent shade. (Avoid lipsticks with blue tones as they will look dark and shadowy in dim light.)

To make your eyes glow, wear iridescent shades of eyeshadow and mascara. For extra sparkle add a white or golden iridescent shade over your lipstick color and make your hair glisten with just a touch of liquid hair dressing.

To complete the picture, accent your face and costume by wearing clear, light jewels like rhinestones, crystals, diamonds or pearls.

MR. AND MRS. HOMER NEWTON CAMPBELL

Faith Church Scene Of Campbell-Lawrence Vows

Miss Mary Elizabeth Lawrence, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Lawrence, became the bride of Homer Newton Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Campbell in a late - afternoon wedding in the Faith Baptist Church April 16. The Rev. T. Earl Ogg officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Baskets of white and pink gladioli flanked the altar, which was lighted by two pair of candelabra holding white candles. Miss Betty Pope at the piano accompanied Mrs. Jane Oldenburg, who sang "Because," "Through the Years," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Her floor - length gown of net and lace was fashioned with short sleeves and she wore long white gloves. A tiara of pearl and sequins held her finger - tip veil. She carried a bouquet of feathered carnations centered with a yellow-throated orchid.

Mrs. Roger Kelley, matron of honor, wore a dress of pink lace over taffeta. The bridesmaid, Miss Dianne Oglesby, cousin of the groom, and Miss Dianne Campbell, sister of the groom, junior bridesmaid, wore identical dresses of pink chiffon over taffeta. All three carried bouquets of white carnations with pink ribbon streamers.

Flower girls were Nancy Campbell, sister of the groom, and Linda Lawrence, cousin of the bride, who wore white nylon printed with pink flowers. They carried baskets of white mums which they scattered before the bride.

Jeff Lawrence, brother of the bride, was best man, and ushers were Dale Manchester and Dean Campbell.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lawrence was wearing a two - piece dress of powder blue linen with white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Campbell, mother of the groom, chose a white hat and bone accessories to wear with her blue linen dress. A white carnation corsage completed the ensemble.

The activity building of the church was the scene of the reception immediately following the wedding. The table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink and white gladioli flanked by white candles. Mrs. W. R. Moore, aunt of the bride, from Vicksburg, and Mrs. Jerry Lambert served punch.

At the other end of the table was the tiered wedding cake, decorated in pink and white and topped with a miniature bride and groom under a wedding arch. Mrs. Ezra Armstrong and Mrs. Johnny C. Hall, cousins of the groom, served cake.

For travelling, the bride changed into a beige two - piece suit with which she wore the yellow - throated orchid from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return from their wedding trip to Pensacola, the couple will be at home in Monroe.

Out of town guests who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Scott, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sanders and Patsy, Mrs. Ethel Gallaspy, Mrs. Bill Beard, Mrs. W. R. Candlelight Needs Extra Make-Up Touch

If you are planning to dine by candlelight, don't make the mistake of thinking your beauty will be at its best in an atmosphere of low lights without more than the usual attention to your makeup.

Because candlelight can be color-draining to any face, wear your usual shade of foundation make - up but be sure to delicately blend cheek rouge over a larger area than you normally would so that your complexion color will retain a warm glow. Your lipstick should be a clear, clear red or a sparkling iridescent shade. (Avoid lipsticks with blue tones as they will look dark and shadowy in dim light.)

To make your eyes glow, wear iridescent shades of eyeshadow and mascara. For extra sparkle, add a white or golden iridescent shade over your lipstick color, and make your hair glisten with just a touch of liquid hair dressing.

To complete the picture, accent your face and costume by wearing clear, light jewels like rhinestones, crystals, diamonds or pearls.

Getting ready for Mother's Day next Sunday, here are three short poems dealing with children and parents. First, these lines by Richard Armour:

At last my child says "Please" and "Thank you"
Without his being told to.
Of course the lad is grown and married
And I am pretty old, too.

Next, "Case History" by Anita Raskin:

One day she is giddy and giggly and gay:
The next she is silent and arty.
One day she is pledged to a lifetime of play:
The next — to the Socialist Party.

One day she's elusive and shy as a doe;
The next she is limpid as water.
And perfectly normal, as surely you know—
Or aren't you raising a daughter?

And, lastly, "Returned Favor" by Leonard Schiff:

We wake our sons to go to school
By seven-fifteen, as a rule:
Which they repay in little ways—
Like waking us on holidays.

Give your hair a head start toward beauty every time you shampoo. First, put your hands into your hair and slowly message the scalp — back and forth, up and down, round and round. Next, with head bent forward, brush, brush, brush. Complete the ritual with a good shampoo that cleans, conditions and tones your hair until it sparkles and squeaks with delight.

Cosmopolitan Dance Has May Day Theme

"May Day" was the theme carried out in the decorations for the Cosmopolitan club's Spring dance Friday night. Maypoles and pastel flowers were used in the ballroom of the Paragon club, where the party was held.

Miniature Maypoles were used on each of the individual tables which encircled the dance floor. Around the poles were dolls dressed in crepe paper skirts of pale green, lavender, blue, pink, and yellow.

Nametags were given to the members as they entered. Each was a small white card to which was attached a nosegay of spring flowers.

The decoration committee for the dance consisted of Mrs. Fred Liner, Mrs. Hewitt Johnson, Mrs. Henry Mayo, Mrs. Barney Pate, Mrs. Klien Crow, and Mrs. Bob Bright. They were assisted by Mrs. Zell Smith.

MAKE-UP TRICKS

It's always fun to have a cache of glamour tricks stashed away in a corner of your mind to bring out when a gown or an occasion begs for an exotic look which is beautifully different from all others. Such tricks, give you the reputation of being a beauty.

Double your eye glamour some night when your gown is simple and your eyes will become the center of attention by using two artificial eyelash strips over each eye instead of one. Then whoosh up the look of black Chantilly lace by mascaring your own lashes and the two pairs of artificial ones. The effect is devasting.

Miss Faust, Mr. Crowell Wed In Church Ceremony

The First Methodist church in Rayville was the setting for the marriage of Miss Cornelia Elizabeth Faust and Ward Crowell of McGuire Air Force Base, New Jersey, on Saturday afternoon, April 23. The Rev. E. B. Emmerick officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Faust of Rayville, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Laurence B. Crowell of Concord, Massachusetts.

A pre - nuptial concert was given by Mrs. W. L. Calhoun at the organ. Selections included "The Wedding Prelude", "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice", and "The Wedding Prayer".

The bride's attendants were Miss Helen Diamond of Baton Rouge, maid of honor; Mrs. George L. Gladney, Jr., of Rayville, matron of honor; Miss Ann Page of Baton Rouge, Miss Susie Bradley of Delhi, and Miss Donnah Jean Parrish of Hot Springs, bridesmaids.

They wore identical dresses of leaf green silk organza over taffeta, fashioned with scooped necklines, bracelet length sleeve and flared skirts. Their headdresses were of English ivy, and each carried a single white Duchess rose centering a crescent of English ivy.

BRIDE

The bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Her gown of ivory peau de soie was styled with a cowl neckline and long pointed sleeves. Re-embroidered Belgium lace and seed pearls was used on the bodice. The fullness of the floor - length skirt was pulled to the back, where it flowed into a chapel train. A crown of scalloped Rumanian peau de soie trimmed with seed pearls held the finger tip veil of English silk illusion. She carried a bouquet of white Calla lilies.

Donald Faust was best man, and groomsmen were Bill Faust, Davis P. Burk, Jr., George Purvis, Jr., and George L. Gladney, Jr.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Owen in Rayville.

For traveling, the bride changed into a charcoal linen sheath topped with a lantern-sleeved jacket. The young couple left on a tour of Florida. On their return, they will be at home in Mount Holly, New Jersey.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Laurence B. Crowell, and Mark Crowell of Concord, Massachusetts; William Hagyman of Belmont, Massachusetts; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Parrish and Mrs. J. L. Parrish of Hot Springs, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. French of Warren, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Norris, Lake Village, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Davidson of Bernice; L. E. Williamson of Ruston; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Smith of Homer; Mr. and Mrs. John Bradley, John Bradley Jr., of Delhi; Miss Sally Garnier, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Tarver, Miss Allie Marie Coats of Monroe, Mrs. Betty Coats of Delhi, and Larry White of Bogalusa.

MAKE-UP TRICKS

It's always fun to have a cache of glamour tricks stashed away in a corner of your mind to bring out when a gown or an occasion begs for an exotic look which is beautifully different from all others. Such tricks, give you the reputation of being a beauty.

Double your eye glamour some night when your gown is simple and your eyes will become the center of attention by using two artificial eyelash strips over each eye instead of one. Then whoosh up the look of black Chantilly lace by mascaring your own lashes and the two pairs of artificial ones. The effect is devasting.

Cosmopolitan Dance Has May Day Theme

"May Day" was the theme carried out in the decorations for the Cosmopolitan club's Spring dance Friday night. Maypoles and pastel flowers were used in the ballroom of the Paragon club, where the party was held.

Focal point of the decor was the eight foot Maypole used on the bandstand. Pastel ribbons wreathed the pole, which was topped with pink and blue flowers. Streamers extended from the top of the pole to the edge of the bandstand, where they were attached to spring bouquets.

Miniature Maypoles were used on each of the individual tables which encircled the dance floor. Around the poles were dolls dressed in crepe paper skirts of pale green, lavender, blue, pink, and yellow.

Nametags were given to the members as they entered. Each was a small white card to which was attached a nosegay of spring flowers.

The decoration committee for the dance consisted of Mrs. Fred Liner, Mrs. Hewitt Johnson, Mrs. Henry Mayo, Mrs. Barney Pate, Mrs. Klien Crow, and Mrs. Bob Bright. They were assisted by Mrs. Zell Smith.

Mrs. Jerry Webster and Mrs. Jack Tarver were the entertainment committee for this party.

Members of the Cosmopolitan club are Messrs. and Mesdames Carter Ackel, George Adams, Bob Bacall, Dick Bailey, Bill Bartlett, R. K. Lexington PTA Study Group Ends Year

The Study Group of the Lexington Avenue School PTA met on Wednesday, at 1:00 p.m., in the Youth Room of St. Paul's Methodist Church, with Mrs. A. P. Andrews, Chairman of Community Activities, presiding over the meeting. Charles M. Tillman from the Education Department of Northeast State was the guest speaker, and his topic was "Children's Reading Habits and Related Factors."

Mr. Tillman pointed out that reading and study habits are important for children of all intellectual levels, and that the formation of these habits should begin during the pre-school years when the parent reads to the child and then shares periods of "play-study" time as child colors, draws, or plays at a desk or table. He also emphasized motivation as the determining factor in reading and study habits. It is necessary for parents to help the child with the organization of a schedule and plan for study. There should be a regular time and a proper place with appropriate surroundings and finally an efficient method of study.

This meeting concluded the Study Group year; there will not be a meeting in May as previously scheduled.

THE REV. AND MRS. FRED DOOLITTLE, of Monroe, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Karen Ann, to Ellis E. McGee son of Mr. and Mrs. Euil E. McGee, of Pioneer, Louisiana. The wedding will take place July 15 at Emmanuel Baptist Church in Monroe.

He also emphasized motivation as the determining factor in reading and study habits. It is necessary for parents to help the child with the organization of a schedule and plan for study. There should be a regular time and a proper place with appropriate surroundings and finally an efficient method of study.

This meeting concluded the Study Group year; there will not be a meeting in May as previously scheduled.

Welcome Garden Club Tours Area Gardens

An out of town tour, including visits to gardens in Ruston and Arcadia, and a picnic lunch, was the April meeting for the Welcome Garden club of the Twin Cities.

Members and guests gathered first in West Monroe, and then motored to Ruston, where they stopped at the home of Miss Evelyn Tolbot. After coffee and cookies were served in the dining room and old fashioned kitchen of the colonial home, the group toured the house, gardens, and green house. Azaleas, camellias, and bulbs were all in full bloom.

The tour continued to Arcadia and the home of the Robert Congers. The large garden makes unusual use of wild and native plants. Interspersed with ivy growing in the trees was purple wisteria in bloom. Bird feeders and bird houses were used in the yard, with a bird bath the focal point of a formal patio.

Tables were set up on the terraced cook - out area, and here the members and guests set out their picnic lunches. Those attending were Mesdames W. W. Whitfield, Jr., L. T. Murphy, K. R. Young, J. K. Hall, Frank Pettit, A. R. Bates, Nita Golsen, M. W. Montgomery, Elise McKay, Ed Hislop, C. C. Lacky, F. K. Matthews, V S. Garrett, J. L. Whipkey, R. W. Bandy, Robert Cowden, R. O. Ware, and L. J. Hulin.

Jewelry Makes Big Splash This Summer

This is the summer when women can wear a peck of costume jewelry — and get away with it.

The simple, understated lines of this year's fashions permit a splash of jewelry, applied with a lavish hand. New pins can be big as doorknobs, new necklaces can be a foot wide. There's no pretense that these gewgaws are real or valuable — they're frankly phony gems and worn for gaiety and fun.

A trio of big, bold button pins, in flower shapes and colors, can march down the bodice or bolero of a black dress with telling effect. Completing the picture can be matching earrings and a five-strand necklace and bracelet.

Multiple - strand bib or cascade necklaces may fill in a low neckline or be worn with a simple high-necked dress. Bright, light pastels are high in favor for the costume jewelry, making a bold splash of color on a neutral costume. Most popular colors are bright coral, lemon yellow, [illegible] blue, sandy beige, sunset pink and, of course, white.

Some women combine two or three necklaces to make their own color combinations, such as coral and turquoise or pink and white.

Summer is the season to be gay, and this year's costume jewelry provides the way.

Girl Scout News

Girl Scouts of Troop 22 enjoyed a trip to Baton Rouge and Natchez during the Easter holidays, fulfilling many of the requirements for the traveler proficiency badge and having fun besides. In Baton Rouge, the troop visited the capitol and L. S. U. The Museum of Natural History, where they saw the dioramas of Louisiana wildlife which impressed the girls. Mrs. J. H. Wood, their leader states, adding that Mike the Tiger probably was the biggest attraction of all.

Staying at a motel for the night, picnicking by the roadside on the way, [illegible] Stanton Hall and Longwood in Natchez on the way home, were other highlights of the trip.

Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Don Spargo, and Mrs. T. H. White accompanied the eleven girls of the troop who made the trip as follows: Jane Brant, Denise Duncan, Kathy Shaver, Donna Spargo, Sue Speight, Carol Sagar, Karen Walker, Irma White, Berita Williams, Dottie Wood, Sherry Wood.

At troop meetings the girls had written letters to make arrangements, had discussed and practiced proper behavior, dress, what to take, how to pack. Leaders say the girls carried out all they had learned and were perfect examples of good Girl Scouts.

Yesterday was Brownie day at Pine Wood, a field for the young ones, a chance for the [illegible] to do out-of-door requirements, and Intermediates to [illegible] and to do badge work.

We can name any number of girls who are "headin' for the next roundup" after being at camp with the Alexandria girls who had attended the '59 senior roundup. The eight girls wearing their roundup uniforms of dark green bermuda shorts, long green socks, white blouse, straw hats for protection from sun, talked about their experiences and answered questions our girls asked.

All enjoyed seeing the color film "A Mile High, A World Wide" depicting activities in that city of 10,000 girls and women last summer in Colorado. The roundup patrol had not seen the film and it brought back memories of the good times.

The patrol pitched a tent and showed how they lived at roundup, cooked their lunch over charcoal stoves and invited the planning group to eat with them. All afternoon groups of girls could be seen talking to one of the visitors, looking at the display. Many of the girls who Saturday got a glimpse of roundup will be old enough for the 1962 roundup at Valley Forge. It's not too early to plan!

Plans are going forward for a district court-of-awards for May 20, with all Intermediate troops invited to present badges at that time. Troops which have worked on badges in the arts and crafts fields are invited to prepare a display on a card table. Sounds like a good idea!

Chamberlain-Conville Vows Made In Hodge

On Saturday April 16, at six o'clock in the evening, at the Assembly of God Church in North Hodge, Miss Brenda Fae Conville became the bride of Bobby Ray Chamberlain. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Conville of Hodge, and he is the son of Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Chamberlain of North Hodge.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Chamberlain, before an alter flanked by branched candelabra holding white tapers, baskets of white Easter lilies, and bridal wreath.

As the guests were being seated, Mrs. F. C. Chamberlain at the organ rendered a program of nuptial music, and accompanied Forrest Hall who sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Forrest Hall was her sister's matron of honor and only attendant. She wore a street length dress of pink taffeta, with a fitted bodice, low V-neckline, three quarter length sleeves, lace cummerbund, and full skirt. She wore white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. Her waltz length gown was of Chantilly lace over satin. The fitted bodice featured a fitted scalloped neckline, short capped sleeves, and tiny covered buttons. The full flowing skirt was complemented by a white satin bow. Her waist length veil of silk illusion fell from a bandeau of white satin. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with white satin streamers. Her only ornament was a single string of dewdrop pearls, a gift from the groom.

F. C. Chamberlain Jr. served his brother as best man. Ushers were Bobby Gene Hall and Michael Ashbrook.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Church Annex.

The bride's table was covered with a cut work cloth, centered with a crystal epergne filled with bridal wreath and paper white iris. The tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was served by Mrs. J. E. Townly Jr., sister of the bride. At the opposite end of the table the crystal punch service was presided over by Miss Sylvia Conville, another sister of the bride.

For travel, the bride chose a white sheath of spring material with tangerine and white accessories. Her corsage was of flowers from her bouquet. After a brief wedding trip, the couple is at home in North Hodge.

Out of town guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Griffin Crowell, and Mr. and Mrs. Audrice Young of Taylor, La., Mrs. Lucille Candler of Shreveport, and Michael Ashbrook of Alexandria.

PUTS TOWN ON MAP

MOUNTAINSIDE, N. J. (AP)—Paul Marzell, 15, has put this borough squarely on the map.

To do it he used six large boards and 80 pounds of plaster. His model, scaled three feet to the mile, includes homes, lawns, trees and utility poles in miniature.

It took the high school student six weeks. He used a map, shinnied up trees to get the lay of the land, and bicycled through the borough's four square miles to count the houses.

He's thinking of becoming a real estate man like his father.

Welcome Garden Club Tours Area Gardens

An out of town tour, including visits to gardens in Ruston and Arcadia, and a picnic lunch, was the April meeting for the Welcome Garden club of the Twin Cities.

Members and guests gathered first in West Monroe, and then motored to Ruston, where they stopped at the home of Miss Evelyn Tolbot. After coffee and cookies were served in the dining room and old fashioned kitchen of the colonial home, the group toured the house, gardens, and green house. Azaleas, camellias, and bulbs were all in full bloom.

The tour continued to Arcadia and the home of the Robert Congers. The large garden makes unusual use of wild and native plants. Interspersed with ivy growing in the trees was purple wisteria in bloom. Bird feeders and bird houses were used in the yard, with a bird bath the focal point of a formal patio.

Tables were set up on the terraced cook - out area, and here the members and guests set out their picnic lunches. Those attending were Mesdames W. W. Whitfield, Jr., L. T. Murphy, K. R. Young, J. K. Ezell, Frank Pettit, A. R. Bates, Nita Golson, M. W. Montgomery, Elise McKay, Ed Hislop, C. C. Lucky, F. K. Matthews, V.S. Garnett, J. L. Whipkey, R. W. Bandy, Robert Cowden, R. O. Ware, and L. J. Hulin.

Jewelry Makes Big Splash This Summer

This is the summer when women can wear a peck of costume jewelry — and get away with it.

The simple, understated lines of this year's fashions permit a splash of jewelry, applied with a lavish hand. New pins can be big as doorknobs, new necklaces can be a foot wide. There's no pretense that these gewgaws are real or valuable — they're frankly phony gems and worn for gaiety and fun.

A trio of big, bold button pins, in flower shapes and colors, can march down the bodice of bolero of a black dress with telling effect. Completing the picture can be matching earrings and a five-strand necklace and bracelet.

Multiple - strand bib or cascade necklaces may fill in a low neckline or be worn with a simple high-necked dress. Bright, light pastels are high in favor for the costume jewelry, making a bold splash of color on a neutral costume. Most popular colors are bright coral, lemon yellow, ocean blue, sandy beige, sunset pink and, of course, white.

Some women combine two or three necklaces to make their own color combinations, such as coral and turquoise or pink and white.

Summer is the season to be gay, and this year's costume jewelry provides the way.

Girl Scout News

Girl Scouts of Troop 32 enjoyed a trip to Baton Rouge and Natchez during the Easter holidays, fulfilling many of the requirements for the traveler proficiency badge and having fun besides. In Baton Rouge, the troop visited the capitol and L. S. U. The Museum of Natural History, where they saw the dioramas of Louisiana wildlife which impressed the girls, Mrs. J. E. Wood, their leader states, adding that Mike the Tiger probably was the biggest attraction of all.

Staying at a motel for the night, picnicking by the roadside on the way down, visiting Stanton Hall and Longwood in Natchez on the way back, were other highlights of the trip.

Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Don Spargo, and Mrs. T. H. White accompanied the eleven girls of the troop who made the trip as follows: Jane Brant, Denise Duncan, Kathy Shaver, Donna Spargo, Sue Speight, Carol Sugar, Karen Walker, Irma White, Benita Williams, Dottie Wood, Sherry Wood.

At troop meetings the girls had written letters to make arrangements, had discussed and practiced proper behavior, dress, what to take, how to pack. Leaders say the girls carried out all they had learned and were perfect examples of good Girl Scouts.

Yesterday was Brownie day at Pine Wood, a thrill for the young ones, a chance for the fly-ups to do out-of-door reqirements, and Intermediates to have cookouts and to do badge work.

We can name any number of girls who are "headin' for the next roundup" after being at camp with the Alexandria girls who had attended the '59 senior roundup. The eight girls wearing their roundup uniforms of dark green bermuda shorts, long green socks, white blouse, straw hats for protection from sun, talked about their experiences and answered questions our girls asked.

All enjoyed seeing the color film "A Mile High, A World Wide" depicting activities in that city of 10,000 girls and women last summer in Colorado. The roundup patrol had not seen the film and it brought back memories of the good times.

The patrol pitched a tent and showed how they lived at roundup, cooked their lunch over charcoal stoves and invited the planning group to eat with them. All afternoon groups of girls could be seen talking to one of the visitors, looking at the display. Many of the girls who Saturday got a glimpse of roundup will be old enough for the 1962 roundup at Valley Forge. It's not too early to plan!

Plans are going forward for a district court-of-awards for May 20, with all Intermediate troops invited to present badges at that time. Troops which have worked on badges in the arts and crafts fields are invited to prepare a display on a card table. Sounds like a good idea!

Chamberlain-Conville Vows Made In Hodge

On Saturday April 16, at six o'clock in the evening, at the Assembly of God Church in North Hodge, Miss Brenda Fae Conville became the bride of Bobby Ray Chamberlain. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Conville of Hodge, and he is the son of Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Chamberlain of North Hodge.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Chamberlain, before an alter flanked by branched candelabra holding white tapers, baskets of white Easter lilies, and bridal wreath.

As the guests were being seated, Mrs. F. C. Chamberlain at the organ rendered a program of nuptial music, and accompanied Forrest Hall who sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Forrest Hall was her sister's matron of honor and only attendant. She wore a street length dress of pink taffeta, with a fitted bodice, low V-neckline, three quarter length sleeves, lace cummerbund, and full skirt. She wore white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The bride entered with her father who gave her in marriage. Her waltz length gown was of Chantilly lace over satin. The fitted bodice featured a fitted scalloped neckline, short capped sleeves, and tiny covered buttons. The full flowing skirt was complemented by a white satin bow. Her waist length veil of silk illusion fell from a bandeau of white satin. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with white satin streamers. Her only ornament was a single string of dewdrop pearls, a gift from the groom.

F. C. Chamberlain Jr. served his brother as best man. Ushers were Bobby Gene Hall and Michael Ashbrook.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Conville chose a navy blue spring model with black accessories. She wore a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Chamberlain wore a mauve lace model with white accessories. She also wore a white carnation corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the Church Annex.

Guests were invited to sign the register by Miss Meredith Chamberlain, sister of the groom.

The bride's table was covered with a cut work cloth, centered with a crystal epergne filled with bridal wreath and paper white iris. The tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was served by Mrs. J. E. Townly Jr., sister of the bride. At the opposite end of the table the crystal punch service was presided over by Miss Sylvia Conville, another sister of the bride.

For travel, the bride chose a white sheath of spring material with tangerine and white accessories. Her corsage was of flowers from her bouquet. After a brief wedding trip, the couple is at home in North Hodge.

Out of town guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Griffin Crowell, and Mr. and Mrs. Audrice Young of Taylor, La., Mrs. Lucille Candler of Shreveport, and Michael Ashbrook of Alexandria.

PUTS TOWN ON MAP

MOUNTAINSIDE, N. J. (AP)—Paul Marzell, 15, has put this borough squarely on the map.

To do it he used six large boards and 80 pounds of plaster. His model, scaled three feet to the mile, includes homes, lawns, trees and utility poles in miniature.

It took the high school student six weeks. He used a map, shinnied up trees to get the lay of the land, and bicycled through the borough's four square miles to count the houses.

He's thinking of becoming a real estate man like his father.

Women To Be Honored By Stamp Issue

A 4-cent stamp honoring "The American Woman" will be placed on sale June 2, 1960, at Washington, D. C., in conjunction with a conference under the sponsorship of the Women's Bureau, Department of Labor. The design was prepared by Robert Sivard, Chief of the Exhibits Division, United States Information Agency.

The artist, Robert Sivard, received his art education at Pratt Institute and the National Academy in New York, and in Paris at the Academy Julian. His early work included murals in the Oregon State Capitol and both the New York and San Francisco World Fairs.

Subsequently he was an art director in the publishing and advertising field, and in 1950, while working abroad, he joined the United States Foreign Service as a visual information officer.

His paintings have been displayed at one-man shows in Paris and at the Midtown Gallery in New York. He has exhibited at the Museum of Modern Art, Paris, the Carnegie International and many other U. S. Museums, and has received awards from the Corcoran Gallery in Washington and the National Academy of Design.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, in announcing this stamp, expressed the hope that it will, "through design and purpose, pay great tribute to American women who give so much to the social, economic, and spiritual life of our Nation. "The accomplishments of Women of the United States are not only of interest to our country but to the women of all nations who are achieving more acceptance in the social, economic, and political life of their countries.

"There are more than 63 million adult women in the United States, and more than 25 million of them are mothers of children of preschool and school age. The more than 22 million working women make up more than a third of all workers in the country."

In the center of the stamp design, against a plain background, is a sketch of a mother and a young girl with an open book before them, symbolizing women in the home. This sketch gives the appearance of being loosely pasted against a solid background. Across the top, in white Roman letters are the words "The American Woman."

Five niches appear at the sides and bottom — three of which denote contributions of women to the greatness of this Nation. To the left, in the upper portion, is a niche designated as "Civic Affairs," featuring a building symbolizing women's participation at all levels of government, and a gavel indicative of women's voluntary organizations. There are an estimated 20 million women affiliated with 600 organizations.

In the lower left, in another niche, denoting "Education," are an academic cap, a hanging diploma and books — recognizing in part the 1½ million teachers, the principals, and others in this sphere.

In the upper right, in the higher niche, indicative of "Arts and Industry" are a caduceus representing roughly a half million nurses, the skilled women doctors, and medical researchers, the masks of the drama and a violin, a microscope denoting women in science and a large plant building recognizing women in industry (including over 2 million secretaries) and related positions held by women.

The denomination "4c" is located in the fourth panel, to the lower right, and the wording "U. S. Postage" in the final panel in the bottom center.

Partying On Potomac Goes At Full Speed

Famed for its lavish parties, the nation's capital has snapped back from the doldrums which marked the early days of President Eisenhower's administration.

Today, despite the tension of the times, Washington hostesses once more are riding the crest of a party - giving boom.

In fact, the food -and - fun impresarios still refer glumly to the "hospitality recession" which they say developed when the Republicans took over in 1953 after 20 years of party-loving Democratic rule.

"President Eisenhower put a stop to Christmas office parties in government buildings, and that set the tone," says a leading caterer.

"Fortunately for us, the early Republican austerity has relaxed and we're rolling along pretty frisky now."

One explanation for the revival is the upsurge in the number of free-spending lobbyists attracted to the capital by the glitter of the federal government's 80-billion - dollar spending budget.

Next to the lobbyists, the 63 foreign embassies and 10 legations provide the most lucrative accounts for the catering industry. No diplomat would admit it, of course, but many of the gala social functions along Embassy Row have an ulterior, non-social motive — usually a loan or some other favor from Uncle Sam.

Embassy hospitality ranges from frantic push - and shove buffets with 1,000 or more guest to small, formal and stilted sitdown dinners.

Catering officials say the big receptions may cost $2.50 to $25 a head. The minimum tariff provides only the simplest buffet item —bite - size sandwiches and canapes — and does not include cocktails or highballs.

When Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republican threw a party to impress Washington officialdom and newsmen, he picked up a tab for $30 for each of several hundred free loaders.

With catering bills running high, some embassies prepare their own food for big - crowd events. The British Embassy thriftily made its own sandwiches for its reception for Queen Mother Elizabeth in 1954. The 2,000 guests wolfed an average of eight tidbit sandwiches apiece.

The Soviet Embassy, one of the biggest drawing cards on the diplomatic cocktail circuit, shaves expenses by providing its own caviar.

Another costly wingding was an affair staged by Mrs. Perle Mesta, the fabulous "hostess with the mostes'," for 700 guests in honor of Washington newspaper women. It cost her $20 per head, not including the bill for a topflight orchestra, star entertainers, liquor and champagne.

Mrs. Mesta and her arch rival, Mrs. Gwen Cafritz, are easily the most publicized of Washington party givers, but old timers still recall the elite gastronomic extravaganzas put on by the late Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, heiress to biscuit millions. Her full-dress dinners for 50 guests cost upwards of $3,000.

Today, the caterer's bill for a sitdown dinner may run from $15, to $30 per head for a comparatively simple five - course affair, starting with a fish offering which may range from lobster Newburg to filet of sole in pancakes, brook tout or oysters on the half shell.

Again, the price does not include drinks, which may run from $5 to $15 extra per head depending on the number of wines served during dinner and postprandial snifters of brandy.

Washington is often described as the hardest - drinking city in the country, but Clarence Ellis, owner of long - established Ridgewell's Caterers, says it is an exaggeration as far as formal parties and receptions are concerned.

"At big social functions you'll see only one or two chronic tipplers who get loaded," he says. "Even the younger set is very well behaved."

The State Department's gold-plated dinners at the elegant Anderson House, a top diplomatic rendezvous not far from the White House, may cost up to $25 per head, depending upon the importance of the feted guest. U. S. taxpayers, of course, eventually foot the bill.

Women To Be Honored By Stamp Issue

A 4-cent stamp honoring "The American Woman" will be placed on sale June 2, 1960, at Washington, D. C., in conjunction with a conference under the sponsorship of the Women's Bureau, Department of Labor. The design was prepared by Robert Sivard, Chief of the Exhibits Division, United States Information Agency.

The artist, Robert Sivard, received his art education at Pratt Institute and the National Academy in New York, and in Paris at the Academy Julian. His early work included murals in the Oregon State Capitol and both the New York and San Francisco World Fairs.

Subsequently he was an art director in the publishing and advertising field, and in 1950, while working abroad, he joined the United States Foreign Service as a visual information officer.

His paintings have been displayed at one-man shows in Paris and at the Midtown Gallery in New York. He has exhibited at the Museum of Modern Art, Paris, the Carnegie International and many other U. S. Museums, and has received awards from the Corcoran Gallery in Washington and the National Academy of Design.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, in announcing this stamp, expressed the hope that it will, "through design and purpose, pay great tribute to American women who give so much to the social, economic, and spiritual life of our Nation. "The accomplishments of Women of the United States are not only of interest to our country but to the women of all nations who are achieving more acceptance in the social, economic, and political life of their countries.

"There are more than 63 million adult women in the United States, and more than 25 million of them are mothers of children of preschool and school age. The more than 22 million working women make up more than a third of all workers in the country."

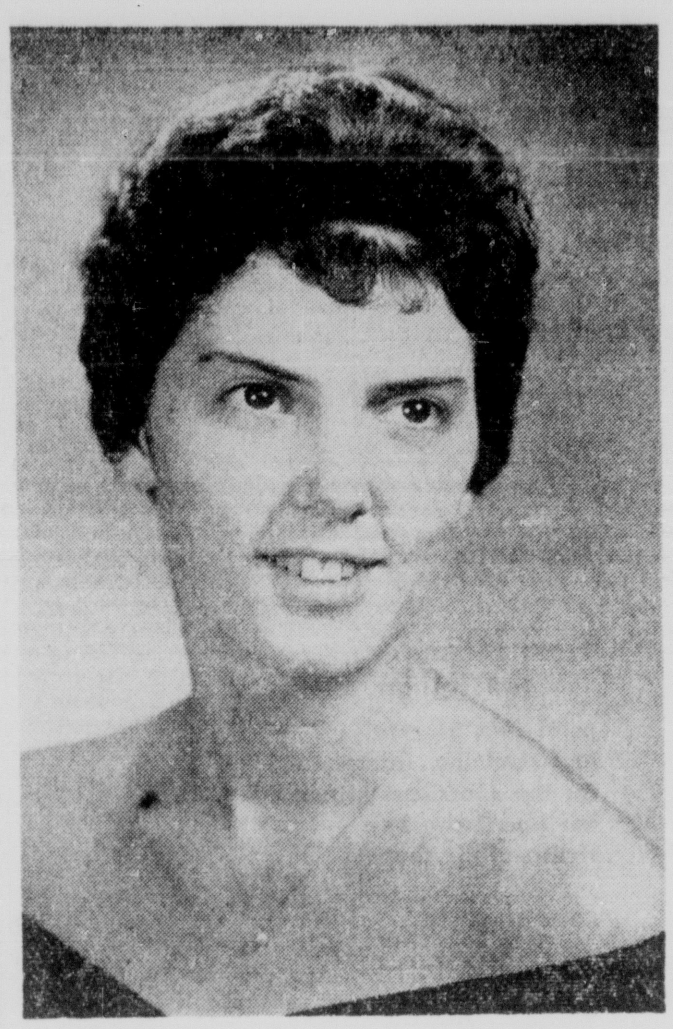
In the center of the stamp design, against a plain background, is a sketch of a mother and a young girl with an open book before them, symbolizing women in the home. This sketch gives the appearance of being loosely pasted against a solid background. Across the top, in white Roman letters are the words "The American Woman."

Five niches appear at the sides and bottom — three of which denote contributions of women to the greatness of this Nation. To the left, in the upper portion, is a niche designated as "Civic Affairs," featuring a building symbolizing women's participation at all levels of government, and a gavel indicative of women's voluntary organizations. There are an estimated 20 million women affiliated with 600 organizations.

In the lower left, in another niche, denoting "Education," are an academic cap, a hanging diploma and books — recognizing in part the 1¼ million teachers, the principals, and others in this sphere.

In the upper right, in the higher niche, indicative of "Arts and Industry" are a caduceus representing roughly a half million nurses, the skilled women doctors, and medical researchers, the masks of the drama and a violin, a microscope denoting women in science and a large plant building recognizing women in industry (including over 2 million secretaries) and related positions held by women.

The denomination "4c" is located in the fourth panel, to the lower right, and the wording "U. S. Postage" in the final panel in the bottom center.



MISS CAROLYN COOPER is engaged to be married to C. L. Hinton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hinton of this city. The announcement is made by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cooper, also of Monroe. The wedding will be solemnized at the Central Baptist church at seven in the evening of June 18, with the Rev. Charles B. Littleton officiating.

Partying On Potomac Goes At Full Speed

Famed for its lavish parties, the nation's capital has snapped back from the doldrums which marked the early days of President Eisenhower's administration.

Today, despite the tension of the times, Washington hostesses once more are riding the crest of a party - giving boom.

In fact, the food -and - fun impresarios still refer glumly to the "hospitality recession" which they say developed when the Republicans took over in 1953 after 20 years of party-loving Democratic rule.

"President Eisenhower put a stop to Christmas office parties in government buildings, and that set the tone," says a leading caterer.

"Fortunately for us, the early Republican austerity has relaxed and we're rolling along pretty frisky now."

One explanation for the revival is the upsurge in the number of free-spending lobbyists attracted to the capital by the glitter of the federal government's 80-billion - dollar spending budget.

Next to the lobbyists, the 63 foreign embassies and 10 legations provide the most lucrative accounts for the catering industry. No diplomat would admit it, of course, but many of the gala social functions along Embassy Row have an ulterior, non-social motive — usually a loan or some other favor from Uncle Sam.

Embassy hospitality ranges from frantic push - and shove buffets with 1,000 or more guest to small, formal and stilted sitdown dinners.

Catering officials say the big receptions may cost $2.50 to $25 a head. The minimum tariff provides only the simplest buffet items —bite - size sandwiches and canapes — and does not include cocktails or highballs.

When Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republican threw a party to impress Washington officialdom and newsmen, he picked up a tab for $30 for each of several hundred free loaders.

With catering bills running high, some embassies prepare their own food for big - crowd events. The British Embassy thriftily made its own sandwiches for its reception for Queen Mother Elizabeth in 1954. The 2,000 guests wolfed an average of eight tidbit sandwiches apiece.

The Soviet Embassy, one of the biggest drawing cards on the diplomatic cocktail circuit, shaves expenses by providing its own caviar.

Another costly wingding was an affair staged by Mrs. Perle Mesta, the fabulous "hostess with the mostes'," for 700 guests in honor of Washington newspaper women. It cost her $20 per head, not including the bill for a top-flight orchestra, star entertainers, liquor and champagne.

Mrs. Mesta and her arch rival, Mrs. Gwen Cafritz, are easily the most publicized of Washington party givers, but old timers still recall the elite gastronomic extravaganzas put on by the late Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, heiress to biscuit millions. Her full-dress dinners for 50 guests cost upwards of $3,000.

Today, the caterer's bill for a sitdown dinner may run from $12, to $30 per head for a comparatively simple five - course affair, starting with a fish offering which may range from lobster Newburg to filet of sole in pancakes, brook tout or oysters on the half shell.

Again, the price does not include drinks, which may run from $5 to $15 extra per head depending on the number of wines served during dinner and postprandial snifters of brandy.

Washington is often described as the hardest - drinking city in the country, but Clarence Ellis, owner of long - established Ridgewell's Caterers, says it is an exaggeration as far as formal parties and receptions are concerned.

"At big social functions you'll see only one or two chronic tipplers who get loaded," he says. "Even the younger set is very well behaved."

The State Department's gold-plated dinners at the elegant Anderson House, a top diplomatic rendezvous not far from the White House, may cost up to $26 per head, depending upon the importance of the feted guest. U. S. taxpayers, of course, eventually foot the bill.

What International Set Wears For Nassau Spring

By JO HUGHES

NASSAU, — The native charm of this colorful little island in the Bahamas remains unchanged despite the vast building boom. Sleepy Bay Street and its environs are still a combination of slow moving, gaily garbed natives and eager tourists.

To the average visitor the local sights include Government House (once occupied by the Duke and Duchess of Windsor), Dirty Dick's famous bar, and the dimly lit nightclubs bursting with bongo music and naked fire-dancers over the hill.

Few tourists realize that behind the high vine-covered walls, a [illegible] throw from the hub of Nassau, is an entire other world of lovely houses, vast gardens and an easy elegant life of luxury.

Just a few nights ago, behind just a facade, I attended a gala dinner as the great names of America and Canada and the great titles of England and the Continent dined, danced and made merry.

What most interested these style - tuned eyes, of course, was the passing fashion scene of these lovely ladies in beautiful gowns designed by the great names of America, France and England. Lady [illegible], a great beauty and a Balenciaga [illegible] [illegible] high-cut Balenciaga neckline in front, the low back decollete — sleeveless and torso slim below the waist with a modified full skirt.

Princess Radziwill, another smart young woman to favor Balenciaga, wore a simple black and white dot surah, short in length, with tiny sleeves and a high neck.

Jean Desses, who designs the most beautiful chiffons in the world was well represented by Ann Lady Orr Lewis of London, and by New York's most famous hostess, Mrs. Thomas Bancroft Jr. The former chose a brilliant red, full length chiffon with intricate grecian drapery about the hem. Peggy Bancroft's Desses chiffon was a [illegible] turquoise, also full length, and deftly draped through the decollete bodice.

Mrs. Dorothy Killam, whose late husband was one of Canada's greatest tycoons, was majestic in Christian Dior's bright red gown with full length sleeves, slim bodice and long sweeping skirt. Her diamonds are world famous and this night each wrist was circled by bracelets of huge square stones, her necklace was of [illegible] diamonds, as were her earrings. The purity of Mrs. Killam's diamonds is a flashing sight long to be remembered.

Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock Jr. of [illegible] [illegible] Mellon [illegible], wore a [illegible] print by Philip Hulitar with a lovely floral pattern and [illegible]. Mrs. [illegible] chose a Hulitar [illegible] full length in pale blue [illegible] with a cowl-like neckline [illegible]. Her rubies are [illegible] and this night she wore [illegible] necklace and [illegible] bracelet.

[illegible] Norman Hartnell are the two designers.

Miss Shirley Oakes, daughter of the famed late Sir Harry Oakes, who met such an untimely death [illegible] in this resort, was striking in a Rentner green and white satin gown — one side white and the other green — most becoming with her reddish hair.

Short fur wraps of sable or ermine were favored by the women wearing long gowns. Chiffon or satin stoles, and in a few cases embroidered cashmeres, were thrown over the shoulders of the short - frocked fashion - plates as the evening progressed, and a bit of balmy blew across the fairylike garden setting.

DEAR ABBY

Face It, Honey, He's Really Still A Baby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Can you or anyone help me? I married this wonderful young man even though I was warned that he was only marrying me to stay out of the service. Everyone who knew him said he had only one love—his mother. She was all for the wedding but allowed us just one night together. Then she moved in with us.

If she'd see my husband kiss me, she'd cry all day. She refused to let me close our bedroom door. (I closed it once and she pretended to have a heart attack.) Then my husband moved his bed into her room and that's the way it has been for five months. He says he is sorry but he can't hurt his mother and, if I don't like it, I had better leave. I love him, Abby. What am I to do?

UNDESIRED

DEAR UNDESIRED: Face it. Emotionally your husband is still a babe in his mother's arms — and that's where he will remain until he agrees to seek professional help in growing up. If he refuses to grow up—talk to your clergyman. You are fighting a losing battle.

DEAR ABBY: I like a boy in the Eighth Grade. (I am in the Seventh.) Last night I called him up and asked him if my girl friend could have his picture. (It wasn't really for my girl friend, it was for me, but I didn't want to tell him that.) He said no.

Then I called him up again and asked him if he would give ME his picture. He said no again.

Then I called him up to ask him what time the basketball game started and this time his mother answered the phone and told me to quit bothering him.

I really like him, Abby. I want to know if I should call him up tonight and apologize for bothering him?

SORRY

DEAR SORRY: Don't call. This boy has your number. Forget HIS.

DEAR ABBY: I am a mess. I am 12 years old, weigh 145 pounds and am five feet tall. My problem is that my mother won't take me to a doctor to help me lose weight. She says if I don't have the willpower to lose weight by myself, I can just stay fat. (I don't eat as much as she thinks I do.) At the movies they don't believe I am only 12. They say I look 16 because I am so big. Please help me, Abby.

THE BIG GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Lack of willpower is only ONE reason for excess weight. Other factors could be contributing to it. Only a doctor is qualified to make this judgment and recommend the "cure". Try asking your mother to take you to a doctor, and promise her that if she does, you'll cooperate with him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BEST FRIEND": Tell her. If her "best friend" won't tell her, she'll wait a long time before she gets constructive criticism from her enemy.

What most interested these style - tained eyes, of course, was the passing fashion scene of these lovely ladies in beautiful gowns designed by the great names of America, France and England. Lady Marylyn Peek, a great beauty and a Balenciaga addict, appeared in a short shocking-pink satin with the famous high-cut Balenciaga neckline in front, the low back decollete — sleeveless and torso slim below the waist with a modified full skirt.

Her rubies are fabulous, and this night she wore a ruby necklace and ruby bracelets.

Lady Olive Baillie, a first cousin of our American Ambassador to Britain, John Hay Whitney, was regal in Hardi Amies full-length pale grey lace with short sleeves. Amies, incidentally, and Norman Hartnell are the two designers.

Then I called him up again and asked him if he would give ME his picture. He said no again.

Then I called him up to ask him what time the basketball game started and this time his mother answered the phone and told me to quit bothering him.

I really like him, Abby. I want to know if I should call him up tonight and apologize for bothering him?

SORRY

DEAR SORRY: Don't call. This boy has your number. Forget HIS.

DEAR ABBY: I am a mess. I am 12 years old, weigh 145 pounds and am five feet tall. My problem is that my mother won't take me to a doctor to help me lose weight. She says if I don't have the willpower to lose weight by myself, I can just stay fat. (I don't eat as much as she thinks I do.) At the movies they don't believe I am only 12. They say I look 16 because I am so big. Please help me, Abby.

THE BIG GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Lack of willpower is only ONE reason for excess weight. Other factors could be contributing to it. Only a doctor is qualified to make this judgment and recommend the "cure". Keep asking your mother to take you to a doctor, and promise her that if she does, you'll cooperate with him.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BEST FRIEND": Tell her. If her "best friend" won't tell her, she'll wait a long time before she gets constructive criticism from her worst enemy.

Dormitory At Northeast Is Announced

Construction is scheduled to begin early in May on a three-story, air-conditioned dormitory at Northeast State College, designed for 150 women students.

The new housing unit, scheduled to be ready for occupancy by September of next year, will be located on the bank of Bayou DeSiard near the present women's dormitories.

Don A. Baxter & Son of Sicily Island has been awarded the contract by the State Board of Education, with a bid of $394,158.

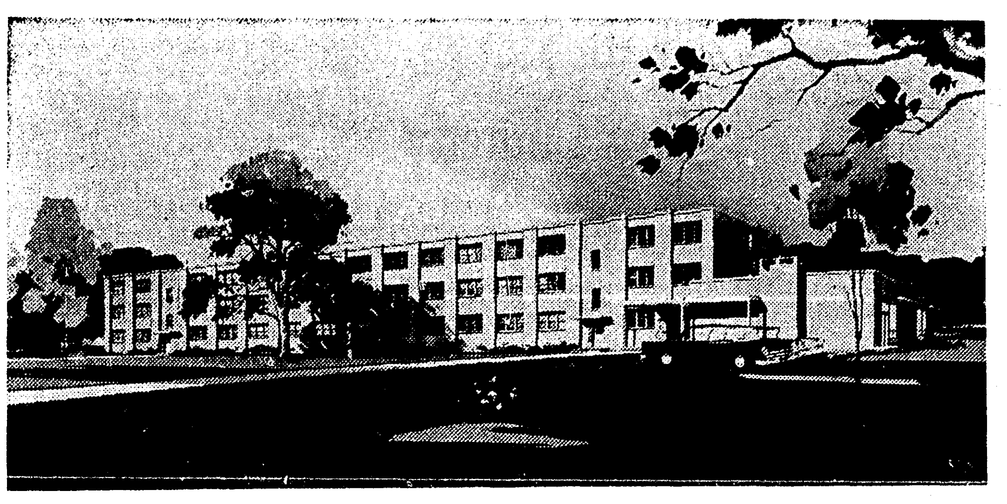
The dormitory is part of Northeast's three - part expansion program which includes a new men's dormitory and a new dining hall. Total cost of the three projects is $1,517,000. The men's dorm is also scheduled for occupancy by September, 1961, and the cafeteria is slated to be ready before that time.

King Stubbs, of Monroe, architect for the women's housing unit, has said the dormitory will be of steel frame with brick and stone trim to match other campus buildings.

The fireproof structure will contain total floor space of 27,500 square feet with dimensions of 263 by 38 feet.

The rectangular housing unit will be of contemporary design with year - round heating and cooling features. Each room will be designed for two women with storage wall and study desk built in.

Northeast Dean of Administration James M. Nicholson said revenue bonds will be issued through the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency to finance the women's dormitory and the other two projects.



THIS IS AN architect's perspective of the new women's dormitory at Northeast Louisiana State College. Construction on the three-story, air-conditioned housing unit is scheduled to begin early in May.

TOWN IN NAME ONLY

DELLVIEW, N. C. (AP)—This hamlet, incorporated in 1925, has no bonded debt, no taxes, no water bills. Police Chief Tom Dellinger never has made an arrest. His wife, Ola, is town clerk, but she has nothing to do.

Dellview never has had any births or deaths. Its 1960 population was four, a decrease of three from 1950 because that many members of the town's two families moved away.

Why did Dellview ever bother with incorporation? Tom Dellinger explains that his late brother David, a member of the State House of Representatives, put it through the Legislature because the family had a poultry farm and wanted to put up legal barriers against marauding stray dogs.

LIFE OF CHESSMAN

Crime Start Went Almost Unnoticed

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —The start of Caryl Chessman's life of crime went almost unnoticed when he stole bread and milk as a boy of 15 in Los Angeles.

But it culminated in a glare of publicity that made his name one of the best-known in the world and his execution one of the most controversial in the history of the United States.

Between the youthful stealing and the execution came more crimes, three jail terms and an unbelievable legal battle by which the convict-author escaped the death chamber for nearly 2 years. From his cell in San Quentin's death row Chessman became a best-selling author and symbol of a world-wide protest against capital punishment.

The black-haired, craggy-faced convict, who is now 38 years old, was 26 and had a long criminal record when he was arrested by Los Angeles police officers James Rerdon and Robert May after an 85-mile-an-hour chase on Jan. 23, 1948.

He was driving a stolen car equipped with a red light and was charged with being the notorious "red light bandit," who had been terrorizing parked couples in lovers lanes.

Chessman went on trial on 19 charges in Los Angeles Superior court. He spurned court-appointed counsel, preferring to act as his own lawyer.

A jury of 11 women and one man found him guilty on 17 of the 18 counts — eight of robbery, two of sex perversion, four of kidnaping and one each of attempted robbery, grand theft and attempted rape.

On two of the kidnap counts, those involving the women, he was given the death penalty under California's "Little Lindbergh Law." He got life without possibility of parole on the two other kidnap counts.

Chessman was received at San Quentin July 3, 1948, and placed on death row.

From his cell he began bombarding the courts with handwritten petitions, writs and briefs. All the documents maintained that he was not the "red light bandit," that he had not received a fair trial and that he had been denied his constitutional rights.

Chessman's first execution date was set for March 28, 1952. Less than a month before that date Judge Jesse Carter of the California Supreme Court granted a stay.

Seven more times his execution was stayed, the latest being in February of this year when Gov. Edmund G. Brown granted a reprieve 10 hours before Chessman was scheduled to die.

The U.S. Supreme Court has been given the Chessman case 16 times, the most recent being last week when the high court refused to intervene.

In addition hundreds of legal documents have gone from Chessman's cell to other courts, both state and federal.

In the process of warding off death for almost 12 years Chessman became a self-taught expert on the writ of habeas corpus and acquired a vast knowledge of other aspects of legal procedure.

GIVEN TYPEWRITER

He turned his cell, originally number 2455 but changed several times since, into a law library. He was granted use of a typewriter for making his applications to the courts easier to read.

On this typewriter he turned out his first book, "Cell 2455, Death Row," which was published in 1954 and became a best seller. In it he presented his case, again proclaimed his innocence and argued vehemently against capital punishment. He has written three more books.

During Chessman's sojourn on death row the state has executed 94 persons in the San Quen gas chamber. One of them was a woman, Barbara Graham, whose life story was made into a movie, "I Want to Live."

Allen Still Rates High In Ike's Opinion

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Jovial George E. Allen, fallen from former President Harry S. Truman's favor, still appeared to rate ace high with President Eisenhower Saturday.

Allen, author of the book "Presidents Who Have Known Me," played golf with Eisenhower, and with Mrs. Allen stayed on as weekend house guest of the President and his wife.

At the Gettysburg Country Club golf course, Allen, a wealthy Washington businessman, showed no outward indication of being upset by Truman's sharp remarks about him Friday.

Discussing the man who once was numbered among Truman's close friends, the former chief executive referred to Allen as a "fixer" who would "do anything to suck in."

Allen declined comment then and kept mum again Saturday.

"Oh, no, no, no," he replied with a heavy sigh when newsmen asked him on the first tee whether he wanted to change his mind and say something.

Allen's close relationship with presidents goes back to the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Then after being a member of the Truman inner circle he and Eisenhower became even more intimate friends.

Within earshot of newsmen at the golf course Eisenhower made no mention of the barbs Truman tossed at Allen. The President's own relations with Truman have been strained since the 1952 campaign.

ALL-CANADA CAST

VANCOUVER (AP) — The production of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" at the Vancouver International Festival on July 22 will have an all - Canadian cast. The production will be staged and produced by Nathaniel Merrill of the Metropolitan Opera.

Jerry Lewis In 'Visit To Small Planet'

Fasten your seat belts, fans, we're about to be invaded from outer space by a creature masquerading as Jerry Lewis in the new Paramount - Hal Wallis production, "Visit to a Small Planet." This spoof about a beatnik from the stratosphere whose hobby is the Earth and who decides to come take a look at it, is based on the Broadway stage hit, and is due Wednesday at the Jim Theatre.

The screen gives the hilarious story, so successfully dramatized on the stage, more of an opportunity to garner laughs than did the show. It takes Jerry, as Kreton, from his own habitat — way way down here where many mad things happen to him (and the poor people with whom he comes in contact), the full laugh potentials of which could only be realized through the magic of the motion picture camera.

Kreton arrives on Earth wearing a Confederate uniform since he's gotten his dates mixed. However, the members of the unfortunate family he decides to "visit" are themselves dressed to attend a masquerade party so Kreton's strange appearance is taken for granted. But when they learn the "facts" and when the impish visitor falls in love with the beautiful daughter — well, there are more laughs to pay than even the most devoted Jerry Lewis fan can imagine.

Co-starred are Joan Blackman, Earl Holliman and Fred Clark, with John Williams, Gale Gordon and the sensational young dancer, Barbara Lawson.

'Tall Story' Gay Comedy At Paramount

"Tall Story," a gay comedy combining laughs with romance, and starring Anthony Perkins and Jane Fonda, opens today at the Paramount Theatre. Ray Walston, Marc Connelly, Anne Jackson and Murray Hamilton co-star in famed producer-director Joshua Logan's first Mansfield production for Warner Bros.

The screenplay by former Academy Award winner Julius J. Epstein was adapted from the Broadway play by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse, authors of "Life with Father" and "State of the Union."

The comedy is about a series of crises at a West Coast college when a matrimonially - minded girl enrolls there. Being a tall girl, she selects a college, noted for its outstanding basketball teams, as the logical place to snare a tall husband. There are amusing complications when she wages a persistent campaign to entrap the studious star of the team, even using the unwitting aid of two professors.

Superior treatment of the entertaining story is assured by the fact that Joshua Logan was in charge of operations. He has one of the most distinguished records ever attained in the dual media of stage and screen. His stage hits include "South Pacific," "Mister Roberts," "Picnic" and "Middle of the Nights." In motion pictures he has directed "South Pacific," "Sayonara," "Bus Stop," and "Picnic."

Anthony Perkins is cast as Ray Blent, the basketball player who unerringly shoots field goals by the application of a scientific principle. The versatile young man was an Academy Award nominee for "Friendly Persuasion."

Jane Fonda, the talented daughter of Henry Fonda, debuts as June Ryder, the coed who makes Ray girl - conscious. Her refreshing beauty has made Jane one of New York's most popular models. In a two months' period she graced the covers of four leading national magazines and was modeling when Logan tested her for motion pictures. The test was so exciting that he immediately placed her under a five picture contract.

Ray Walston, a gentleman with a rare talent for comedy, is cast as Leo Sullivan, the highly ethical professor of modern ethical theory. Twice he won best actor awards on the stage for "Damn Yankees" and "Summer and Smoke." In films he has starred in "Damn Yankees," "South Pacific" and "Say One For Me."

Marc Connelly, one of the greats of the Broadway Theatre as a playwright, producer and director, is performing with distinction as the science professor, Osman, a role he previously did in the play. Connelly is a Pulitzer Prize - winner for his play, "The Green Pastures."

Anne Jackson, one of Broadway's finest actresses, is now also winning recognition in Hollywood with her amusing portrayal of Myra, wife of Professor Sullivan. Murray Hamilton, so impressive as James Stewart's buddy in "The FBI Story," is Sandy Hardy.

The campus of beautiful Occidental College in Eagle Rock, California, serves as the campus for the mythical Custer College of the motion picture.

Little Theatre

Good news today . . . because of the large number of people still wanting to see "Guys and Dolls," it has been decided to extend the run four more nights. In other words, "Guys and Dolls" will not close Monday, May 2, but will run through Friday, May 6th. Take advantage of these few extra performances and make your plans to attend as soon as possible. Due to the limited seating capacity of the theatre and the number of reservations made each day, you'd better do it now. Call the Little Theatre, FA 3-4263 today and make those reservations. The reservations clerk will be at the theatre from 2 until 7 p.m. every day to help you.

Monday night (tomorrow) at 6:15 p.m. the annual meeting of the Little Theatre members will be held to elect the board for the coming season. Each and every member is urged to attend the meeting. Make arrangements to attend this meeting because your vote is important to the growth of the Little Theatre.

Please remember, the curtain time for "Guys and Dolls" is 8:15 p.m. It's a bang up show and you'll want to see it from beginning to end, believe me. Those arriving after curtain time will be asked to wait until the intermission and will miss the first act.

Make your reservations soon for "Guys and Dolls", cause time is running out faster than you think. You know, this show was a tremendous undertaking for the theatre, but it is far surpassing any previous production. If you miss it, you'll be sorry. The cast, orchestra, costumes and sets are the tops. Call today and make sure you're in on the fun.

BROADWAY DILEMMA

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite its shortage of playhouses for new shows, Broadway is confronted with the even more serious problem of quick closing of so many new shows that do find stages.

The Martin Beck recently had its new tenant, "Semi - Detached," closing in less than a week. But it was quickly replaced by the new hit musical, "Bye Bye Birdie."

The rate of mortality has been high with 25 new shows opening and closing between last October and April. The explanation, for the most part, is that audiences today seem to be more showwis in their entertainment shopping. They prefer to wait for their hits, rather than take second choices.

COMING to the Paramount May 8 is "The Fugitive Kind" starring Marlon Brando, Joanne Woodward and Anna Magnani.

Craft To Seek To Learn What Inhibits Mars

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)— Scientists disclosed Saturday they have devised a space craft and a camera to show if there are men on Mars.

The unmanned vehicle conceived at Massachusetts Institute of Technology after two years of study would carry a camera into orbit and take a picture of the mysterious planet—a picture containing "more than a billion bits of information."

Title of the ambitious project is "a recoverable interplanetary space probe." The voluminous report includes a hypothetical space itineray from launching, June 17, 1962, to recovery Sept. 6, 1965.

Project Director Milton B. Trageser of Waltham said the picture, taken from nearly 5,000 miles above the surface of Mars, probably would reveal man-made structures like airports, farms and bridges "if the planet harbored a culture similar to ours."

The picture taking would be the high point of a two-or-three-year journey through the solar system. The return trip would be so closely controlled that the vehicle would land in the waters of the Gulf of Mexico within 10 minutes of the time planned two or three years earlier.

The MIT announcement said no federal agency was at present planning to undertake the experiment but scientists here believe it is feasible.

The Air Force ballistics missile division recently approved the 810-page MIT report for public release.

Plans for the so-called Mars reconnaissance vehicle are the result of collaboration between MIT's Lincoln Laboratory, AVCO Corp., the reaction motors division of Thiokol Chemical Corp.; and the MIT instrumentation laboratory.

It involves use of the latest techniques in navigation, control, communication, corrective propulsion, and re-entry, including the use of the pressure of sunlight to control torques—the forces exerted on the space vehicle.

Though unmanned, it would be in regular communication with its human masterminds and a series of course corrections and speed adjustments would be possible.

The camera would photograph 40 per cent of the surface of Mars, the planet believed most likely to be inhabited. The picture would be taken from 4,690 miles above the planet's surface.

ALL-CANADA CAST

VANCOUVER (AP) — The production of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" at the Vancouver International Festival on July 22 will have an all - Canadian cast.

The production will be staged and produced by Nathaniel Merrill of the Metropolitan Opera.

Jerry Lewis In 'Visit To Small Planet'

Fasten your seat belts, fans, we're about to be invaded from outer space by a creature masquerading as Jerry Lewis in the new Paramount - Hal Wallis production, "Visit to a Small Planet." This spoof about a beatnik from the stratosphere whose hobby is the Earth and who decides to come take a look at it, is based on the Broadway stage hit, and is due Wednesday at the Jim Theatre.

The screen gives the hilarious story, so successfully dramatized on the stage, more of an opportunity to garner laughs than did the show. It takes Jerry, as Kreton, from his own habitat — way way down here where many mad things happen to him (and the poor people with whom he comes in contact), the full laugh potentials of which could only be realized through the magic of the motion picture camera.

Kreton arrives on Earth wearing a Confederate uniform since he's gotten his dates mixed. However, the members of the unfortunate family he decides to "visit" are themselves dressed to attend a masquerade party so Kreton's strange appearance is taken for granted. But when they learn the "facts" and when the impish visitor falls in love with the beautiful daughter — well, there are more laughs to pay than even the most devoted Jerry Lewis fan can imagine.

Co-starred are Joan Blackman, Earl Holliman and Fred Clark, with John Williams, Ga'e Gordon and the sensational young dancer, Barbara Lawson.

'Tall Story' Gay Comedy At Paramount

"Tall Story," a gay comedy combining laughs with romance, and starring Anthony Perkins and Jane Fonda, opens today at the Paramount Theatre. Ray Walston, Marc Connelly, Anne Jackson and Murray Hamilton co-star in famed producer-director Joshua Logan's first Mansfield production for Warner Bros.

The screenplay by former Academy Award winner Julius J. Epstein was adapted from the Broadway play by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse, authors of "Life with Father" and "State of the Union."

The comedy is about a series of crises at a West Coast college when a matrimonially - minded girl enrolls there. Being a tall girl, she selects a college, noted for its outstanding basketball teams, as the logical place to snare a tall husband. There are amusing complications when she wages a persistent campaign to entrap the studious star of the team, even using the unwitting aid of two professors.

Superior treatment of the entertaining story is assured by the fact that Joshua Logan was in charge of operations. He has one of the most distinguished records ever attained in the dual media of stage and screen. His stage hits include "South Pacific," "Mister Roberts," "Picnic" and "Middle of the Nights." In motion pictures he has directed "South Pacific," "Sayonara," "Bus Stop," and "Picnic.

Anthony Perkins is cast as Ray Blent, the basketball player who unerringly shoots field goals by the application of a scientific principle. The versatile young man was an Academy Award nominee for "Friendly Persuasion.'

Jane Fonda, the talented daughter of Henry Fonda, debuts as June Ryder, the coed who makes Ray girl - conscious. Her refreshing beauty has made Jane one of New York's most popular models. In a two months' period she graced the covers of four leading national magazines and was modeling when Logan tested her for motion pictures. The test was so exciting that he immediately placed her under a five picture contract.

Ray Walston, a gentleman with a rare talent for comedy, is cast as Leo Sullivan, the highly ethical professor of modern ethical theory. Twice he won best actor awards on the stage for "Damn Yankees" and "Summer and Smoke." In films he has starred in "Damn Yankees," "South Pacific' and "Say One For Me.'

Marc Connelly, one of the greats of the Broadway Theatre as a playwright, producer and director, is performing with distinction as the science professor, Osman, a role he previously did in the play. Connelly is a Pulitzer Prize - winner for his play, "The Green Pastures.'

Anne Jackson, one of Broadway's finest actresses, is now also winning recognition in Hollywood with her amusing portrayal of Myra, wife of Professor Sullivan. Murray Hamilton, so impressive as James Stewart's buddy in "The FBI Story," is Sandy Hardy.

The campus of beautiful Occidental College in Eagle Rock, California, serves as the campus for the mythical Custer College of the motion picture.

'BRAG ON QUALITY'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It wasn't long ago that it was unheard of to rehearse an entire movie script before filming. Director Delbert Mann claims much of the credit for starting the practice. He began it with "Marty" and now is on his sixth film, convinced that preproduction rehearsing saves both time and money.

He's using the stage techniques in converting the Broadway hit, "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs," into a movie.

The cast first ran through the entire script, and then turned to rehearsing on stage before the actual filming.

And it gives film stars a crack at relaxed play acting, Mann says.

Wall Street Eyes Presidential Race

NEW YORK (UPI)—To Wall Street the biggest issue in the presidential campaign is spending—whether the market place or Congress will determine how Americans are going to spend their money.

No matter how the election goes, this question won't be answered in black and white terms. It cuts across both parties. However, the manner in which some of the Democratic Party hopefuls have shown growing interest in supporting proposals to provide government health insurance for the aged puts the Democrats a bit more on record than the Republicans.

Chairman William McC. Martin of the Federal Reserve Board warned recently that we must save more and invest more if we are to meet the great challenge now being posed to our rank as the world's most productive nation.

The position of those who distrust leaving to the market place the determination of how Americans shall spend all their money is precisely that this would not lead to more saving and investment.

They content that there are at least as many fools and scoundrels in the market place as in government. They say the market place entices us as a nation to fritter away too much money on consumer goods, often produced with "planned obsolescence" to increase the profits of their makers and the consequent drain on the economy. This, they claim, destroy savings and prevents investment in basic industry and necessary services.

The National Assn. of Manufacturers (NAM), which is wholeheartedly in favor of letting the market place shape the progress and dimensions of the economy, recently produced a booklet analyzing the 1961 federal budget and vigorously condemning many proposed federal expenditures.

Here is what the N.A.M. booklet has to say about this issue of Congress vs. the market place:

"There are some who hold that increased public spending of the people's income would be more beneficial than the spending of that money by the people themselves. . .The idea appears to be that the government would spend only on worthwhile things, while the people, if left on their own would spend too much foolishly. This would amount to substituting bureaucratic judgment regarding worthwhile or foolish things for that of the market place.

"The free market is marvelously selective," the N.A.M. study continued.

"It constantly establishes and changes priorities whereby resources are channeled into the most productive uses. No business can last long if its owner or manager ignores this senitive electivity. . .The most consistent and ample economic progress will be made by leaving the market free to set those priorities which will mean the most efficient use of resources."

Undoubtedly that is good economic doctrine as far as it goes. But it leaves some questions unanswered. For example, how did the Soviet Union, which has no free market place, manage to survive its first 40 year, much less to expand and seriously challenge the economic supremacy of the United States?

And why has the marvelous selectivity of the market place permitted panics, recessions, depressions and such phenomena as under-education and inadequate health facilities to continue to exist in the Western world?

The N.A.M. then proceeds, as do many economists, bankers, business men and politicians, to contend that those who want to use the taxing power to "beef up the public sector of the money" are simply interested in spending for its own sake — in "the inflationary aggrandizement of the state."

This is the seventh presidential campaign in which this question of government spending vs. the market place has been an issue.

This year it assumes a new dimension because a nation that reject the market place utterly and is growing rapidly is challenging us as an economic as well as a political and social rival.

Some Tests Continue In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) -- The Gulf Coast Drilling and Exploration Co. continues tests at 9,415-23 on a Rankin County wildcat two miles northeast of Puckett.

A zone at 9,328-35 feet flowed 152 barrels daily with some salt water in the Allen No. 1, 13-3n-5e. Several other sands will be tested.

Texaco-Seaboard, Inc., was preparing production tests at the Board of Supervisors No. 1, sec. 16-2n-12e, Marion County, after drilling to 14,000 feet.

Operators have released little information on the wildcat, but reports indicate that over 130 feet of gas sand has been logged at different intervals.

Texaco was drilling below 9,100 feet in a second Marion County wildcat, the Padgett No. 1, sec. 14-2n-12e. Contract depth is 14,000 feet. It is located two miles east of the Board of Supervisors wildcat.

Sun Oil Co. has staked location for a second test in the new Kokomo gas field of Walthall County. The new start is the McDonald No. A-1, sec. 35-3n-113, and is scheduled to 13,500 feet.

The Kokomo field is about six miles northeast of Tylertown and is producing from a sand at 12,944 feet.

In Amite County, C. F. and H. Oil Co. was completing a wildcat, the Crosby No. 1, sec. 2-3n-5e, as a pumping well. The potential pool opener tested at 120 barrel daily with little flowing pressure. The perforated interval was at 11,284-95 feet.

Also in Amite County, Justiss-Mears and D. C. Latimer were below 9,100 feet in a wildcat, the Mixon No. 1, sec. 27-2n-6e, a scheduled 11,600 foot test.

Three wildcats were near contract depth in Pike County. Love Petroleum and H. J. Wilder were below 10,900 feet in the Cothern No. 1, sec. 32-3n-9e, and Justiss-Mears and D. C. Latimer were below 11,000 feet in the Buckhalter-Spiers No. 1, sec. 23-2n-8e. The same operators were below 11,600 feet in the Thompson No. 1, sec. 33-1n-7e.

In Hinds County, Argo Oil Corp. et al was below 12,750 feet in a wildcat, the Deane et al No. 1, sec. 32-5n-2w, with no shows logged. It is scheduled to 13,100 feet.

Field drilling the past week brought eight new oilers with six in the McComb field of Pike County.

At McComb, Sun Oil completed four wells. The Williams-Pope unit No. 1, sec. 11-3n-7e, flowed 156 barrels daily from perforations at 10,930-36 feet. The McCullough-Andrews No. 1, sec. 14-3n-7e, flowed 162 barrels daily from perforations at 10,960-69 feet, and the Johnson No. 1, sec. 10-3n-7e, pumped at 70 barrels per day from perforations at 10,904-14 feet.

In the Laurel field of Jones County, Central Oil Co. completed the Miss. Investments No. 1, sec. 1-8n-12w, as a dual well. A sand at 9,225-32 feet flowed 157 barrels daily and a second sand at 9,710-52 feet flowed 151 barrels per day.

Complete air conditioning and modern lighting are slated as features of the new store.

Display windows will give a full view of the interior.

Special display fixtures will be used for an expanded line of merchandise. An unusual color treatment is planned, and a soda and lunch counter will be included.

Ample parking space will be provided adjacent to the building.

Wall Street Eyes Presidential Race

NEW YORK (UPI)—To Wall Street the biggest issue in the presidential campaign is spending—whether the market place or Congress will determine how Americans are going to spend their money.

No matter how the election goes, this question won't be answered in black and white terms. It cuts across both parties. However, the manner in which some of the Democratic Party hopefuls have shown growing interest in supporting proposals to provide government health insurance for the aged puts the Democrats a bit more on record than the Republicans.

Chairman William McC. Martin of the Federal Reserve Board warned recently that we must save more and invest more if we are to meet the great challenge now being posed to our rank as the world's most productive nation.

The position of those who distrust leaving to the market place the determination of how Americans shall spend all their money is precisely that this would not lead to more saving and investment.

They content that there are at least as many fools and scoundrels in the market place as in government. They say the market place entices us as a nation to fritter away too much money on consumer goods, often produced with "planned obsolescence" to increase the profits of their makers and the consequent drain on the economy. This, they claim, destroy savings and prevents investment in basic industry and necessary services.

The National Assn. of Manufacturers (NAM), which is wholeheartedly in favor of letting the market place shape the progress and dimensions of the economy, recently produced a booklet analyzing the 1961 federal budget and vigorously condemning many proposed federal expenditures.

Here is what the N.A.M. booklet has to say about this issue of Congress vs. the market place:

"There are some who hold that increased public spending of the people's income would be more beneficial than the spending of that money by the people themselves. . .The idea appears to be that the government would spend only on worthwhile things, while the people, if left on their own would spend too much foolishly. This would amount to substituting bureaucratic judgment regarding worthwhile or foolish things for that of the market place.

"The free market is marvelously selective," the N.A.M. study continued.

"It constantly establishes and changes priorities whereby resources are channeled into the most productive uses. No business can last long if its owner or manager ignores this senitive elecctivity. . .The most consistent and ample economic progress will be made by leaving the market free to set those priorities which will mean the most efficient use of resources."

Undoubtedly that is good economic doctrine as far as it goes. But it leaves some questions unanswered. For example, how did the Soviet Union, which has no free market place, manage to survive its first 40 year, much less to expand and seriously challenge the economic supremacy of the United States?

And why has the marvelous selectivity of the market place permitted panics, recessions, depressions and such phenomena as under-education and inadequate health facilities to continue to exist in the Western world?

The N.A.M. then proceeds, as do many economists, bankers, business men and politicians, to contend that those who want to use the taxing power to "beef up the public sector of the money" are simply interested in spending for its own sake — in "the inflationary aggrandizement of the state."

This is the seventh presidential campaign in which this question of government spending vs. the market place has been an issue.

This year it assumes a new dimension because a nation that reject the market place utterly and is growing rapidly is challenging us as an economic as well as a political and social rival.

Some Tests Continue In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Gulf Coast Drilling and Exploration Co. continues tests at 9,415-23 on a Rankin County wildcat two miles northeast of Puckett.

A zone at 9,328-35 feet flowed 152 barrels daily with some salt water in the Allen No. 1, 13-3n-5e. Several other sands will be tested.

Texaco-Seaboard, Inc., was preparing production tests at the Board of Supervisors No. 1, sec. 16-2n-12e, Marion County, after drilling to 14,000 feet.

Operators have released little information on the wildcat, but reports indicate that over 130 feet of gas sand has been logged at different intervals.

Texaco was drilling below 9,100 feet in a second Marion County wildcat, the Padgett No. 1, sec. 14-2n-12e. Contract depth is 14,000 feet. It is located two miles east of the Board of Supervisors wildcat.

Sun Oil Co. has staked location for a second test in the new Kokomo gas field of Walthall County. The new start is the McDonald No. A-1, sec. 35-3n-113, and is scheduled to 13,500 feet.

The Kokomo field is about six miles northeast of Tylertown and is producing from a sand at 12,944 feet.

In Amite County, C. F. and H. Oil Co. was completing a wildcat, the Crosby No. 1, sec. 2;-3n-5e, as a pumping well. The potential pool opener tested at 120 barrels daily with little flowing pressure. The perforated interval was at 11,284-95 feet.

Also in Amite County, Justiss-Mears and D. C. Latimer were below 9,100 feet in a wildcat, the Mixon No. 1, sec. 27-2n-6e, a scheduled 11,600 foot test.

Three wildcats were near contract depth in Pike County. Love Petroleum and H. J. Wilder were below 10,900 feet in the Cothern No. 1, sec. 32-3n-9e, and Justiss-Mears and D. C. Latimer were below 11,000 feet in the Buckhalter-Spiers No. 1, sec. 23-2n-8e. The same operators were below 11,600 feet in the Thompson No. 1, sec. 33-1n-7e.

In Hinds County, Argo Oil Corp. et al was below 12,750 feet in a wildcat, the Deane et al No. 1, sec. 32-5n-2w, with no shows logged. It is scheduled to 13,100 feet.

Field drilling the past week brought eight new oilers with six in the McComb field of Pike County.

At McComb, Sun Oil completed four wells. The Williams-Pope unit No. 1, sec. 11-3n-7e, flowed 156 barrels daily from perforations at 10,930-36 feet. The McCullough-Andrews No. 1, sec. 14-3n-7e, flowed 162 barrels daily from perforations at 10,963-69 feet, and the Johnson No. 1, sec. 10-3n-7e, pumped at 70 barrels per day from perforations at 10,904-14 feet.

In the Laurel field of Jones County, Central Oil Co. completed the Miss. Investments No. 1, sec. 1-8n-12w, as a dual well. A sand at 9,225-32 feet flowed 157 barrels daily and a second sand at 9,710-52 feet flowed 151 barrels per day.

Kress Leases New Store In Eastgate

S. H. Kress and Company has taken a lease for a new store in Monroe's Eastgate Shopping Center.

Plans for the one story building call for an area of 25,000 square feet with 125 feet frontage.

Complete air conditioning and modern lighting are slated as features of the new store.

Display windows will give a full view of the interior.

Speical display fixtures will be used for an expanded line of merchandise. An unusual color treatment is planned, and a soda and lunch counter will be included.

Ample parking space will be provided adjacent to the building.

Opening date has been tentatively set for early 1961.

Sales Management Career
WITH
Procter & Gamble

One of America's largest, oldest and most successful grocery manufacturers, has an opening in its Sales Department for a young man of outstanding promise. Preferably he is college trained, 22 to 27; has sales interests and a strong desire to progress to a sales management position.

Pleasing but forceful personality, great determination to succeed, and high moral character are essential requirements. The man in whom we are interested may now be employed in a capacity which does not offer the future promise he desires.

Our training program makes previous sales experience unnecessary and assures a man of the opportunity of learning the business as fast as his capabilities permit. Advancement depends only upon initiative, ability and performance, as all promotions are made from within the company based strictly on merit.

Starting position provides good salary, opportunity to earn substantial bonus; profit sharing and other excellent plans. Car furnished and expenses paid. Starting headquarters Monroe, La.

Men within the above age bracket, interested in this opportunity, should write letter of application, giving full details to: E. E. Baker, Procter & Gamble, P.O. Box 5595 Crosstown Station, Memphis 4, Tenn. Upon receipt of letter of application, personal interview will be arranged.

Sales Management Career
WITH
Procter & Gamble

One of America's largest, oldest and most successful grocery manufacturers, has an opening in its Sales Department for a young man of outstanding promise. Preferably he is college trained, 22 to 27; has sales interests and a strong desire to progress to a sales management position.

Pleasing but forceful personality, great determination to succeed, and high moral character are essential requirements. The man in whom we are interested may now be employed in a capacity which does not offer the future promise he desires.

Our training program makes previous sales experience unnecessary and assures a man of the opportunity of learning the business as fast as his capabilities permit. Advancement depends only upon initiative, ablity and performance, as all promotions are made from within the company based strictly on merit.

Starting position provides good salary, opportunity to earn substantial bonus; profit sharing and other excellent plans. Car furnished and expenses paid. Starting headquarters Monroe, La.

Men within the above age bracket, interested in this opportunity, should write letter of application, giving full details to: E. E. Baker, Procter & Gamble, P.O. Box 5595 Crosstown Station, Memphis 4, Tenn. Upon receipt of letter of application, personal interview will be arranged.

® BUZ SAWYER
Featuring His Pal Rosco Sweeney
by Roy Crane
LUNCH:
WHY ARE WE HAVING CANNED VEGETABLES AGAIN, BABY SISTER?
BECAUSE, DEAR, YOU STILL HAVEN'T PLANTED OUR VEGETABLE GARDEN!
I'LL DO IT RIGHT NOW. IF THERE'S ONE THING I LIKE IT'S FRESH VEGETABLES FROM THE GARDEN.
AH, SPRING! HOW WONDERFUL! HOW INVIGORATING! JUST SMELL THAT AIR!
IT'S THE TIME OF YEAR FOR GROWING THINGS, FOR NEW UNDERTAKINGS!
EVERYWHERE THERE'S NEW LIFE....
NEW HOPE... NEW VITALITY.
ROSCO, ARE YOU PLANTING THAT GARDEN?
YES, DEAR!
OBOY, LOOKIT ALL THESE WONDERFUL FISHING WORMS!
IT'D BE A SHAME TO LET THEM GO TO WASTE.
DINNER:
BROTHER, DEAR, WHY DON'T YOU ASK ME WHY WE'RE HAVING CANNED VEGETABLES AGAIN? GO AHEAD, ASK ME!

WHAT WILL YOU DO NOW, COL. CANYON?
WELL, ALICE, AFTER MY REPORT ON PIPA ISLAND IS FILED, I'LL GO TO ONE OF OUR BASES IN SPAIN FOR REASSIGNMENT!
WILL YOU SAY THAT SGT. JONES ASKED WHITEY TO MARRY HIM?
I'LL REPORT THAT BALANCE HAS BEEN RESTORED IN THE BASE MORALE SITUATION!
WELL, SGT. JONES SAID TO WHITEY THAT SHE PROBABLY WOULD NOT WISH TO MARRY AN ENLISTED MAN...
WHEREUPON SHE WHIPPED OUT A LIST OF STATISTICS...
THEY SHOWED THAT MORE RED CROSS GIRLS HAVE MARRIED ENLISTED MEN THAN OFFICERS...
BUT OF COURSE THAT ISN'T ALWAYS THE CASE...
I SAID THAT MANY RED CROSS GIRLS DO MARRY OFFICERS, HOWEVER!
AH! HERE COMES THE CHOPPER NOW!
WHAT WERE YOU SAYING, ALICE?
I SAID: "DON'T MISS THE BOAT."..
...AS I EVIDENTLY DID!
FREDDIE JONES, IF YOU TRY HOBBLING AROUND AGAIN, THERE'LL BE NO ALCOHOL RUB TONIGHT!.. AND IF YOU TALK BACK TO ME ONCE MORE TODAY, THERE'LL BE NO READING ALOUD FROM GENERAL GRANT'S MEMOIRS!
WOULDJA HAVE BELIEVED IT?
